

Some Allied Benefits Seen In French NATO Withdrawal

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—Defence Minister Denis Healey of Britain says France's military withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will make it easier for her 14 partners to modernize their strategy for defending Europe.

The need for a revised allied strategy is "very urgent," Healey says. As he sees it, if the Soviet Union launches a major attack, "NATO would have no alternative to the early use of nuclear weapons... within a matter of days."

Since 1954, successive allied commanders have been under orders to plan and deploy their forces and resources on the assumption of having to fight a conventional defensive campaign for 90 days. This has required them to try for manpower and logistic targets which member-nations never fulfilled.

WILL CONTINUE ROLE
In an exclusive interview Saturday, Healey spelled out Britain's resolve to go on playing a major military role east of Suez from the Persian Gulf to the Pacific—subject to these thoughts:

—A cutback of British power in the Far East, now nearly 60,000 men, will follow the ending of Indonesian confrontation against Malaysia.

—British forces, nevertheless, will stay on in Malaysia and Singapore as long as they're wanted and the terms are acceptable.

—If Malaysia and Singapore compel the British to leave them, a Suez withdrawal would have to go unless Australia opens up to them.

—Britain's military role outside Europe is going to be shaped largely by the readiness of allied and Commonwealth countries to share the costs.

Healey's clarification of Britain's role east of Suez comes amid controversy over labor government policies. At home, many labor supporters and some Conservatives have urged a British pullout abroad, the Australians and the Americans have wanted the British to stay on in the area.

"In many ways, France's withdrawal... will make it easier for the other NATO powers to revise European defence strategy," Healey said. This was "because for several years now the French government has, in effect, vetoed any attempt to redefine the mission which was given to Saceur (supreme allied commander, Europe) in 1954."

Teen-Agers And Parents Slow On Communication

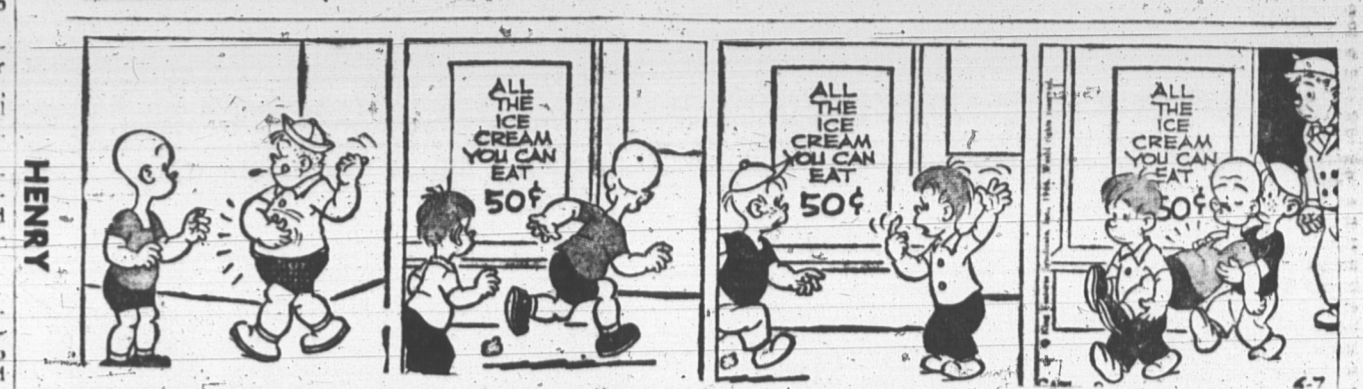

By DON HARVEY
HAMILTON (CP)—Two American psychologists agreed in interviews here there is hardly any real communication between North American teen-agers and their parents.

Ree Roy W. Fairchild of San Francisco said "every child should have the parents of another family in whom to confide, because most children will not bare themselves to their natural parents."

"This is largely because activity in society causes parents not to have the time to listen to their children."

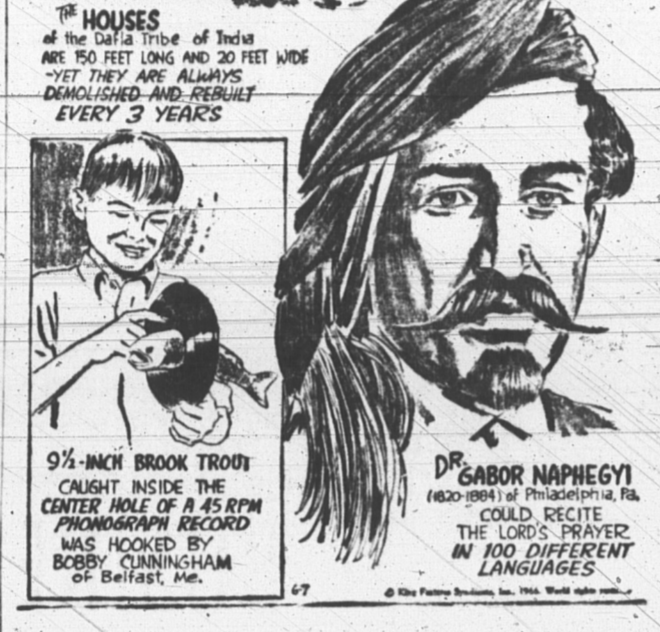

'HATE PHONINESS'
Mrs. Cynthia Wedel, an executive with the National Council of Churches in the U.S., said teen-agers "hate phoniness and they think adults are phony."

Dr. Fairchild and Mrs. Wedel are participants in the second North American Conference on Church and Family that ends today. Co-sponsored by the Canadian Council of Churches and

CRITICIZED SYSTEM
He criticized the present educational system in Western culture for preparing children to participate in industrial and commercial productivity. This results in a quest for success getting priority over a quest for personal significance.

RIPLEY'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Canada Council Gets Bequest

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council today announced it has received a $120,000 bequest from the late Dorothy J. Killam—by far the largest private bequest in the council's history.

The council also revealed that Mrs. Killam gave $4,250,000 anonymously three years ago.

The gifts will be merged into a special fund for advanced research. A specific order of Mrs. Killam will say the money must not be used to subsidize the arts—presently defined in the Canada Council Act.

Mrs. Killam, former Halifax resident who died last July, was the widow of Canadian financier and industrialist Isaac Walton Killam. His fortune was estimated at $100,000,000 at his death in 1955.

The council said the $120,000 will be provided in payments over a period of years. Mrs. Killam was born in St. Louis, Mo. Her husband was born in Nova Scotia and rose from a Halifax bank clerk to play a leading role in development of Eastern Canada's pulp and paper industry.

Birth Control Petition Signed By RC Group

TORONTO (CP)—A petition calling for an end to the Roman Catholic Church's traditional ban on birth control has been signed by 150 Canadian Catholic professional men and women. Prof. Leslie Dewart of the department of philosophy at St. Michael's College here, said here.

The Canadians—who include lay theologians, university professors, gynaecologists, psychiatrists and psychologists—have joined an international group of 300 Catholic intellectuals in presenting the petition to all the Catholic bishops of the world, including the Pope.

"It will go to every diocese, though not necessarily every bishop, because some dioceses have more than one bishop," said Prof. Dewart.

The 3,000-word petition, printed in four languages, is the second of its kind. The first was presented by an international group of laymen in 1964.

"The petition doesn't spell out what methods are morally valid," said Prof. Dewart. "But it certainly implies there may be many methods other than the pill permissible. It asks that the whole question of contraception be considered, with particular attention to the pill."

Rev. Thomas J. Fulton, chancellor of the Toronto archdiocese, said he could see nothing wrong with the petition "as an honest expression of opinion" by the laity.

BALANCE BUTTER STOCK

Canadian butter consumption exceeded production in 1965 for the second consecutive year.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

West dealer. North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q5
♥ A43
♦ KJ83
♣ K65

EAST
♠ 8843
♥ 87
♦ 762
♣ 10942

SOUTH
♠ A J 7 2
♥ A Q 5
♦ A Q 9 4
♣ Q 3

The bidding:
West North East South
1♥ Pass Pass 2NT
Pass 2♥ Pass 3NT

The bidding:
Opening lead—jack of hearts. Dealer's play of the hand would of course be more accurate if he could see the opponents' cards. However, in some hands it is not necessary for him to actually see the adverse cards; declarer can visualize them just as effectively as if he had seen them because the bidding or the play already made tell him precisely which cards each opponent has.

For example, take this hand where South is in three-notrump and West leads a heart. South takes the jack with the queen and does not have to be a genius to figure out that West, who opened the bidding, probably has each and every one of the 12 high-card points missing.

All that declarer now has to do is try to figure out a way of making nine tricks based on the knowledge he has.

This is not really a difficult task, once South puts his mind to it. He wins the heart lead with the queen and plays a low spade towards the queen. If West goes up with the king, the rest of the play is automatic. South wins up with nine tricks consisting of three spades, two hearts and four diamonds.

If West follows low on the spade at trick two, dummy wins the trick with the queen and South can now count eight tricks consisting of two spades, two hearts and four diamonds. A club lead establishes trick number nine.

The non-thinking declarer who makes no effort to diagnose which cards are missing, or how they are divided, could easily go down on the hand. He might win the heart lead with the queen, enter dummy with a diamond, and take a spade finesse, losing the trick to the king.

West would then force out the ace of hearts, and South would eventually have to go down one as a direct result of his failure to think things out.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Argument
4. Field
9. Haunt
10. Farm animals
11. Rim of a wheel
12. Coins
13. Irritate
14. Room in a house
15. See 9 across
16. Pronoun
17. King of Baahian
18. Kind of pickle
20. Pious title
21. Electric unit
23. More destitute
25. Anthropology
27. Unit of weight
28. Dickens' wine seller
31. Peck
34. Eastern title
35. Headless
37. Number on clock dial
38. Certain army officer; abbr.
39. Pinna
40. Bridge notice
42. Lead word
44. Moves aimlessly
45. Wicked
46. Curved molding

DOWN
47. Bargain
22. Simpletons
24. Music note
26. Neighbor of N.J.
28. Trickster
29. Ernes
30. Needle fish
32. Vetchlike herb
33. Morsels
36. Thicket
39. Man's name
41. Away from storm
43. Grape
44. Hawks

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER
29. Man's name
41. Away from storm
43. Grape
44. Hawks

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y Z B A A X
S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation
LJUR ER HAR QJLH GYQT WDT
HAR QJLH WOORDB WDT J GJCO
EYUR HAR GYQCT.—OYDQWT

Yesterday's Cryptogram: THE ONLY LIMIT OF OUR RESOLUTION OF TOMORROW WILL BE OUR DOUBT OF TODAY.—ROOSEVELT

(© 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE

WELCOME TO HOOPLE MANOR I AM MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE AND THIS IS MY WIFE MARTHA—OF THE KENTUCKY BUCKKAWF! WE'VE ENJOYED YOUR PERFORMANCES ON TELEVISION!

WUSH, AMOS, OPEN THE DOOR! WE DON'T HAVE A STAREE (GETTEN)

WOW! I GREASED THE WIG MOSTLY FOR PRENCE BUT WE'VE HIT THE JACKPOT! THEY SAY THOSE SHOWGRIS FLIP WHEN THEY MEET A REGULAR GUY!

STEP BACK, SON! LET HER MEET THE LEADING MAN!