Plan Drive For King's County Memorial Hospital

A meeting of the campaign committee for the King's County Memorial Hospital drive convened yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. H. Poole. Mr. Temple M. Lewellyn was elected chairman and Mr. G. Arnold Wightman, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the committee are Mrs. L. H. Poole, Messrs. H. M. Smith and G. G. Bennett.

This year the campaign is from November 3rd to November 15th, inclusive, and the objective of the campaign is $7,500. As was the case last year, the main objective of the drive is to raise funds for a nurses' home. Last year, from the proceeds of the drive the trustees were able to put aside $5,000 for this purpose. This year half the proceeds of the campaign will be added to this fund for erecting a nurses' home and the other half for general operation expenses.

It is hoped that construction of the nurses' home will begin next spring, if the money is available. The Board of Trustees feels at least $10,000 should be put aside before construction commences. The trustees again point out the urgent need of this residence. At the present time some of the nurses have rooms in the basement, while others are occupying rooms on the main floor that should be made available for patients.

The trustees feel this is a most worthy object and they trust that the response will be generous.

Liberals Meet In Preliminary Session At Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 27—(CP)—The Liberal Party's top lieutenants, looking to the next general election, today talked of stepped-up organization, lower taxes and abolition of radio licence fees. The politically-important subjects were in the forefront of matters discussed at opening sessions of the Advisory Council of the National Liberal Federation, the high command of the federal party in power.

Major action of the 235-member council was the adoption of a resolution regarding by observers as putting the finish to the $2.50-a-year radio licence fee. In apparently paving the way for removal of the radio fee, the council made no reference to television. It worded its resolution: "Recognizing that the use of radio has become universal in Canada and a necessity of modern life in the face of a general election, expected to come next year."

1. Heard a plea from Allan L. Woodrow of Toronto, acting president, for efficient and early preparation in the face of a general election, expected to come next year.

2. Heard Mr. Woodrow suggest that lower taxes would follow continued increases in national production.

3. Endorsed the Liberals' Federal administration, while calling on Prime Minister St. Laurent to lead the party through the next general election.

Another resolution adopted at the closed session and released later reasserted that the "primary aim" of the Liberal Party is to promote national unity.

In the presidential report of Mr. Woodrow—filling in for Senator J. Gordon Fogo, who died in July—he said that the Liberals have a tremendous task in administering plans for improving living standards and at the same time spending heavily on defence.

Battle Of Sexes Seen In Ottawa's Mayoralty Race

OTTAWA, Oct. 27—(CP)—The capital's 1952 mayoralty campaign appears to be developing into a battle of the sexes, Voting is Monday, Dec. 1. Probable principals are Mayor Charlotte Whitton, 58, a former welfare worker, and Controller L. L. (Len) Coulter, 52 Ottawa business man.

While other candidates may enter the field, there was considerable agitation in the city to persuade other possible candidates to withdraw to give Controller Coulter a better chance to defeat Miss Whitton.

It was this pressure which today caused the Mayor to declare she is in the race "to the death" and will not seek a provincial or federal office as had been rumored.

The Mayor's outburst came after George Nelms, Ottawa optician and public school trustee who had previously announced his intentions to run, issued a statement that he was withdrawing in favor of Mr. Coulter.

(5) To receive gifts and bequests of money and all kinds of property or rights of property and to administer the same and to accept money on trust for the furtherance of the objects of the Federation.

The Federation will endeavor to achieve its objects by the following methods: (1) Educational, including the dissemination of literature, public addresses and sermons, forums, oratorical and essay contests among the young, promotion of adequate temperance teaching in public and high schools, colleges, Sunday schools and Young People's groups. (2) Legislative—the promotion of such legislation—municipal, provincial and federal—as may be practical in obtaining the objects the Federation seeks and the enforcement of the same. (3) Political—securing where possible the nomination and election to the legislative and executive political positions of persons who are known, avowed and trustworthy supporters of the principles and methods of the Federation.

Reports For Committee

Dr. J. A. Clark reported for the committee appointed to interview the provincial government concerning the appointment of a director of Temperance education. The committee had been promised favorable consideration but so far no appointment has been made.

Rev. John Linton, secretary of the Canadian Federation, pointed out that government appointments have been made in Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia.

IN MEMORIAM

All primary Chapters are asked to contribute to this fund.

Mrs. T. Davies, Educational Secretary, reported that the adopted schools had been visited and that arrangements are being made to secure a map of the world for one and that another needs a bookcase to hold the library the Chapter has just placed in school. She asked that members with good books suitable for supplementary reading in our adopted rural schools bring or send the same to the rooms next Friday.

Mrs. J. A. Macmillan, convener of "Services at Home and Infant" reported a request from headquarters for diapers and infant and children's clothing. The three City Chapters are working together on this and any organization or individual wishing to contribute to this shipment please contact any member of the I. O. D. E. We will be glad to include your donation. Soft toys, stuffed animals or dolls, are in great demand too, for these poor little kiddies who never saw or owned a real doll or toy. Reviews Progress

Leads In Air Photography

Canada also leads in aerial photography, which has made it possible to venture into the otherwise unknown. 25 Canadians are now engaged in such work in Pakistan while similar large mapping parties from this country are engaged in the work in South American countries. Giant helicopters have revolutionized the freight by air movement and improved living conditions in the North.

The speaker recalled that half of all the R. A. F. men in the war were Canadian and that more than one thousand Islanders were in the R.C.A.F. in addition to those who may have been in the R.A.F.

Stressing the pioneering position of this Province in aviation Mr. Fisher paid tribute to the good work accomplished by the Maritime Central Airways. He also referred to The Guardian's air-mail service to its subscribers in the western part of the Province prior to the introduction of fast truck service.

Of the 41,000 R.C.A.F. in Canada, 85 per cent received their training as youngsters, who hung around flying clubs, watching men at work and absorbing all into the blood. "The kids of today take to aviation as readily as older people took to the horse and buggy. The thrill of hurling yourself through space with hand at the throttle, the knowledge of and control over intricate machinery, thrills the young lad of today as nothing else does."

Suggests Air Cadet Club

In conclusion Mr. Fisher suggested that citizens take advantage of the situation here and in Summerside to organize an Air Cadet Club where the traditional spirit of pioneering, peculiar to our people, could be fostered and encouraged in this most modern field of endeavour.

Mr. Fisher, who was introduced by his brother, Rotarian Dr. Fisher, was thanked by Rotarian O. R. Simons for his thought provoking address. Rotarian G. G. Hughes occupied the chair.

Guests present included Messrs. Walter Fowler, executive assistant, T.C.A., Moncton, Kelly Eastern Region, Moncton, Ernest R.
