FORMER U. S.

Continued from page 1. dwelling into splinters, and turned an adjoining three-storey brick apartment house and a frame duplex house into a sea of flame. Great fiery clouds blossomed high above the area, about half a mile from the heart of this city of 60,000. Elizabeth is about 12 miles southwest of New York City.

21 Bodies Recovered

Hours later, 21 bodies had been recovered from the tangled wreckage. Patterson, 60 years old, had been in Buffalo today on a private law case, and had boarded the plane after a last-minute decision to cancel his train reservation. In Washington, President Truman called him "A great American and a great public servant" and said his death was a tremendous loss.

In addition to the passengers, the plane carried a crew of three and two company personnel. The four-engine plane, being "talked down" by a ground radar observer skimmer over the Bathin school rooftop before it crashed 200 yards away. Some 1,000 girl students had been dismissed only 45 minutes before.

The raging fire, for a time, threatened the entire area, and kept rescue workers at a distance. Some residents, near hysteria dashed out of the blazing buildings. One small boy ran screaming, his clothing afire until a bystander stopped him and put out the flames.

Wife, Sons Missing

"I can't find them - I can't find them," sobbed a workman, Albert Ragnone, who returned home from this job and found his home in flames, his wife and two sons missing. The bodies of the lads were found later in the ruins. By nightfall, the fire was under control, and platoons of rescue workers clawed through the great, smoking heaps of wreckage in search of more victims.

Elizabeth's Mayor, James T. Kirk, issued a demand for relocation of Newark Airport to remove an "umbrella of danger" from the city. Two major plane crashes have occurred here within two months. Only 38 days ago—on Dec. 16—a non-scheduled Newark-to-Florida transport plane crashed about a mile away from the scene of today's tragedy killing all 58 persons aboard.

Joseph O. Fluet, regional director of the Civil Aeronautics Board, launched an immediate on-the-spot investigation. Fluet said the incoming plane, its pilot blinded by the murky weather, was being watched on an airport radar screen, when it dipped out of the glide path of observation. "There is no inference that the facility was not operating normally," he said.

The ceiling was down to 400 feet, and visibility cut to three-fourths of a mile as the plane headed for the Newark Airport. "We looked out a window and saw buildings burst into flames," said a faculty member of Battis High School. "People came running out into the street. One woman was screaming 'My baby is in there.'" The plane's pilot, Capt. Thomas J. Reid, 31, lived only three blocks from the spot where the plane crashed.

Adjudicates Pygmalion By Calgary Group

EDMONTON, Jan. 22 - (CP) - Adjudicator Pierre Lefevre "enjoyed the evening very much" last night but said not enough attention was paid to the flavor of "style" of Shaw in the Calgary Workshop 14 presentation of "Pygmalion" that led off the three-day Alberta Regional Drama Festival. In the individual performances and in the direction, the flavor of Shaw only appeared at the last of the play and the last scene. The Company had a good sense of comedy, but was not "bold enough in letting laughter subside, then hitting lines."

The Festival continues today with "Angel Street" by the Lethbridge Playboys Club and concludes tomorrow.

ACTIVE YEAR

Frederic Large, K.C. Directors re-elected were Col. D. N. Bell, W. J. Cox, T. R. Cudmore, A. J. Haslam, K. M. Martin, and G. S. MacKay. New directors elected were W. Hyndman, E. Taylor, P. Kays, J. MacLean and G. Anderson. Tribute was paid to two former members of the Y. M. C. A. who passed away during the past year, in the persons of the late J. P. Simmonds and William Rowe. The late Mr. Simmonds, who was the Chairman of Finance, was always available for wise counsel and liberal financial support and his passing was the cause for deep regret. Another wide gap in the ranks of the local Y. M. C. A. was caused by the death of the late Mr. Rowe, whom all members regarded with profound respect. His generous bequest to the association was mentioned as tangible proof of the regard in which he held the work of the Y. M. C. A.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

"Marking as it does the Centennial year of the Y. M. C. A.'s on this continent, it was of deep significance and an historic occasion when over 6,000 delegates from every quarter of the globe met in conference at Cleveland—Charlottetown being well represented by Dr. Barrett and Mr. E. V. Bell," stated Mr. T. Roy Cudmore in presidential report. "The Montreal Y. M. C. A. also celebrated their one hundredth anniversary. An event of outstanding importance in Canadian history. 'The Presidents and Secretaries of the various groups within the Y will submit their reports tonight and I know they will be a source of pleasure and satisfaction to all of us."

"Our Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. now has the honor of having two Y's Men's Clubs. This was made possible by the amalgamation of the Y-Grad Club and the senior members of the Phalanx Fraternity. This here group is known as the Centennial Y's Men's Club and already has given indication of strength and progress. Our thanks is due to the District Governor, Arthur Duvar and our General Secretary, Mr. Gamble who in co-operation with the executive of the Phalanx and Grad Clubs brought this movement to a successful issue. The work of the Y clubs within the Y continues to merit our sincere thanks. 'They have without exception been a tower of strength to the Young Men's Christian Association Movement in this city."

Classes Well Filled

The boys' and girls' classes embracing those between the ages of ten and fifteen years are well filled and conducted in a satisfactory manner by our Boys' and Girls' Work Secretaries. It appears to me that with our facilities we can be of service to a larger number in this age group and I am sure that nothing would please the Secretaries better than the co-operation of parents to make our facilities available to a great many more children. "It is my firm conviction that the members between the ages of eighteen and forty receive the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. to a degree only limited by his or her capacity to absorb what the Association has to offer. "It is very gratifying to know that in this particular group we have young men and women who are unremittent in their loyalty and endeavours to promote the welfare of the Y. M. C. A. membership generally. This attitude towards their work in the 'Y' is naturally reflected in their living citizenship.

"You will be glad to know that the 'Y' camp at Holland Cove is now free of debt. This plant is a monument to the wisdom and foresight of the members of our senior clubs. In the whole field of our activity nothing can claim priority over the boys' camp. Financial Situation "We are still confronted with a financial situation which will require the prompt and effective co-operation by all and every member of the Y. M. C. A. We cannot rest on our laurels with an outstanding liability amounting to $65,000. This of course can and will be faced as was the tremendous liability of constructing this building of which we are so proud. No time should be lost in facing this problem. The public are fully aware of what has been done and that must be done to continue the community service which the Y. M. C. A. extends to all classes. The people of the city have never failed to grasp the significance of a situation and have always responded in a manner of which they may well be proud. "As President of the Association, I desire to pay sincere tribute to our board of directors. They have been a loyal group of workers who have always responded to any call on their time, and have given their President great support in all our work. It has been a source of great personal satisfaction to work with such a fine group of Directors. "It is common knowledge that the way to a man's heart is through the stomach. Be that as it may the Ladies Auxiliary of the 'Y' continues to hold a unique place in the hearts of the members. Under the leadership of Mrs. Arnett Howatt, their President, the ladies have been unremitting in catering

The cobalt bomb, most modern and effective instrument for the radiological treatment of cancer, has increased the rate of cure in certain types of fatal disease, according to Dr. I. H. Smith, director of clinic at London, Ont. Since the installation of new weapon—cobalt 60-beam therapy unit—last October in London clinic, Dr. Smith reported to the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Radiologists, now underway in Winnipeg, that the instrument has proved more effective as a treatment than radium because of the far greater penetration of its radioactive rays. Seen above in London examining the therapy developed by Canadian scientists at atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont., are: R. F. Errington, left, an official of Eldorado Mines, which designed and built bomb; Dr. Smith; John Brown, physicist at London clinic; Don Green, mining official, and Dr. Frank Batley, assistant hospital director.

"We also note the good showing made by our Senior Basketball Team, the fine Badminton Club of young people in our membership, the fact that thirty members travelled to six different Y. M. C. A. Conferences to represent our Association and the fact that our second Y's Men's Club makes our city one of the strong points in International Y's Dom, with one hundred and twenty members enrolled in our two clubs. "We closed our year with a total of 470 paid up members, 242 being in the Junior and Juvenile age group. This is a gain of 93 members during the year."

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT

Submitted by Mr. F. B. Gamble. "The organized club is the backbone of a modern Y. M. C. A. program. We are pleased to report the largest number of clubs in our history. We have seventeen groups catering to ages from nine up to mature adults. These range from Grad-Y Clubs for juvenile boys and girls to our Senior Y's Men's Club, and includes Junior and Senior Hi-Y Clubs, Phalanx, Ladies Auxiliary and Y's Menettes. These seventeen clubs and groups have a total of 335 enrolled. "We have gym classes for Junior, Juvenile, Intermediate and Senior groups, a total of ten groups meeting in twenty different periods each week. A total of over 300 members are enrolled in these classes. "This important activity had groups in four crafts such as leatherwork, woodwork, metal jewelry and model aircraft with sixty individuals taking part during the winter and fall season. "This is our Young Adult program for young men and women. Two separate courses were held running for a total of fourteen weeks, and one hundred different young people took part. Consisting of social and educational features, it continues to attract a large number each fall and winter. "Our camp had its most successful year in history. It is now completely free of debt, and the current season balanced its budget. 275 boys, girls, young people and leaders attended six different camps held at Holland Cove during the summer of 1951. The combination of a beautiful site, good accommodation, splendid leadership and good meals has made an enviable reputation for our camp. The Rotary Club and Kinmen Club are partners in this enterprise, along with our Y's Men's Club and the former Grade Club who purchased the site and paid off the capital debt of $1,500 in 1951.

Pine Leadership

"We are very fortunate in the fact that we have had fine leadership from a large number of volunteer leaders, committee members and Board of Directors. No Y. M. C. A. has a finer group of people devoted to the work of the Association, and we sincerely thank them for a full year of good work. "Special mention should be made of the work of the Program Council under Col. D. N. Bell. They

Canadian Gov't To Pay Claims Baha's Observance Of World Religion Day

LONDON, Jan. 22 - (CP) - The Canadian Government has been ordered to pay damage claims arising from a fire in Montreal harbor in May, 1944. A total of more than $500,000 in claims may be involved. The judicial committee of the Privy Council, giving judgment, allowed an appeal by Canada Steamship Lines Ltd. against a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada. The judgment has the effect of restoring an Exchequer Court of Canada decision ordering the Crown to pay damages claimed by the company and five other claimants. The law lords ordered the Crown to pay the company's costs before the Privy Council and in the Canadian courts. The case arose from claims made by petitions of right after a freight shed in Montreal harbor was destroyed by fire. Canada Steamship Lines, which occupied the shed under a 1940 lease from the Crown, appealed against a Supreme Court of Canada decision interpreting the clauses of the lease as barring the company's claim of $40,713. The same decision applied to five other claims totalling $167,232 and some 250 other cases, involving claims totalling $325,636, remaining in abeyance pending the appeal.
