Household Hints
A cheap paint brush is usually poor economy, since it tends to make you carry too much paint in the brush, thus causing the excess to drip.

To enable you to open any jar lid quickly and easily, use your hand with a piece of sandpaper.

Mack Chooses Subject For Essay Assignment

Winged, we find, are the days of this brief November month. The weeks soon gather up their own and depart. And we who are older are reminded that Time itself is "But a golden wind which shakes the grass." At Lifetime, at the longest, is but a little space. As someone puts it charmingly, "Years flee Like hunted deer. That toss their antlers down The trail, where they only memories Come back."

"There is" another reflects "the time of man, and there is the time of seasons."

There is too, we remember, alas, the continual "change and decay" as spoken of in the loved evening hymn, and the sorrow in every clime and season of some dear one, kin or friend, moved from us by death. Moreover, there are those, who are their grandmothers, indeed who minked and children of the farms Island-over, were we sure, among those saddened, in many an instance to tears, because of the sudden and recent passing of one — girl or a woman — they had come to know well to admire and respect, and be grateful for her kindness and patience to the youngsters, whose a leader and inspiration she was, during many of their 4-8 years.

We recall that Mack, having been assigned in his school-work the other year, to write a composition on the topic: "The most interesting person I know" chose with no hesitation to make her his subject. And unassisted, he set down his thoughts nicely, for there was everything good to be said of her. And she later learned of it, smiled happily, and was naturally pleased to have had the little lad, rate her so highly.
