Soiled Blankets at Damaged Prices

Fifteen pairs of warm, well made, all wool blankets go on sale at a discount of 25 per cent.

Why?

Soiled—some more—some less—all somewhat.

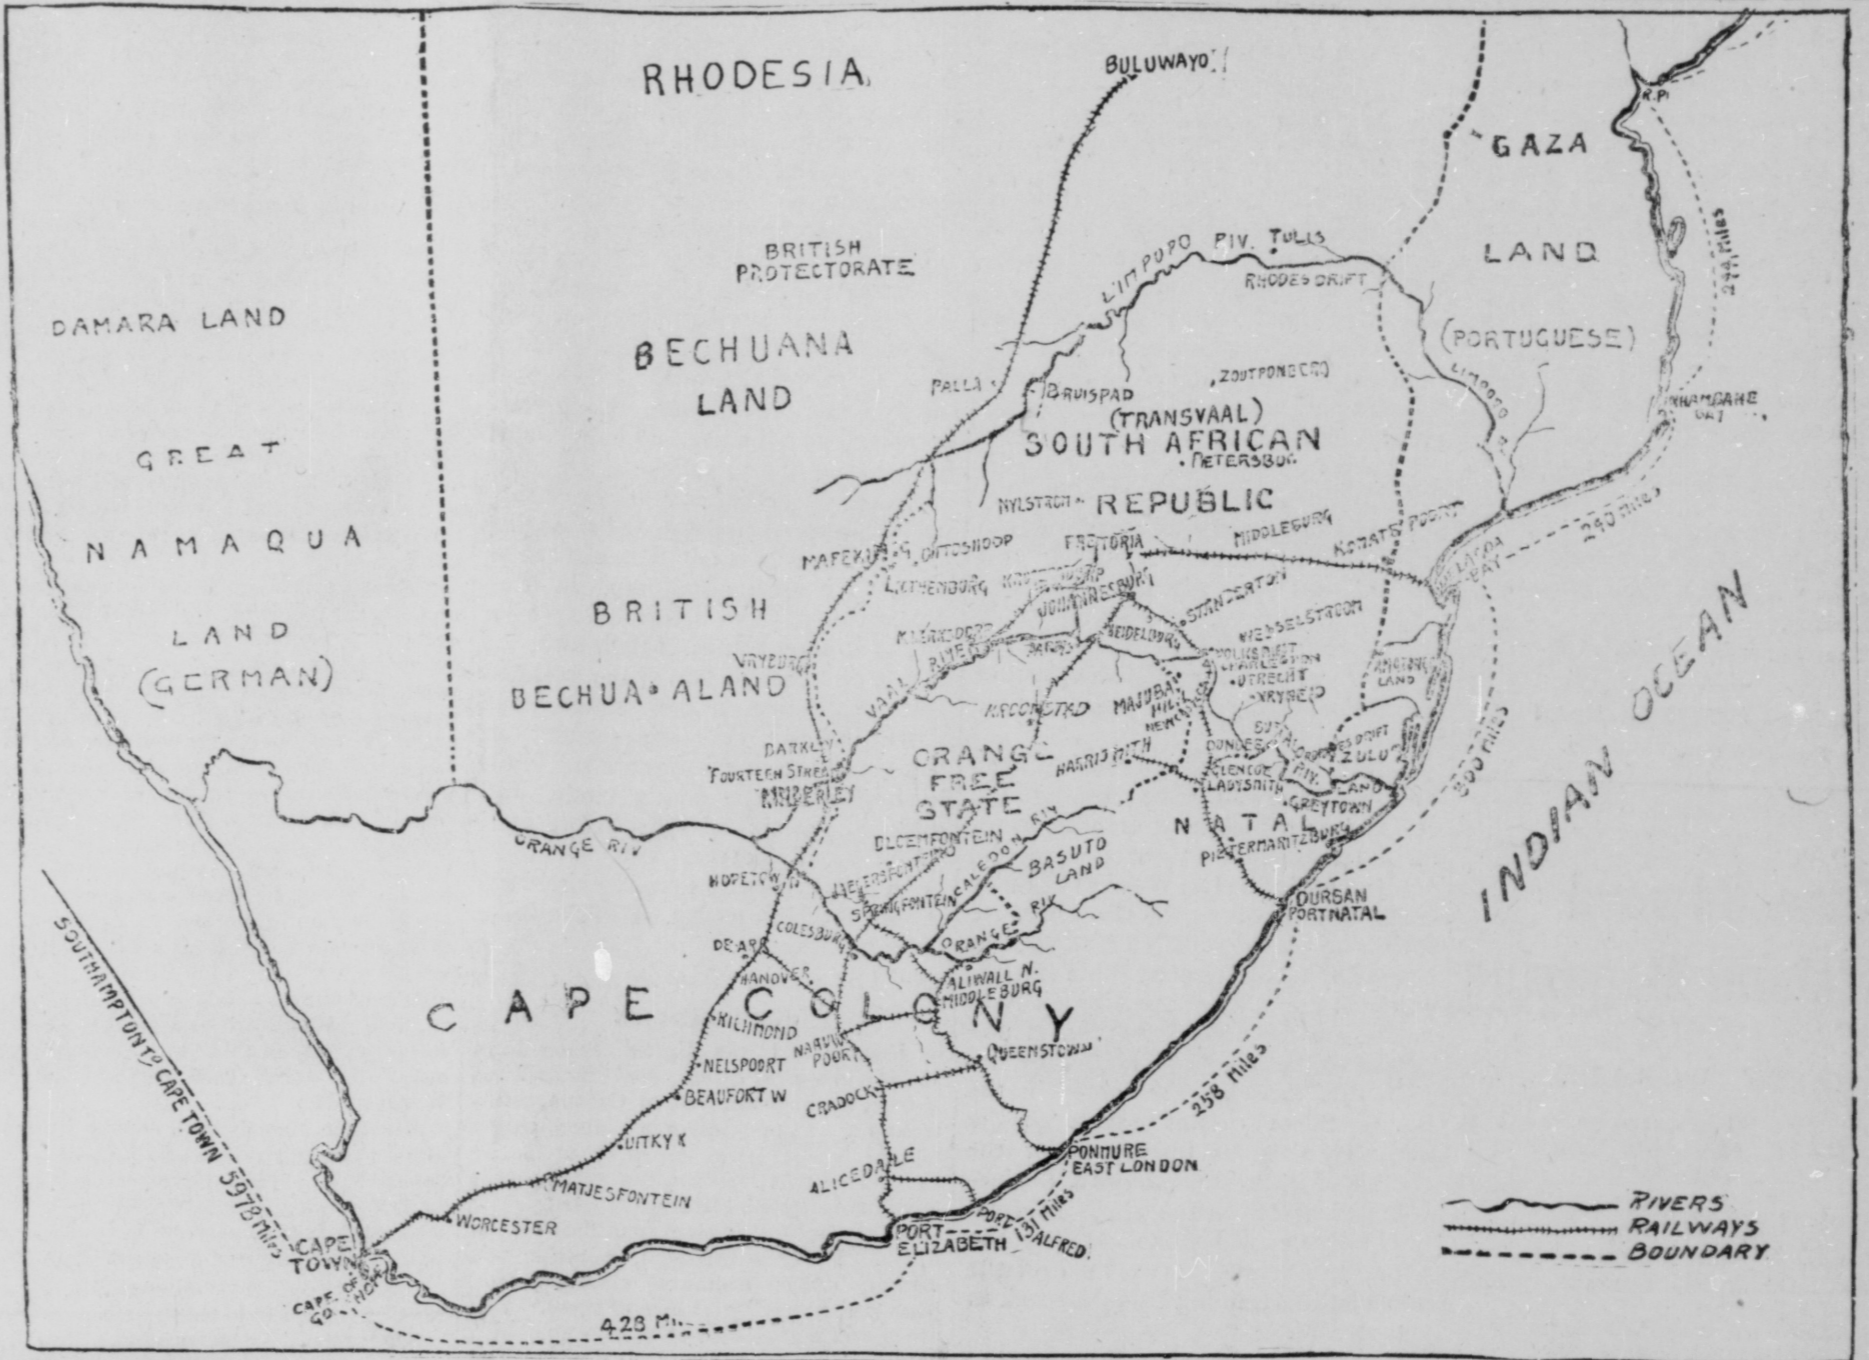

They're not quite fresh and dainty enough to go with the new stock.

So here are the prices.

BOERS CHASED BY BRITISH.

Confirmation of the British Victory at Glencoe.

Magnificent Fighting by British Troops—Splendid Work of the Artillery—Boer Guns Captured—Fighting at Close Quarters—Many Boers Surrender—Cavalry in Pursuit.

GLENCOE CAMP, Oct 21.—After eight directions the British infantry and cavalry hours of continuous heavy fighting, Falana Hill was carried by the Dublin Fusiliers and the King's Rifles under cover of a well-served artillery fire by the 13th and 69th batteries.

The Boers who threatened the British rear have retired.

The fight was almost an exact counterpart of that of Majuba Hill, except that the positions of the Boers and British forces were reversed.

General Symons was shot through the thigh, but no bones were broken.

GLENCOE, Oct 20.—The Boers have just got a reverse which may possibly for a time at any rate check all aggressive action on their part.

The British artillery practice in the early part of the day decided the battle.

The seizure of Dundee Hill by the Boers was a surprise, for although the pickets had been exchanging shots all night it was not until a shell boomed over the town into the camp that their presence was discovered.

Then the shells came in fast and the hill was positively alive with swarming Boers. Still the British got to work with magnificent energy and precision and after a quarter of an hour firing silenced the guns on the hill.

The correspondents could see the shells dropped among the Boer pieces with remarkable accuracy and doing tremendous execution.

By this time the enemy held the whole of the hill behind South's farm and Dundee kopje right away to the south, in which moved at once.

Fighting ranged particularly hot at the valley outside the town.

Directly the Boers guns ceased firing, General Symons ordered the infantry to move on the position.

The infantry charge was magnificent. The way the King's Royal Rifles and the Dublin Fusiliers stormed the position was one of the most splendid sights ever seen.

The firing of the Boers was not so deadly as might have been expected from troops occupying such an excellent position, but the infantry lost heavily going up the hill and only the consummately brilliant way in which General Symons had trained them to fighting of the kind saved them from being swept away.

Indeed the hill was almost inaccessible to the storming party and any hesitation would have lost the day.

The enemy's guns, so far as the correspondent could see, were all abandoned; for the Boers had no time to remove them.

General Symons was wounded early in the action and the command then devolved on Major Yale.

The enemy, as they fled, were followed by the mounted infantry and artillery. The direction taken was to the eastward.

At latest reports the cavalry had not returned.

The British losses are very severe but those of the Boers are much heavier.

The final rush was made with a triumphing yell, and as the British troops charged to close quarters the enemy fled. While this was going on the battery of artillery, the 18th Hussars and the mounted infantry with a part of the Leicestershire regiment moved on the enemy's flank and as the Boers streamed down the hill making for the main road, they found their retreat had been cut off and they rallied for a while.

Here there was severe fighting with considerable loss on both sides.

Many of the enemy surrendered.

A rough estimate places the British loss at 250 killed or wounded, and that of the Boers at 500.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER.

On Monday evening at 9.30 o'clock there will be a complimentary dinner at the Davies Hotel to the South African Contingent. It will be given jointly by the military and civilians and will probably be the most interesting dinner ever given in Charlottetown. The tickets have been placed at the low price of $2, and can be had from any member of the committee. There will be but a few tickets to dispose of, and anyone desiring to be present should apply immediately. The Committee in charge of all arrangements is: Lieut G M Moore, Chairman; Lieut S Grey, Lieut J A McDonald, Lieut C Leigh, jr.

LIEUT A. A. BARTLETT,
Secretary.

School Girls' Nerves

Many a pale, weak school girl, suffering the evil effects of an exhausted nervous system, and thin, watery blood, has been fully restored to the vigor and buoyancy of robust health, by using A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. The healthful glow on the cheek and the brightness in the eye tell of the building up process which is taken place in the body.

THE ISLAND CONTINGENT.

The work of selecting the Transvaal contingent has been almost completed. Names of the twenty-eight men already chosen are as follows:

- HURDIS L. McLEAN, No 2 Co. Artillery.

Between yesterday afternoon and one o'clock today Surgeon-Major Warburton examined twelve volunteers and certified as to their fitness.

There were a good many additional volunteers to-day.

Captain D. C. Leslie, of Souris, and Lieut. Donahoe, of Georgetown, were among the officers who volunteered for service in the Transvaal. Their names were not published with the others.

It is understood that the Provincial Government is to give the contingent a grant of $500 or $600, to be divided between the men. The City Council will probably also give a snug sum in cash. An emergency meeting of the Board is called for this evening, when action will be taken on this point, and arrangements made for giving the men a send-off.

The parade to St. James' church tomorrow (Sunday) forenoon will be participated in by the two city companies of Artillery, the Engineer Corps and the 82nd Battalion. The Artillery Band and the Band of the 82nd Battalion will be in attendance. The Transvaal contingent will occupy the post of honor on the right of the line at the head of the militia. The service will begin at eleven o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. T. F. Fullerton, Chaplain of the 4th Regt. C. A. The militia will parade at the drill shed at ten o'clock.

There will be a farewell dinner to the contingent at the Hotel Davies on Monday evening, particulars of which will be found elsewhere in today's issue.
