U.S. Ready For Probe If Autos Are 'Dumped'

By ARCH MACKENZIE
WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States treasury department says it will investigate any situation in which Canadian autos appear to be "dumped" in the American market.

No such situation has come to its attention yet, however, says a spokesman.

He was commenting on the possibility that the Canadian-U.S. agreement on abolition of tariffs for new motor vehicles and their original parts—imposed only at the manufacturer level—might draw dumping complaints.

"Dumping arises when the exporting country sells its product abroad at a price less than the 'fair value' charged in its own domestic market."

In this case, Canadian autos generally cost an average 17 per cent more than in the United States. Ford of Canada plans to sell 400 autos a month in the U.S. for the month of April, May and June at prices competitive with the U.S. level.

WATCH TO SEE

Certain American auto parts makers, who oppose the tariff-abolition scheme, have said they will be watching to see whether the U.S. treasury takes action in this situation.

But, treasury and other U.S. government officials, while mindful of the possibilities of dumping being found, say there are a number of factors.

For example, a lot depends on just how the Ford transaction occurs—whether the Canadian subsidiary and the parent Ford company at Detroit absorb the price differential internally.

They say there are two main requirements to prove dumping.

One is to define exactly what constitutes a fair value in the country of origin. This is not always easy.

Another is to prove that economic hardship has resulted from any dumping. They suggest that the auto makers themselves—since they desire to integrate the Canadian-American industry with economic gains from specialization in output—would hardly complain.

MUST SHOW INJURY
It would be up to any American parts maker to show that it was being hurt by the sale of Canadian autos. The U.S. will implementing the tariff abolition now before Congress and due for its first hard scrutiny starting April 27, contains provisions for compensating workers or firms who can show loss of business due either to Canadian exports or decreased exports of their own to Canada.

The major purpose of the North American auto agreement is to increase Canadian output. American parent car makers hope to save by boosting output of certain lines or parts in Canada, and centring other specialists in the U.S. plants.

Eventually, if the scheme works, Canada's higher price level for consumers would diminish progressively.

The publication said the population rise means that current benchmarks for measuring markets and production in the metalworking industry could be outmoded quickly.

The magazine says the steel industry in the U.S. produced 2,785,000 net tons of ingots last week, equalling the record set in the week ended March 27.

POTATO BOARD PLEBISCITE

A plebiscite on the future of the Potato Board will be held on April twenty first.

It is the right and the duty of every producer of potatoes to exercise his or her privilege and vote on this very important matter and thereby express an interest and have a voice in the future of the industry.

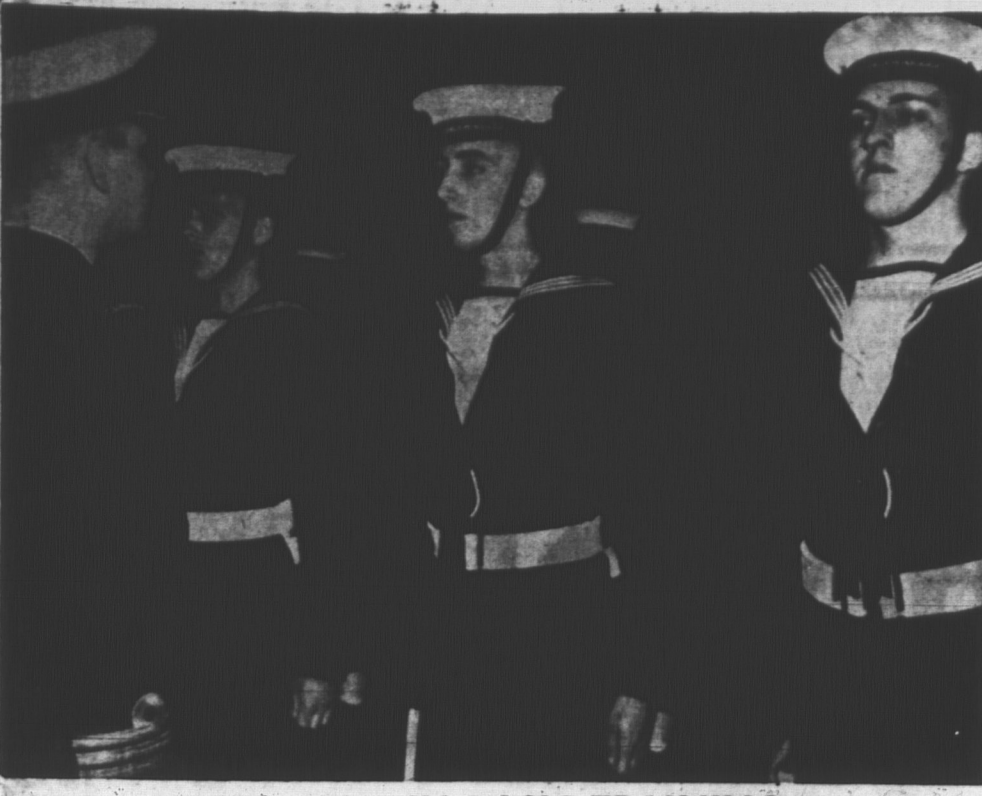

It is estimated the 1964 crop will bring an amount in excess of twenty million potato dollars to this province. This certainly is most reassuring to all, and especially to those directly connected with this very important part of our Island industry.

Potato dollars will continue, as always, to have a tremendous influence on the economy of Prince Edward Island. While the present favourable situation is due to many unforeseen factors, a good portion has been achieved through the combined teamwork of producers, dealers, and others working in close harmony with your board.

We urge every potato producer to carefully consider the importance of a well organized effort to extend the production of this industry.

Your vote is important—it is important that you vote.
