

Yacht Club is Planning Junior Sailing Program

Ron Atkinson was elected commodore of the Charlottetown Yacht Club at its annual meeting Wednesday evening at the Charlottetown Curling Club.

Mr. Atkinson succeeds Percy M. Simmonds in the position. Suggestions for the initiation of a junior sailing program in 1964 were put forth by Ian Rankin, in the report of the committee formed last August for the purposes of studying the project.

Mr. Rankin, who attended junior sailing seminar in Montreal in August, recommended that a qualified instructor be hired to conduct a six-week junior sailing program in Charlottetown from July 1-August 15. This would be available to club members of both sexes between 10 and 15 years of age, he said.

"The course content would include such items as: familiarity with a nautical chart, basic knots, boat safety, racing rules and tactics, boat care and maintenance, swimming, tides and currents, as well as practical experience sailing and racing," Mr. Rankin said.

"It is anticipated that, with reasonable co-operation from the weatherman, about 50 per cent of us, one time, will be spent on the water."

PRAMS AND SNIPES

Mr. Rankin said that, after consideration of various factors, the committee had found prams, snipes, and flying juniors would be the most suitable boats for the program.

He concluded that "a program

Other officers elected were: Art Love, vice commodore; Ben Sinclair, secretary; Don Timoney, treasurer; and Percy Simmonds, past commodore.

Modern Art Use In Churches Gets Okay By World Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The use of modern art forms in the building and adornment of Roman Catholic churches won the backing of the Vatican ecumenical council. But the assembly drew a line against certain abstract art.

The cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and other prelates from around the world—meeting amidst the baroque art treasures of St. Peter's Basilica—registered their views on modern sacred art in a vote on a chapter of a schema on public worship.

A member of the council's liturgical commission told the assembled prelates the document encourages modern ecclesiastical art, "although sometimes deformations have been brought in under the idea that such is art."

He explained that the schema warns against "some abstractions (in painting and sculpture) that are externally impressive to Christian people and alien to their religious feeling."

The chapter, dealing with sacred art and furnishings, was approved by a vote of 1,638 to nine, with 94 council fathers expressing reservations.

Roof Project Is Completed

Some 500 yards of concrete were poured Thursday completing the construction of roof of the theatre section of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building.

The first two sections were poured on Tuesday and Saturday of last week, with the whole area taking some 1,000 cubic yards of concrete. R. M. Richard, project superintendent reported yesterday.

The frames will be left up for seven days until the concrete has set, and the cables supporting the roof are to be tightened keeping an even tension on the roof.

Mr. Richard reports everything is going smoothly and the pourings have been successful. No problems or snags have come up and all will be completed on schedule.

would then be able to carry out the schema's reforms, including the use of modern languages in place of Latin in the mass and in the sacraments, such as baptism and marriage.

A second development Thursday was an effort to speed the assembly's work.

Julius Cardinal Döpfner of Germany in the chair, Thursday, took two actions: Limiting the day's speakers to eight minutes each, instead of the customary 10, and suggesting one all-inclusive vote on the sacred art chapter and six pending amendments instead of the normal separate votes on each amendment and then on the chapter as a whole.

Weaving Plant Plans Expansion

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Domil Ltd. has announced it will spend $6,000,000 expanding its spinning and weaving plant.

Domil, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Dominion Textile Ltd. is a major producer of blended apparel fabrics.

The new mill will be capable of blending all fibres but will concentrate primarily on terylene-cotton combinations.

Construction has started on the new building and completion is expected some time in 1964.

All seven chapters in the schema now have been approved. Voting is expected to start next week on several amendments now being drafted by the liturgical commission to meet reservations expressed in votes earlier this month. Once the amendments are approved, the way will be cleared for promulgation in a council plenary session.

Baptists Oppose Minister's Views

LONDON, Oct. (CP)—The 30,000-member Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada has divorced itself from segregationist views of a Southern United States preacher.

The fellowship's executive council issued a brief statement Wednesday, about 50 per cent opposition to racial discrimination in any form.

The statement didn't refer directly to Dr. William Dowell of Jacksonville, Fla., it was prompted by segregationist remarks he made in an interview following Monday night's opening of the Baptist group's national convention.

The council decided to issue a public statement "because of all the unfavorable comment" that followed Dr. Dowell's remarks, said Dr. Morley Hall of Toronto, fellowship secretary-treasurer.

SHOULD SEPARATE

Dr. Dowell, chairman of the U.S. Baptist Bible Fellowship, said that Negroes should be separated in church and that intermarriage would lead to racial mongrelization. He hasn't touched upon the racial question in sermons delivered at the convention.

Expressing belief in the equality of all men before God, the council gave "testimony to the fact that all people of all races are welcome in our churches on profession of faith and believers' baptism with brotherly love and affection."

game so important is that it is a "four pointer" for the winner, instead of the usual two. This is necessary because all the teams in the league don't play each other. In the case of St. Dunstan's, they don't play Dalhousie. Actually, they were supposed to play Dalhousie last week, but someone the schedule was changed.

Assuming that St. Dunstan's wins this game—we pick them by two touchdowns—then they will have earned eight of a possible twelve points for a 667 average. Considering the high calibre of the league, the small enrollment at St. Dunstan's, this average wouldn't be too bad in anybody's book.

Game time for this afternoon is 1:30.

TWO TDS BITTER

Reports from Wolfville have it that the Saints were at least two touchdowns better than the actual 12-6 score. The Saints did have one touchdown called back, a beautiful pass-and-run play between quarterback John Driscoll and halfback Dave O'Brien on a fake kick. The ball was returned to the line of scrimmage because of an offside penalty. It was a heartbreaker to lose for Acadia, who were celebrating their annual homecoming. The place was packed with visiting alumni members, bands, cheerleaders, and residents of Wolfville. The fans were disappointed although they have one consolation: They are getting lots of practice at it.

Getting back to today's game, John Hilton plans to use John Driscoll at starting quarterback. Driscoll was a standout at Acadia last year, and he is expected to be especially well in practice all week. If Driscoll can keep the form that was expected of him, then the Saints could be trouble. Some of the Saints are completely healthy with a few aches and pains through their ailments.
