

FOSTER HEWITT, ace sports announcer, presents a hockey stick to Billy Mulligan in recognition of his being chosen outstanding juvenile hockey player in Maritime tournament. Billy also received a set of hockey boots and skates from Mr. Hewitt who made presentations on behalf of the Imperial Oil Company.

Billy Mulligan Guest Of Honor At Luncheon

Billy Mulligan, 18 year old Charlottetown boy received a set of hockey boots and skates and a stick from Foster Hewitt, one of Canada's top sports announcers, at a luncheon in the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. The gift was presented by Mr. Hewitt on behalf of Imperial Oil. The company staged the luncheon and Jim Cerry, the resident manager here, presided.

Included among the head table guests, in addition to Billy, were his Honor Lieutenant-Governor T. W. L. Prowse, Premier A. W. Matheson, Jack Reedy, Gordon Mayne, retail development manager of Imperial Oil and Glen Hancock, public relations representative and Ernie Carver, a former Charlottetown man who is District Manager for Imperial Oil.

Billy received the very useful and practical gift in recognition of his being selected as the outstanding player in the recent Maritime juvenile hockey tournament at Moncton.

STARTED AS PEE WEE

He started in hockey eight years ago as a Pee Wee and came up through the ranks of Bantam, Midget and Juvenile where he is playing now. His first coach was Art Perry, an outstanding athlete himself who has helped many a youngster get a start in more than one sport.

Billy's father, Jack Mulligan, who is known to any horsemen and racing fans as "Number clerk" at the track here, was invited to the luncheon. However he was unable to be present owing to ill health.

In his talk to the group Mr. Hewitt said that TV is helping spark the interest in hockey and noted that next Saturday night the telecast of the NHL will come from Montreal with Danny Gallivan at the microphone. In Toronto Foster's son, Billy Hewitt does the radio broadcast and Foster does the telecast, so there is a different story for TV.

He gave some interesting side-lights on the Russian hockey team that participated in the Olympic and world tournaments so successfully in recent years.

At Cortina, Italy he said that the Russians sent people into the area several months before the hockey tournament got underway. They surveyed the area to get the best place for their athletes to stay. Finally they settled for a chalet a considerable distance from Cortina but 3,000 feet above the level of the town. The team was brought down from the chalet about an hour before the game and the change in altitude seemed to give them a "shot in the arm" as they went into the game.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS

The Russians brought their own food for the team. They even brought their own water with them. Everything possible was done to get their players properly acclimatized.

The Canadians never did get acclimatized properly and they still showed the effect of the change in climate when they were in the midst of the competition.

The ace broadcaster, who covered the games for Canada, noted particularly the supreme conditioning of the Russian squad.

At the end of a period both the Russian and Canadian teams left the ice for the rest interval. But the Russians returned after about two minutes and spent the remainder of the time skating around playing tag with the puck and sporting themselves like a bunch of youngsters. They kept this up until the game got started again and were fresh and eager for play. The Canadians, on the other hand, came back to the ice showing apparent weariness.

Mr. Hewitt suggested that Canada should go all out to win the world and Olympic hockey tournaments in which they participate. He emphasized that in Europe such victories have terrific political significance and thus it is important to win.

Canada is regarded as the home of hockey. It originates the game and thus it is more important to dominate it in such international contests so far as the political effect in Europe is concerned.

The Life Underwriters Association of Prince Edward Island has been notified that Edwin C. Johnstone, C. L. U., Manager of the Island Division of Dominion Life Assurance Company, is to receive the Life Underwriters' National Quality Award for the thirteenth consecutive year.

The award was inaugurated by the Life Underwriters Association of Canada 13 years ago and is awarded to life insurance men who annually write a specified total of "quality" business—that is: business that is under-renewed each year. It is under-renewed that Mr. Johnstone's achievement is unique in that he is the only life underwriter in the Province who has qualified for the award each year since its inception.

Mr. Johnstone is presently on his way to Montreal where he will represent the City of Charlottetown at a meeting of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. He will later proceed to Ottawa where he will be present when the Federation presents its annual brief to the Prime Minister.
