For the past two weeks, volunteer women from the town of Kensington have been going daily to the regional high school where they have been making uniforms for the 44-member band which is sponsored by the Kensington Lions Club. Seen here hard at work are, from left to right, Pauline Bain, Mrs. Lester Champion and Mrs. J.W. Sheen. It is expected that all the uniforms will be completed by the end of this week.

Timmins People Are Jubilant Following Major Discovery

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — "I know everyone in town is jubilant—if they're not, they should be."

That was the excited reaction of Leo Del Villano, mayor of this Northern Ontario mining community, following the announcement by Texas Gulf Sulphur Company of a major zinc, copper and silver strike a few miles north of here.

Normal work came to a virtual halt as thousands of people thronged the streets, stopping each other to talk with happy relief about what the strike could mean for the future.

For Timmins, which had lived the last two decades under the gold of seeing its gold mines edging closer to shut-down, it was boom-time all over again.

"We can look forward to a future, instead of extinction," J. P. Barzman, one of the town's pioneers and a former mayor, said. "I won't be long before the population of Timmins is doubled."

Although Timmins is the centre of one of the world's greatest gold-producing areas—more than $1,500,000,000 worth of the yellow metal had been dug out in its 32-year history—since the end of the Second World War it had found itself, along with most other Canadian gold towns, caught between climbing costs and fixed revenue.

MINE WILL CLOSE
The end appeared closer recently when the fabled Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, producers of more than $500,000,000 worth of gold in its day, announced it would have to close next summer because the remaining ore could not be mined economically at the prevailing price of $35 an ounce in United States funds.

Hollinger employs 1,400 miners who, with their families, make up a significant proportion of Timmins's 28,000 population.

Most people, however, were ready to shrug off doubts of the future after Thursday's announcement.

Cook Supply Said Short In Canada

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada is seriously short of well-trained cooks, says Christian Hiz, chef de cuisine at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City.

"It is not a bit of use donning a tall hat and calling yourself a chef," says Mr. Hiz, here recently to attend a conference. "First you have to be able to cook, and you can only do that with training."

He would like to see Canada introduce a national apprenticeship scheme for cooks similar to the three-year course which started his own career at a Swiss resort.

He believes cooking has many opportunities to offer young Canadians.

"A good cook is worth his weight in gold."
With the Montreal World's Fair only three years away, Mr. Hiz believes it is vitally necessary to get a training program started immediately.

Canada will be host to thousands of visitors from all over the world and, he says, although our catering standards have improved in recent years, "there is still plenty of scope for well-trained men to do even better."

NICKEL IS THE HALLMARK OF QUALITY IN STAINLESS STEEL

Nickel's contribution to quality stainless steel is toughness, durability and resistance to corrosion. Nickel stainless steel is easy to keep clean, sanitary and gleaming; it will not crack or chip; it will not rust or stain.

The International Nickel Company's continuing programme of research and market development helps Canadian manufacturing industries produce quality products, and helps strengthen Canada's economy.

Look for products carrying this 18-8 seal which indicates a nickel content of approximately 8%. NICKEL... its contribution is quality
