DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

Don McNeill, Summerside, has accepted a position with the Jimmie Smith Stable of Woodstock, N. B. He will take over the driving and assist in the training with Jimmie. Lill Frisco 2.17 by Lusty Frisco 2.07 1-4, owned by Don, will be added to the stable and raced by him. Don also took over the pacing mare Random Harvest 2.16 1-5, and before leaving bade a fond farewell to a new colt born to Rose Marie, May 1st, dam of Quick Lick and others, and sired by Abner T. Clegg 2.04 1-4.

Among the horses at Brockton Fair Grounds a week ago was the Billy Hood stable with the two-year-old Frank Adams by Watchim, and Del Millar by The Widower. There were some seventy horses on the grounds and their presence there has renewed interest in harness racing and no doubt it will share in the annual fair's entertainment this fall. In the long ago Brockton Fair was outstanding and Maritimers by the hundreds went there. Harness racing and vaudeville were the big attractions and in 1910 a number of horsemen from this Province took part. Some years ago the management changed and the trotters and pacers were replaced by the runners.

One of the most talked of horses at Saratoga Raceway, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., is the trotter Lew Hanover, a four-year-old that has never won a race but his owner, Arleigh Wilking of Marion, Ill., has a price of $50,000 on him —he has already turned down an offer of $40,000. Ever since his arrival at the Raceway his stall has attracted a tremendous number of visitors. The reason he is held so high is because at Lexington, Kentucky, last fall he trotted a workout mile in 2.01 4/5. He is also well bred and his winnings make him eligible to any class. He is now entered in seven stakes at Saratoga. Bi Shively, 73-year-old sulky veteran, the man who is training and will drive him, says there is no question of his speed and he should know, because he drove Rodney to his record of 1.57 2/5.

Good Time, 1.58 4/5, harness racing's leading money winning pacer and harness horse of the year 1949, will race for more than a quarter of a million dollars this season. Frank Ervin, his trainer, says that he will race from June until December and from New York to California. Stops along the way will be made at Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan. He is owned by William H. Crane, the man who stages the Hambletonian at Goshen, N.Y., and is the principal owner of Yonkers Raceway. While travelling program of Good Time is certainly an extensive one it does not begin to compare with the trans-continental jaunts made in the 1870's by Goldsmith Maid 2.14 1/4, with the famous Bud Doble as trainer and driver. In three years Good Time has made 65 starts and has won 41 of them. His total earnings are $157,904.

Winston Taylor, Nine Mile Creek, is the proud owner of a handsome foal born April 9th, sired by Josedale Hoosier 2.07 1/4, dam, Hetty Frisco by Friscodale, grandam, Hetty B. by Hollywood Bob. He also owns a two-year-old by Calumet Budlong out of the same dam. Mr. Taylor is a thorough horseman and that means these foals will receive the best of care and attention.

Among the horses being trained at Saratoga Raceway, New York, is Anti-Aircraft 2.03. He has been shifted from the pace to the trot and his trainer, Fred Parkes, says if he stays sound as he is now he should get a share of the money. He has worked nicely in 2:25 with considerable speed at the end of the mile. Anti-Aircraft gave no indication of being a trotter while raced in the Maritimes but his granddam was one of the best on the Grand Circuit.

The following letter dated May 25th from Dr. George Bishop, now a member of the staff of Hagyard and Hagyard, veterinarians of Lexington, Kentucky, touches on a subject which has been discussed more or less for two or three years. . . . "Kindly find enclosed a couple of clippings, also a little bit of information re the Saliva Test of race horses. I am also enclosing a copy of the 17th Annual Convention of State Racing Commissioners. You can look it over, especially on page 46, where the details of the testing are pretty well outlined. Everyone on P. E. I. and especially those interested in horse racing, has at one time or another been concerned re the saliva testing of race horses for stimulants used — or thought to be used. At the present time we have here at Hagyard's, Dr. Claude Mauberret of New Orleans, La. Dr. Mauberret is the state veterinarian for the Louisiana State Racing Commission. He has been associated with the saliva and urine testing of horses raced over the fair grounds race track at New Orleans for the past few years.

"I know that the horse race people of the Maritimes will be interested in getting some first hand information re this important matter. Dr. Mauberret and I have discussed the procedure on a number of occasions. In a few sentences I shall endeavor to give the highlights. Prior to each race the track veterinarian, or Dr. Mauberret, observe each horse in the paddock not only for any use of a stimulant but also for soundness. Either the track veterinarian or Dr. Mauberret follows the horses or is present at the Starting Gate in case of accident or some other difficulty. After the horses leave the Starting Gate they proceed to watch the horses as they pull up at the finish. On instructions from the judges stand a designated officer is assigned to the winner or any other horse as the judges see fit to assign an officer to. The officer then accompanies the horse to the winner's circle or to the paddock. The state veterinarian or his assistant takes the saliva specimen.

This procedure consists of using a swab and a collection container. The swab is rubbed up and down on each side of the horse's mouth until saliva runs freely. It is collected in the container and two ounces of water is used to rinse the horse's mouth out. The trainer then signs for the collection and before his eyes the container is sealed and the specimen is shipped to the laboratory for testing. At the same time six urine specimen collectors are on hand to collect urine samples. One such collector remains with the animal continuously and for two hours after the horse is put in the stall if necessary. If a collection is made the officer seals it also in the presence of the trainer or groom. This sample is also forwarded to the laboratory for testing.

"From the information, I can gather the equipment used is rather costly and elaborate for testing these specimens. In the first place a trained chemist is necessary and trained technicians to conduct the test properly and make correct interpretations. The instrument which has proven most satisfactory is the spectrophotometer. Dr. Mauberret states that the saliva specimen alone just doesn't get it and the laboratory requires the urine specimen. This is the procedure briefly and is exactly the manner in which the test is conducted. One can readily see that the whole procedure if properly done is an expensive one, in my opinion far too expensive for the race tracks of the Maritimes at the present time.

"In all the years I have been associated with the horse game I can truthfully say that it is a fully recognized fact among horsemen that most so-called recognized stimulants are of little or no value to any horse. If he is wintered well on a high protein ration and raced well, that's about the most satisfactory stimulant any horse needs to race on. I do not believe any owner would ever consent to have his horses checked by any amateur, let alone have untrained and unqualified laboratory workers say that this horse or that horse has had a stimulant administered to him. I feel

If present plans work out successfully, and there is no reason why they shouldn't, it will be a big year for junior tennis enthusiasts not only in the City but the Province as a whole. The junior player development program which Jimmy Palmer will carry on here this summer in co-operation with the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's Dominion-wide effort to create more interest in the game among the younger set, should do much for the future of tennis here and provide local enthusiasts with more opportunities in organized play than they have ever had here before.

• • •

Although the Association can't give personal supervision to the carrying on of the activities in each Province on such a widespread effort it is ready to give every assistance by selecting a capable and experienced player in each Province with whom it will work in close association in organizing and developing the individual program. Their offer to send the two top winers in Provincial play to the Dominion Junior finals, in itself should be a factor on the program that will urge the youngsters on to greater interest and effort.

• • •

C. L. T. A.'s choice of Jimmy Palmer to take charge and organize the activities here was a sound one. Jimmy is a keen student of the game and was himself one of the best junior products in the Province just a few years back and was a holder of the Maritime junior singles crown. He is one of the best senior players in local circles at the present time, but he had to do it all the hard way. Jimmy never had the advantage of learning the proper technique and fundamentals of the game which the present program he is undertaking has to offer the youngsters this year. Jimmy did it all on his own natural ability, plus the few opportunities for instruction offered while going to college. That is one of the reasons why he is so keen on undertaking the present program, something that will give the youngsters a good start under organized planning and instruction.

• • •

Mr. Palmer's enthusiasm and keenness on the project is evidenced by the manner in which he has gotten things organized and set up in the short space of time he has been home after the conclusion of his law studies for this year. He has contacted all the City schools to organize the scholastic groups there and has already set the dates for three tournaments this season, which will include City and Provincial junior championship play and Provincial interscholastic competition. Jim has done a good job in enlisting a staff to work with him, too.

• • •

Earl Nicholson, physical instructor for P.W.C., will take charge of organizing and running the scholastic group, while Herbie Hughes will look after the instructional needs of the youngsters, and will be on hand every Saturday morning at the Charlottetown Club courts for that purpose. Ted Strain, another well-known local athlete, will assist with the summer's activities and will also take charge of a proposed indoor tennis program during the winter months. All four of the boys will give of their time and services free of charge, an admirable gesture and another good reason why the youngsters should give the program their fullest support and co-operation by turning out and taking the advantage of the opportunities offered.

We note that two of last season's leading performers in Maritime Major Hockey circles, left winger Walter Pawlyshyn of Islanders and defenceman Bob Gray, who started out with Islanders but finished the season with Glace Bay, are both playing on the same softball team in the senior circuit at Brandon, Man. They are members of the Anglo-Canadian Oils Club. In a recent game there against Scory's Stylists the Oilers swamped them by the lopsided count of 30-1. Pawlyshyn received special mention in the account of the game as going the full route on the mound for the Oilers, giving up only three hits, and collecting the only home-run of the contest. Shifty Bob Gray was mentioned as getting on base three times. Pawlyshyn was all-star left winger in the Big Four last year while Gray had an all-star defence rating in the Cape Breton loop.

3-Team S'side Baseball League Is Organized

A three-team Summerside Town Baseball League under the sponsorship of the Summerside Amateur Athletic Association was organized at the Town Hall in Summerside last night with Charles Hogan, chairman of baseball for the S.A.A.A., in the chair. Teams taking part in the league will be: R.C.A.F., Holmans and Juniors. It was decided that the league will be an independent house league. The following executive was elected: Charles Hogan, chairman, Norman MacDonald, vice-chairman, F/O Palmer, R. C. A. F., "Dutch" Underwood, Holmans Alan Stewart, Juniors. Mr. Stewart will act as secretary for the league.

At an executive meeting after the general meeting, a stipulation was made that the junior team would have priority rights on all civilian players in the junior age group, and that the Holman team would have priority rights on all civilian players over junior age. Games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and Norman MacDonald was empowered to draw up the first section of the schedule.

Irvin Jay of Kensington was present at the meeting and asked the executive to consider the admittance of a Kensington team into the league. It was decided to play the first section without the Kensington team, and in the meantime to ascertain by means of exhibition games whether the Kensington players would be sufficiently strong to provide suitable competition for the other teams.—S

Pitcher Russ Meyer Fined

BROOKLYN, June 1 —(AP) — Russ Meyer, hot-tempered Philadelphia pitcher, today was fined $50 for his rhubarb with Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson last night.

The penalty was assessed for Meyer's "challenging action" and for "inciting trouble."

The players nearly came to blows several times after Meyer had dropped the ball and permitted Robinson to score in the eighth inning on a run-down play. That run proved the winning one in the Dodgers' 4-3 victory. There was some bumping on the play.

Meyer later apologized to Robinson and Brooklyn manager Dressen.

Sport Briefs

BROOKLYN, June 1 — (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers today recalled pitcher Bud Podbielan from their Montreal farm in the International League and sent Lefty Chris Van Cuyk to take his place with the Royals. Podbielan compiled a six-and-three record with Montreal while Van Cuyk won one and dropped two with the Dodgers.

MONTREAL, June 1 — (CP) — Hank Camelli, formerly connected with Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves of the National League, has been appointed manager of St. Hyacinthe Saints of the Class C, Provincial Baseball League, Albert Molini, president of the Provincial League, announced tonight.

NEW YORK, June 1 —(AP) — Comedian Eddie Cantor was reported improved today at Doctor's Hospital. He entered the hospital last Monday for treatment for a ruptured blood vessel in his throat.

The tempermental black duck is back on schedule once more and prospects for a big improvement over last season's opening day shoot are in prospect. Last spring we had better than an average crop of potential breeding black ducks but the broods of young did not materialize. This season we have an even better showing of breeding blacks than we had last year and the birds are acting as they should act.

• • •

One evening this week I had a visit from Messrs. Addy and Couch two wildlife officers here to study the current waterfowl prospects. Addy is from the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C. and Couch represents the Dominion Wildlife Service, Ottawa. Both were optimistic over the duck prospects, particularly blacks and Blue-wing teal. They have been in the province for the best part of a week and have used a plane for a general check and a canoe for a close field study of specific areas. I have found this spring that the black ducks have been behaving better. Pairs have been on location since early in April and gave every apearance of being in a homemaking mood. In sharp contrast to last season when concentrations numbering up to fifty birds would be found loafing on marshes and salt water sandbars.

Furthermore broods of blacks have been in evidence since May 19th. It was nearing mid-June last spring before any broods of young were spotted and they were few and far between. The Federal Field men and the writer compared notes and our separate findings were identical. Why black ducks this spring have shown a right-about-face over their behaviour last season is a mystery which Wildlife officials hope to solve some day. As Addy remarked: "If I only had the power to talk to black ducks for ten minutes I'd solve problems that are puzzling Biologists in both Washington and Ottawa."

The announcement by the Department of Industry and Natural Resources that they are paying a bounty of 15c on every pair of crows feet turned in at the office of the Royal Packing Company, Charlottetown, should serve as an impetus to the Crow Contest being conducted this summer by the Queen's County Branch of the P. E. I. Fish and Game Association. Bounty payment expires on July 15th. With shotgun shells retailing at approximately 12 1-2 cents each one needs to miss very few crows unless its the wish to wind up in the red. However, some valuable prizes have been offered which should more then recompense one for the shells expended and besides they will have been used in a worthy cause. Kill the crows and save the ducks in a timely slogan.

• • •

I haven't a list of the prizes offered on hand at the present time but it will be published shortly. Its nice to know what one is shooting for. The crow is not the only enemy of our ducks. Skunks relish an egg whether it be good, bad or indifferent and in this respect is on a par with the Raccoon. In fact quite a few observers contend that the Coon has the skunk stopped when it comes to nest robbing. Raccoons have increased greatly this past few years since the price received for their pelts has been so low that it doesn't pay for the trouble of skinning and fleshing.

• • •

A few years ago trappers were letting coons out of their traps rather than undertake the time and labour involved in preparing the skins for sale. The present fur trend indicates that Raccoon pelts are in greater demand and next fall may well bring a price sufficient to again interest trappers in going after the troublesome ring-tails.

• • •

Trout fishing has been in a slump for the past few weeks but indications point to a betterment of the trout fishing pastime. Last evening a companion and myself stopped near the head of a tidal stream. A run of sea trout were fairly boiling the water and it didn't take us long to get into our waders. They weren't large, running in the 7 or 7 1-2 inch bracket, but were they ever active. They showed no interest whatsoever in our wares.

• • •

They were after a hatch of flies I don't think I ever remember seeing flies like them before. There were a large darkish brown fly with a whitish strip across the wings. It sure was tantalizing to watch an underwater wake follow one's offering and then see a tell-tale swirl as the trout turned away. I drew a blank but my companion landed a pair on a black gnat. A seven and a half inch fresh run sea trout is a plump, firm and meaty morsel that is not to be sneezed at. Anyone who has landed a 3 pounder will no doubt enjoy a laugh when they read this but I for one will not turn up my nose at a 7 1-2 inch sea trout.

A trout of this length has it all over a six incher in respect to weight and flavour and when dished up on a platter crisp and brown are as sweet as the proverbial nut. Now don't get me wrong. I still prefer to take trout of a heavier poundage but when it comes to choosing between no trout at all or taking a mess of the lesser fry I'm right in there swinging the old fly rod.

• • •

Last night I finally quit wearing my arm out and stood waist deep in water and watched the fun. I found myself making imaginary bets on how long a fly would last after it alighted on the water. Once six of them landed in a cluster six feet in front of me. They resembled a convoy of fat Merchantmen sailing through a "Pack" of Submarines. They kept disapearing in one's and two's until one only was left. I watched it sailing by on the tide and thought for a moment it was going to make Port...then there was a swirl and the fly had vanished.

• • •

When I reached the city I told an angling friend of mine of the experience and described the type of fly. I got a surprise. He remarked: "There are just two places where I saw a hatch of flies like that". He wasn't bluffing ...he guessed right. Well fellow anglers if you are as good at reading flies they're there by the hundreds and...if you hit them in the right mood they're there for the taking.

WICHITA, Kas., June 1—(AP)— A five-team circuit with two new members is in prospect for the United States Hockey League, president Ron Cook said today. Sioux City, Ia., and Wichita, Kas., are the prospective new clubs, Cook said, listing Wichita as "a strong possibility." Holdover teams will be Kansas City, Omaha and Tulsa.

One Change In Fight Program At The Forum

Forum Manager W.J. "Bill" Brown, who will stage a four-bout boxing card there on Tuesday night, announced last night that there will be one change in his schedule of events.

Johnny Russell, City, scheduled to meet Lloyd Carr in a four-round preliminary, will be substituted for by Louis "Kid" Lafferty. Russell suffered a rib injury in a bout against Lafferty at Victoria Rink last Wednesday night. Both boys are light-heavyweights from the City.

A 10-round, non-title bout between Maritime middleweight champion, Cobey McCloskey of Charlottetown, and former champion Yvon Durelle of Bale St. Anne, N.B. will be the main event of the Tuesday night card.

Manager Brown also stated that the starting time has been changed from 8:30 P.M. to 9 P.M.

The Department of Veterans Affairs Staff Association bowling team captured the P. E. I. District Council Trophy, emblematic of the Provincial five pin bowling championship in Dominion Civil Servants competition, when they eliminated the Department of Agriculture in the finals at the Rollaway last night.

The D. V. A. team won with a total pinfall of 3,113 in the three-game finals match, 93 pins better than the runner-up Department of Agriculture team with a total of 3,020.

Two of the D. V. A. team members also held the honors in individual scoring, Ivan Harper winning the high three with a total of 772, while Frank J. Shanahan won high single with a score of 303.

Other teams who competed in the Civil Servants tournament were the Staff Associations of Income Tax, Unemployment Insurance and Department of Transport.

The Income Tax team were the defending champions, winning the District Council Challenge Trophy put up for the first time last year for annual competition, but were eliminated in the semi-finals by D. V. A. this year by a narrow margin of five pins.
