Anniversary Services At Trinity

The spacious auditorium of Trinity United Church was filled to capacity yesterday morning by a great company assembled to worship and to celebrate the 89th anniversary of the completion of the church building, and the 146th of the founding of the congregation.

Rev. A. F. MacLean, assisted by Rev. J. J. Irwin, conducted the services. The special preacher for the day was Rev. John B. Hardie, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., Professor at Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax. Dr. Hardie was introduced by Rev. A. F. MacLean, and delivered an eloquent and impressive discourse appropriate to the occasion on The Values of Tradition.

Dr. Hardie was again the preacher at the evening service, when again the seating capacity of the church was taxed to the utmost.

Special music was rendered at both services by a choir of over forty voices, with Miss Audrey Farnell, of Amherst and Halifax, as soloist, and Mr. Raymond Elmer at the console. At the morning service an adagio by Fricker was given as Prelude, and Cantatas, by Rheinberger, as Offertory. Miss Farnell sang "Hear ye, Israel," and the full choir rendered Psalm 150, by Franck. In the evening the organ music included "Andante Maestoso" from Concerto 4, by Chopin, and "Meditation" by Whittier. Again Miss Farnell sang, this time "Come Unto Him" Handel and the choir gave the anthem "The King's Highway" by Williams.

Dr. Hardie's evening address was on the text: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God."

This is the first time Dr. Hardie has spoken at Trinity, and the worshippers there hope that on many future occasions they may be privileged to hear his inspiring messages.

At 8:30 Miss Farnell gave a recital of six songs by Bach, Hayden and Handel. At both the worship services and the recital Miss Farnell's reverent and beautiful renditions delighted the congregation.

nished the end of the Anglo-Canadian food agreements under which Canadian farmers sold big supplies of cheese, apples, bacon and eggs to Britain.

Britain, because of a dollar shortage, has stopped buying these commodities from Canada altogether.

The American embargo on Canadian livestock and meats have added to the farmers' troubles. Outlook is brighter now. The U. S. has announced it will lift the embargo March 1 next.

As for the consumer, the conference likely will be told that Canada's food supplies will be more than adequate for Canadian consumers.

Prices have been declining and though they may strengthen in 1953, they likely will not reach the levels of similar periods of 1952.

Two arrests and the recovery of considerable portion of the stolen cigarettes marked a step forward yesterday morning in the investigation by City Police into the breaking, entering and theft from the premises of J. C. Montgomery & Co., on Queen Street during the night of Thursday last.

The two City men in custody in connection with the offence are booked to appear before Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet in Queen's County Magistrate's Court this morning, according to information from Chief of Police MacArthur.

children, Frederick, Rowan and Ian Beer and Brenda and Janice Cheryle, are direct relatives. Mrs. McAulay comes from a family noted for their longevity. Her uncle Reuben died three years ago at the United States at the age of 104.

The aged lady is keenly alive to present day activities and being endowed with splendid eyesight, derives great pleasure from reading the morning paper, especially the items from Souris and Summerside. "I know everybody in these places," she explained.

Surprisingly, Mrs. McAulay, listed at the head of her pleasures that of "fishing". As her daughter-in-law explained, "She comes with us once a week all summer on our trouting expeditions." Her musical education has never been forgotten, and her great-grandchildren, on the slightest deviation in their piano practice, are promptly admonished, "That's not right, play it over again."

Mrs. McAulay is looking forward to greeting city and country friends between 2 and 4 p.m. tomorrow. It is likely that a family party in her honour will be held in the evening.

Poultry Expert Visiting Local Experimental Farm

Visiting the local Experimental Farm this week is Dr. R. S. Gowe, senior geneticist in the Poultry Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. He will confer with officials of the Farm and endeavour to supply them with information which will bring them up to date on details of the joint breeding project in which the local Farm is participating with several other Experimental Stations across Canada.

One of the principal items the Department wishes to learn is whether or not adequate testing of strains of fowl is possible. One significant discovery has been that there is no interaction so far as environment is concerned. Though there are great differences in performance between stations, with the birds on some showing a far greater productivity than on others, when a strain is found to be good on one station it is also good on all others.

The same thing applies to those judged bad, and the relation between the good and bad is almost constant at all experimental points.

This is an important item of information to geneticists as it means that in future all testing will be done at one station and it will no longer be necessary to test in several places to obtain uniformity of data.

Another major factor in the project is the testing being done of the selection technique. This is an effort at a speeding up progress in order to get greater egg production faster.

At the same time the Poultry Division is interested to a great extent in a new technique for the production of better broilers. The testing being done centres about efforts to combine a high producing female with a male breed which may have a broader breast and thus obtain a bird with more meat.

Happy Greek Children Thank Queen Elizabeth

TORONTO, Nov. 30 — Queen Elizabeth's gift of wheat to the Canadiana Save the Children Fund for hungry Greek children has reached the end of its journey and has already eased the hunger of many a child.

It has been distributed by the British and Canadian Save the Children Fund administrator, Mrs. M. Millar, to families with children under sixteen years of age in two extremely poor villages, Piyari and Kromi. Both villages were badly devastated during the civil war and the population is only just returning to ruined homes.

Mrs. Millar says: "They were all excited and delighted, running the grain through their hands and asking questions." Most families went off happily with two sacks and everyone was satisfied. The children are writing to Her Majesty to express their grateful thanks.

The wheat will serve a twofold purpose for part of it will provide flour for this winter's bread and the rest will be sown and will provide bread next year and thus the Royal Wheat from Canada will continue to feed hungry children for a long time to come.

Mr. Gordon Stevenson on Friday evening, November 14th. The meeting opened by singing "I Need Thee Every Hour". The devotional period was conducted by Rev. W. B. MacPhail, and the hymn "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" closed this part of the meeting. The business period followed. The programme consisted of the showing of several interesting films.
