FISHERMEN'S

discuss the matter of seasons. The result of all these meetings indicated that all fishermen in that area are strongly opposed to any change in the present regulations. On a vote taken as to whether there be any change in the present law (two seasons), the meeting was almost unanimous in its opinion that there should be no change.

Size Limit
Regarding size limits, the report recommended that "canning" areas a carapace measure of 2 1/4 inches should be established. During the present years the carapace measure in "canning" areas was set at 2 1/2 with the full recognition that lobsters between 6.5 and 7.5 inches with a general average of 6.9 inches be taken.

The recommendation stated that the department feels that a larger size limit would be beneficial for conservation purposes and suggested a carapace measure of 2 1/4 inches giving a range in size from 6.8 to 7.9 inches and an average size of 7.3 inches.

The suggestion of the department that the size limit be increased met with the general disapproval of the meeting. It was pointed out that such a change would penalize the honest fisherman because of the increased number of lobsters to throw back in the water from his catch.

The overall opinion stated by various speakers was, "do not make any change in present measurements until it can be found that proper enforcement of the present regulations can produce."

Much discussion centred at this stage of the meeting on the matter of small lobsters. A number of suggestions to prevent the taking of undersized lobsters were put forward and most of the fishermen were strongly of the opinion that teeth should be put in the law that would make it impossible to poach or can small lobsters.

It was pointed out by some of the packers present that the discussions seemed to indicate that the packers were being blamed for the illegal packing of these small lobsters. It was pointed out by some of the packers present that the discussions seemed to indicate that the packers were being blamed for the illegal packing of these small lobsters.

Dr. Prichard said it had been suggested to his department that a minimum fine be levied. If a fisherman comes in with one small lobster he would be fined a stipulated amount and should be caught bringing in a large amount "then throw the book at him" he said.

Speakers contended that there should be some leeway shown to a fisherman who was found with only a small number of short lobsters in his catch, but it was the contention of Dr. Prichard that "the law allows no such leeway" and a man is just as guilty of breaking the law if he brings in one short lobster as he would be if he brings in hundreds of them.

It was the consensus of opinion that spacing the traps was the logical way to prevent the fishing of these small lobsters.

Fishermen's Licenses
The final item on the agenda was the licensing of fishermen, boats and gear and it was recommended by the board that the present regulations be rescinded. Present regulations have the effect of allowing a fisherman to fish in one district only, each year, and to employ his boat and gear only once. The department members pointed out that there have been numerous infractions of the these laws which it said cannot be controlled without additional detailed regulations to ensure identification of boats and gear.

It was further contended by the Board that the whole problem should be reconsidered in the light of existing conditions. It suggested that it seemed reasonable to return to the policy of allowing any individual to fish anywhere so long as he has a license and abides by the regulations. There was a general disapproval of any suggestion that fishermen be allowed to move from area to area as the season ended in their own locality.

Hon. Eugene Cullen, of the Department of Industry and Natural Resources said that if present regulations are changed, the lobster fishing industry in this province might eventually be controlled by large corporations and fishermen might be driven from the industry into these waters and fish and he did not believe that the proposed change would be a good one. The general opinion expressed at the meeting was that the law which provides that a fisherman may fish in only one area during the year be left as it is.

Involved in such disasters as the 1939 torpedoing of the liner Athenia, people and firms whose goods were lost in numerous countries when the Germans or Japanese struck, enemy imprisonment and other groups.

The government already has announced automatic awards of $1 a day for about 2,000 Canadian servicemen and civilians for every day they were prisoners of the Japanese or certain German organizations such as the S.S. or Gestapo. This mainly benefits 1,400 military veterans of the Hong Kong expedition of 1941. The awards are described as reimbursement for maltreatment and will absorb at least $2,000,000 of the fund.

Other awards will have to be approved by Chief Justice Campbell's commission - other commissioners will be named to assist him - and then approved again by the government.

The new commission will be guided by a lengthy report on war claims submitted by Rt. Hon. J. L. Isley, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia and former Federal Finance Minister who made a study of the situation at the government's request. The report has been largely adopted by the cabinet.

Chief Justice Campbell will also act in the capacity of advisory commissioner on claims under the treaty of peace with Italy. He is empowered to report and make recommendations on such other classes of claims by Canadians as may be referred by the government.

capture the Island attention as the first team has of the Maritimes.

Monday afternoon and evening, delegates to two national conferences returned to the Campus. John Mullally and John Dunphy met with the representatives of many Canadian colleges for the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Catholic College Students. The boys report a very successful meeting in all ways, and as J. J. says, "that includes social activities."

At Quebec City, Gerald Steele sat as an observer for the NFCUS meeting, and as a delegate to the Assembly of the ISS, NFCUS in the assembly which the voice of Canadian students is heard and expressed, and where they bring their problems and suggestions to achieve greater unity among the students of Canada and of the world. At this conference the long discussion of a Soviet-Canadian student exchange was abandoned for the sake of the unity of Canadian students. Although the majority of delegates voted for the plan, they were, many of them, personally against it after they were more informed of the almost complete failure of the plan as undertaken by other nations, as well as the great difficulties and tremendous cost. Most of the delegates were mandated beforehand and were therefore obliged to express the wishes of their respective student-bodies, irrespective of their own.

The ISS Assembly was regarded by all as a great success; judging by circumstances it is destined for an even brighter future. One thing

Wings Presented At Ceremony In S'ide

Navigators wings were presented to a group of NATO trained air- men at R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, yesterday morning by Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, M.P., parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Fisheries. The parade, due to inclement weather, was held in the drill hall where two squadrons, an ensign party and an armed party, were on parade. The parade was inspected by Mr. MacNaught, accompanied by Group Captain A. G. Kenyon, commanding officer. Following the inspection, P/O Spicer announced the graduates and S/L L. G. Lacombe, chief ground instructor, assisted the reviewing officer with the presentation of wings.

The graduating class consisted of R.C.A.F., R.A.F., Belgian and French graduates.

The parade was under the command of the cadet officer commanding, Flight Cadet Wardman.

The only Maritime member of yesterday's class was P/O J. A. LeBlanc of Dipper, N.B.

After the presentation of wings, lunch was served in the Officers Mess and attended by instructors and graduates.

To become accustomed to a change in name from ISS (O) to WUSC (World University Service of Canada). The international bodies of ISS and WUS are practically identified and no great policy change will ensue. One thing everyone agreed to was an increased effort on the part of WUSC to contribute much more to the work of material student relief, especially in the more backward countries of the world.

WUSC provides a partial answer to many of the problems faced by less fortunate peoples.

The names are now available of those on the various public speaking committees whose duty it is to prepare and post a program and list of speakers for the weekly public speaking classes. These positions are chairman, vice-chairman and secretary. Senior, Abbie Smith, J. Leon Bourassa and J. O'Brien; juniors, Art Pendergast, J. Dunphy and Ena Murphy; Sophomores, Tom McLaughlin, McCabe and Tom Kane; freshmen, Art Seaman, Bill Cormier and Rosella Kane; Grade XII, Dick Deighen, F. Slowey and Bud Lawlor; Grade XI, Don Shaw, Bill Farmer and Ed Murphy; Grade X, R. Le Gouffe, Dave Arnold and D. Gallant.
