

A FAIRY TALE ??

by Kent Walker.

Many years ago there was a small kingdom called YOUNEVERCITEE ruled by a very poor king. The king was poor because he spent his subjects' money very unwisely, even though he tried his best. He spent many nights walking through the country, thinking of ideas. No one knew exactly where the king went when he took these walks, so lights had to be kept on everywhere, even though they weren't needed. As a result, the King received high electricity bills and the only way he could find enough money to pay these was to raise the people's taxes.

As time went on, the King grew tired of the steady flow of people that came to the castle to complain about the high taxes. For many days the King wondered how he could put an end to this. Then one evening, while walking through his brightly lit kingdom, the idea came to him. He would put up cement posts all around the castle so no one could bother him anymore. The King realized that this would be very expensive, so he raised the people's taxes once again. Naturally the people of the kingdom were upset. They couldn't reach their ruler to complain anymore and they all felt the posts made the castle look UGLY!

That was only the beginning. Sometimes people crashed into them when they parked their horses, because they could not see the posts. Sometimes in the Winter, people ran right into the posts because the snow had covered them up. But the King was very pleased with his idea. No one could get to him now to complain about the high taxes.

One day a small fire started in the castle. The fire brigade was called out, but they could not get past the cement posts. All they could do was watch as the castle burned to the ground.

Fortunately (for him) the King escaped.

This would teach the King a lesson, the people thought. Surely he would realize how foolish his ideas were. But the King only knew that his castle had been burned down and he must have another. He raised the people's taxes higher than before and built an even bigger castle surrounded by more cement posts.

MORAL: A FOOL AND SOMEONE ELSE'S MONEY ARE SOON PARTED

BUSINESS SOCIETY

by Holly MacDonald

Hi! Here we are back for another year, tanned, relaxed and looking forward to a fantastic social life. Don't get too uptight if your timetable is impossible or if every course you registered for is filled, everything will work out perfectly (Hopefully).

But Business Students what about that social life? Relax, that too will work out perfectly if you do one easy little thing...join the Business Society!! Yes siree, after that smashing successful year we just finished complete with a Summer Pub, Curling Funspeil, Businessman's Dinner, and numerous other fun-filled events we have this year to look forward to with even greater anticipation. This year's keen executive consists of Holly MacDonald, President; Denise "Smokey the Bear" McGowan, Vice President; Sharon (the shooter) Douglas, Secretary and Terry Palmer our C.A. and/or Treasurer. The class representatives are a group of capable, conscientious people including none other than Anson MacLaughlin, M.J. Ready, Sharon MacDonald and Hugh Johnson. Let me tell you Business Students this group has been meeting and the plans are big, big BIG!!

How does three sun filled weeks in the Bahamas sound and of course a guest appearance of the B 52's at our New Wave Party? Seriously we are planning some exciting events including a cross country ski weekend, deep sea fishing and of course, loads of fun filled pubs with great themes and great entertainment.

So, now that you know a little bit about us, why don't you let the Business Society know more about you. Buy a membership, they are only five dollars and are available at Kelley Bldg. between classes. Also if you have any ideas about what you would like to see the Business Society doing, mention them to anyone on the executive.

Freshmen, we are looking for a freshmen representative for our executive. Why not take the plunge and get involved now? If you are interested, please leave your name with Freda.

This year, as in the past, a lucky member of the Business Society will win a free course, which in these days of rising costs is nothing to sneeze at. So watch for posters advertising our first fun filled, fabulous event to get the year off to a good start. We'll be seeing you there and don't forget to buy that membership!!

RUMOUR HATH IT

that this column has a brand new editor(s) classes have started.
 the bookstore has been busy, and people are walking away with empty wallets.
 there is a dance at the Barn this Friday night and a large turnout is expected.
 the Freshmen class likes to party.
 Dave Nutbrown likes to have the freshmen sing outside his window in the wee hours of the morning.
 a ladder is used to get to second floor Blanchard.
 Minglewood really did play at U.P.E.I.
 Chris lets the telephone man in other people's apartment in the early hours of the morning.
 Jackie knows first aid.
 there are rumours that can't be mentioned in this column.

- C.I.M.N. had a good opening night.
- Bert says he is on the wagon again.
- the C.P.'s have flashlights to match their jackets.
- Ed Hilton and Gerry Perry are going into the fast food business.
- Peter W. hates being awakened at 6 a.m.
- Rabbi's list of admirers is still growing.
- Vince still give out insults.
- that Frankie drives her roommates away.
- that apartment 301 may be the life of Blanchard this year.
- that the basketball players in 222 Blanchard all want to be heros.
- that Jennifer will always remember a certain scavenger hunt.
- that Bruce and Brent should

- enter a look-a-like contest.
- that field hockey scored twice this year(so far).
- that there are going to be some "punks" at Tequila on Friday night.
- Senior Business students are frightened to death over policy.

