STILL LEAVES DOUBTS

In Moscow the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said the report fails to dissipate all doubts and suspicions about the assassination.

Radio Prague said: "Despite apparent efforts to edit the statements in a way as to serve the official theses on the assassination, many witnesses' statements are contradictory."

Stockholm's leftist Aftonbladet said: "The Warren report today has wiped out all obscurity about the assassination of the president."

The Socialist Vooruit of Brussels commented: "A big book, but not the last word."

The Communist L'Humanite of Paris declared: "The real questions remain without response."

The Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung commented:

"The report confirms the thus far official version: Oswald was, as a lone operator, the murderer. So far as motive and also many details are concerned, this report cannot produce final clarity."

In Yugoslavia, Belgrade's Vecernje Novosti observed: "Oswald and (Jack) Ruby (Oswald's killer) were not members of any conspiracy."

An RCMP spokesman said the motorcycle escort will accompany the Queen on the remainder of her Canadian visit

Fall Centennial Clinics Underway In City Today

With the arrival of the mobile Red Cross blood donor team from Halifax last night, everything is now in readiness for the three days of Fall Centennial clinics in Charlottetown which get underway with a special session at St. Dunstan's University this afternoon. The team will set up at Zion Church hall at the completion of the SDU clinic in preparation for the opening of the Charlottetown sessions at 8 p.m.

According to Allison Gill, King Lion of the Charlottetown Club, this group and the Parkdale Lions' Club are engaged in a keen competition for blood donor supremacy. Both clubs plan to meet at the Charlottetown Hotel this evening from where, "decked out" in their forage caps and vests symbolizing Lionism they will stage a parade to the blood donor clinic.

Fremont Archer, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown, emphasized again last night that while the objective for the three days is officially at least 1,065 donors from the city and surrounding area, it is vitally important that this number be exceeded in order to compensate for the deficit of 300 accumulated during the summer months by the below quota attendance at several of the clinics held in various centres during June and August.

Mr. Archer further stressed the ever-present need for 'O' negative blood and said he felt confident that as many as possible of this type would turn out at the Charlottetown clinics, as well as donors of all types. He also stated that it is very important for previous donors to bring their "type" cards with them, since this eliminates the necessity for re-typing at the clinic. This no only saves time, but money since it costs about .35c for the serum used in the typing of each donor.

Sessions at Zion Church hall on Wednesday are from 9 - 11 in the morning and 5 until 9 in the evening. The morning is particularly designed for housewives and employees who are allowed time out from work to attend during the day-time hours. The afternoon session starts at 5 o'clock for the convenience of those who like to "drop in" on their way home from work, and it continues until 9 p.m. The hours on Thursday, which is the concluding day, are from 2 - 4 in the afternoon, and from 7 until 9 in the evening.

Work Crews Struggle To Clear Derailment

SUMMERSIDE — Work crews, from Summerside and Charlottetown, toiling under search lights worked throughout last night in an effort to place two diesel engines of the "Extra 33 West" train back on track. Four other cars, also derailed of a 17 car total, were retracked last evening.

The derailment occured at 7.10 a.m. yesterday at the Harvard Street crossing here. The apparent reason for the derailment was believed to have been a lock torn off a nearby switch, which was opened, causing the train to jump the track.

One of the two diesel engines, by means of railroad ties placed underneath it and hauled by an auxiliary train, was expected to be back on the tracks early this morning.

The other diesel engine, deeply embedded in a four foot hole, on a 45 degree angle with oil leaking from it rapidly filling the cavity will be more difficult to remove.

"If some one throws a match into that there will be some fun", said Edgar C. Taylor, superintendant of the CNR's Island Division, referring to the escaping oil.

Bill MacGregor, a car foreman from Charlottetown who brought 12 other men to Summerside on the auxiliary train which arrived at noon yesterday claimed it would be this afternoon before the tow engines would be put up.

Mr. Taylor commenting on the amount of work done said that a great deal of damaged track had been repaired, but more was to be done.

CNR police were continuing to investigate the accident last night.

The train was bound for Miscouche from Charlottetown when the derailment happened. No one was reported injured.

The train was loaded with 1500 tons of gravel to be used in grading the track in Summerside and surfounding areas.

Number 217 train, morning mainland train was unable to leave for Borden due to the derailment. The passengers were transported to Borden by bus.
