Pullets Should be Laying.

Young pullets hatched in March and April ought all to be laying this month Later hatched ones if not laying in November will probably, if left to themselves, not lay before spring when eggs are down to fifteen cents per dozen. A well known poultry farmer showed us his account for December with 125 pullets. The net profit for that month from eggs alone was $39.39; rom the same pullets in April following, the profit was $14.97, and he got 50 dozen more eggs in April than in December. Now this is a striking lesson to all who keep hens for profit. Get all the eggs you can at this season; if other crops are short, eggs always bring cash. Probably 45 cts. per doz. by Christmas. Therefore get the pullets to laying early when prices are highest. Rev. S. W. Squires, of Franklin, Mass., says: "For the purpose of seeing how many eggs I could obtain last winter from twelve hens, I used four large cans of Sheridan's Condition Powder. I believe it is the best preparation known to increase egg production. I saved part of the eggs for hatching after forcing the hens four months for all they were worth with the Sheridan's Powder, and I never had a greater per cent. of fertile eggs or more vigorous chickens. In brief, I do not believe I can afford to be without the powder to give health and vigor to young hens." If you cannot get it near home, I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., the only makers of Sheridan's Powder, will send for 50 cents two 25 cent packs, five packs for $1.00; or for $1.20 one large two pound can of Powder, postpaid; six cans $5.00, express prepaid. Sample copy of the best poultry magazine sent free.

Friend—Why do you send your husband's clothes to a tailor, when all they need is a butter.

Mrs. Mariofem—Well, the fact is my husband married so young that he never learned how to sew on buttons.

A PRINTER'S ILLS.

A Brantford Compositor has Diabetes—He Drops 40 pounds in weight in a short time—How he was Cured.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 15—Thomas Hazelhurst, a compositor in the Courier office in this city, has seen some ups and downs in health within the past few months. Last spring he found himself suffering from diabetes in a very severe form. In a few weeks, he lost forty pounds in weight. His system kept on running down and Mr Hazelhurst was very naturally alarmed. After trying many remedies without benefit, he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes made a big change in his condition, and six bottles worked a complete cure. Mr. Hazelhurst is to-day better than he has been for years. Add one more to the list of diabetes cases cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Miss Laura—Why, Chollie, don't you realize that you are practically committing suicide?—Indianapolis Journal.

The greatest flesh and blood maker in existence and a life-saver to consumptives is Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" bronchitis, coughs, colds and all lung troubles. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

Consumption and lung troubles are the cause of fully one-third of the mortality in America. Prevention is better than cure. If you catch a cold, take at once some of Hawker's balsam of tolu and wild cherry. It is a sure cure.

"Will you be mine, darling?" he asked after a year's courting.

"No, it can never be," was her reply.

"Then why have you let me hope so long?" he said as he went toward the door.

"Because I never intend to belong to any man. You can be mine if you like."

He saw the difference and stopped. Years afterward he saw the difference still more clearly.—London Tid Bits.

The sight or smell of food sometimes sickens you, that's because you're billious Hawker's liver pills cure billiousness and all billious ills.

Mrs. Bagley—Why are you crying so, Lucie dear? Is someone you loved dead?

Lucie—W-worse. He—he's married.

Not what we say, but what the people say, that Hawker's catarrh cure, cures.

Judge—This gentleman charges you with stealing his bull-pup, valued at $75. What have you to say?

Prisoner—Well, Judge, do you honestly think that a man wot's fool enough to pay $75 for a snub-nosed, pig-eyed little brute like that has got sense enough to know his own dog when he sees him?

John B. Gough, says: "For sore throat, especially when tending to ulceration, I have found Pond's Extract very beneficial.

What is
CASTORIA
Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.
"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

Castoria.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

DEADLIEST OF POISONS.

THE PRODUCTION OF THE DRUG CALLED ARSENIC.

It is Mined, and the Miners, it is Said, Really Do Not Suffer from its Effects—How and Where it is Obtained—Queer Effect of the Poison on Linen Fabrics.

Many points of interest are brought out in a description in a technical journal of the way in which arsenic is obtained from one of the most famous mines in England, the Devon Great Consols. The mine was originally worked for copper alone and would have been abandoned but for the discovery that the waste thrown out as worthless when copper was sought proved rich in arsenic. Although copper is still raised, it is in small quantities, and the mine has been resolved into an arsenic works. The arsenical pyrites consist of 25 to 30 per cent. of iron, 12 1-2 to 14 per cent. of arsenic and the rest of earthy matter. After being crushed this is sorted by girls of from 13 to 16 years of age. It is then washed and "jigged" or sifted and passed on to the first calciner, where it is burned with low class coal and produces "arsenic soot"—that is, arsenic so mixed with smoke soot from the coal as to be a gray color.

The arsenic and soot, deposited in combination in the chimney or condenser, are scraped out and taken to the second calciner for purification. The calciners consist of revolving iron drums, through which a fire of anthracite coal is carried on rotating iron furnaces kept red hot. As the arsenical soot is subjected to the influence of this heat the arsenic is sublimed and condensed. The operation has to be carefully watched and if the workmen burn the arsenic badly they have to pay for it. Three men in four weeks make 100 tons of arsenic. The chimney in which the arsenic is condensed is a mile long. It is carried to an incline up a hill, with iron doors in the side. As the hot blast passes upwards it deposits a crust of arsenic crystals on the brickwork all around to a depth of from two to three inches, and minute dust of crystals fall to the floor. The smoke has then to pass into an upright chimney 125 feet high, but just before doing so it has to traverse a shower of water, which catches what remains of the arsenic, nothing but sulphurous acid being allowed to escape.

The arsenic is liable to produce sores if permitted to lodge in wrinkles and folds of the flesh, or about the mouth and nostrils. As a rule, however, this only happens when there is carelessness as to personal cleanliness, and the arsenic workers simply have to wash themselves thoroughly every day on returning from work. Otherwise the work is considered healthy. It prevents all eczema, and the fumes of sulphuric acid, as well as the arsenical dust, are fatal to germs of the disease. Most workmen remain at the works for a number of years without suffering, but occasionally the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, loss of appetite, nausea, frontal headache and anaemia declare themselves. When this takes place the work has to be given up entirely. The greatest danger to which the workmen are exposed to is met when it is necessary for any purpose to enter the upright shaft. The effect on the eyes is most painful, and a further curious evidence of the virulence of the pervading atmosphere becomes manifest. The men wear linen garments, lined with flannel and the sulphuric acid fumes completely destroy the linen in a few moments, leaving the flannel intact, so that the men go into the shaft in linen and come out clad in wool. Fortunately, it is seldom necessary to enter the shaft, or great loss of sight would ensue.

The Boy and the Cop.

The boy was fishing from the tail end of a boat, anchored about fifty feet out in the river, and a policeman on shore was watching him.

"What are you doing there?" called the officer, when he saw the boy paid no attention to him.

"Who are you?" asked the boy, with an eye on his bob.

"I'm a police officer."

"Where?"

"Right here in the city of Detroit."

The officer thought perhaps he had caught a runaway from the Canadian side, and concluded to play him a bit before hauling him in.

"What state is Michigan in?" asked the boy.

"Michigan," replied the officer, without noticing, and the boy grinned.

"What's your name?"

"John Smith."

The officer was having lots of fun.

"Are you sure?" asked the boy.

"Of course; I ought to know my own name, oughtn't I?"

"Sure; but a boy can't always tell what a copper knows by what he tells him."

"Well, I'd like to know why I oughtn't to know my own name," said the officer, quite puzzled.

"I can't tell you," said the boy, "and I can't tell, neither, why you don't know I'm fishin' when you see I ain't doin' nothin' else," and the boy slapped out a fish about ten inches long. "There," he exclaimed, "do you know any more now?" and the officer had business elsewhere.—Detroit Tribune.

Scientific Cooking.

Some of the present celebrated scientific cooks confess to a most woful ignorance on the all-important subject at the time "they were married." And the older ones declare that "in their day" there were no books fit to study upon the subject of cooking, as chemistry had not yet been applied to the art. One scientific cook confesses to having experimented on feeding her husband, but declares that the experiment proved a success, as his dyspepsia vanished. She says the first knowledge she acquired was the art of making the baker's best bread. And then somebody else says that she is glad that she says "their best bread" for most of the baker's bread in this country is atrocious—an insult to a self-respecting stomach.

Curious Chinese Coins.

A curious feature of Chinese coins, the nail-mark, appears to have originated in an accident very characteristic of China. In the time of Queen Wentek a model in wax of a proposed coin was brought for her majesty's inspection. In taking hold of it she left on it the impression of one nail, and the impression has in consequence been a marked characteristic of Chinese coins for hundreds of years.

They're Drinking More.

It is a subject for grave consideration by the American people that the use of alcoholic liquors is increasing in that country. In the year 1883 the consumption of distilled spirits was 1.46 gallons per capita; in 1893 it had increased to 1.51 gallons. The consumption of beer per capita in 1883 was 10.27 gallons, which had increased to 16.08 gallons in 1893.
