Local and Other Items.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A man named Michael Callaghan was found on the railway track at Campbellton, N. B., on Saturday night, badly bruised and cut. He was taken to the hospital, where he died in a short time. It is not known what train struck him.

GOOD WORK IN FREDERICTON.—As a result of Evangelist Whittier's services in the Baptist Church in Fredericton, about sixty persons were baptized in that church a week ago, and on Sabbath last twenty were baptized in the Free Baptist Church.

GONE TO PURGATORY. The Shelburne Budget says: Anthony D. Perry, Esq., from Purgatory, was in Shelburne on Monday, and favored our office with a friendly call. He was looking remarkably well—considering. He has returned to Purgatory.

THE DEADLY CIGARETTE.—Thos. Colt, a thirteen year old boy, was taken to the almshouse at New Haven, Conn., on the 9th, violently insane. His mental derangement was caused by cigarette smoking.
While raving he continually shouted for cigarettes.

LARGE UNDERSTANDING.—Mr. James H.
Hitz boot and shoemaker, of Kentville, N. S., has just completed the contract for making a pair of boots, the dimensions for which are as follows: size, No. 15; length of sole, inside, 13 1/2 inches, outside 14 1/2 inches. They are to be worn by Ebenezer Lindsay, Pine Woods.

MAY BE "JACK THE RIPPER."—According to a Dublin despatch the man Gaven, guilty of the murderous stabbing in a train at Castlereagh, has been decided to be sane.
He has been twice in prison for a stabbing people without apparent reason, and the police are impressed with his likeness to the description of "Jack the Ripper."

AID FROM THE QUEEN.—According to a late despatch the Queen has been much distressed over the great mining disaster at Springhill, N. S., and has through her secretary subscribed thirty pounds sterling to the fund being raised in London for the benefit of the widows and orphans. This fund now amounts to a considerable sum and subscriptions are coming in daily from all quarters.

DEATH IN THE COFFEE.—Near Mount Sterling, Ky., on Friday morning, William Ferguson, a respectable farmer, 78 years old, and his son in law, B. C. Watts, were found dead from poisoning. His granddaughter, Miss Grace Boyd, was also dying from the same cause. The poison was arsenic, and was put in the coffee made by Mrs. Ferguson, probably by some member of the family who slipped in from the outside.

EVADING THE LAW.—An Amherst paper says: A novel method of transporting liquor is now accorded to the ingenuity of certain parties. A few potatoes are placed in the bottom of a barrel, the liquor comes next, over which is another layer of potatoes; then the barrel is headed up and marked "potatoes." Most of these barrels have been built to Springfield.

JEALOUSY THE CAUSE.—At Batsville, Ind., on Sunday, John Dirschere, a well-known hotel keeper, while drunk and crazed with jealousy, shot his wife in the head, inflicting a serious wound; then shot his three year-old daughter through the heart; shot his cook, Mary Jones, in the back, inflicting a flesh wound, and then took his own life by cutting his throat with a case knife.

HONEYMOON IN A HOSPITAL.—Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Dulaney, living near Washington, D. C., were married on November 14 and started on their honeymoon. On the Pennsylvania road their train collided with another and they were both seriously injured, the husband in the back and the bride having both her ankles crushed.
They were taken to the West Pennsylvania hospital, Pittsburg, Pa., where, side by side, they have lain ever since, enjoying even in their suffering a pleasant honeymoon. They will return home next month.

THE ROY WAS TIRED.—A large new barn owned by Mr. Hugh Harris, of Middle Onio, Shelburne Co., N. S., was entirely destroyed by fire the other day. It contained five tons of hay and three barrels of flour and two barrels of meal, a wagon and harness and farming utensils, all of which were destroyed.
The barn was set on fire by a ten-year-old boy who was desirous to be relieved of the work of looking after the barn. He was a good deal too successful in his effort. A quantity of shingles, about ten thousand, piled near the barn, was also burned. No insurance Mr. Harris was away from home at the time.
The cattle were saved.

The work of taking a census of the British empire was begun on Thursday in India. It is expected to show 240,000,000 inhabitants in India, against 245,000,000 in 1881. The British Isles will be taken in a month hence, and it is estimated that the population will show an increase of 15 per cent.

Scientific Miscellany.

A RUSSIAN WORK.—One of the greatest and most commendable of modern engineering enterprises is being carried out by the government of Russia, which has had several thousand men employed since 1870 in the work of draining the Pinsk marshes.
This immense uninhabitable district is situated about midway between the Baltic Sea and the Black Sea, and covers an area equal to that of the State of Pennsylvania. The work performed includes the building of bridges and the digging of wells, in addition to the construction of canals, drains and embankments. The latest report states that no less than 185 square miles have been drained on the banks of the Prip-t, reclaiming more than 7,000,000 acres of meadow land. Great forests have been made accessible, and are beginning to be profitable.

A PRIMITIVE KRUPP.—Near Apt, in the French department of V. a luse, a retired inspector of forests has accidentally unearthed some ancient work of peculiar interest. The remains were found on a bed of pebbles eight feet below the surface, and seem to be those of a prehistoric workshop.
The flint implements were so sharp and well-preserved as to indicate that they had never been taken from the place where they were shaped, and two nuclei were discovered, upon which some students succeeded in replacing the pieces chipped off.
Here, then, is a factory of the stone age, with the materials in such position as to indicate exactly the procedure of the early workmen.

JUPITER'S ROTATION.—Among the analogies traced between the planet Jupiter and the sun is the rotation of the equator at a more rapid rate than the rest of the surface.
A Russian astronomer, Bielopolski, has lately combined the observations and drawings of many different observers, and has been able to determine more than a hundred angular velocities at various latitudes upon Jupiter. These indicate that a zone of 5° on either side of the equator rotates in 9h.
51m., the surface beyond 10° to north or south in 5° and 10° north or south in an intermediate period.

A NOTEWORTHY BOOK.—If Emerson's rule, "never read any book that is not a year old," were to be applied to scientific books our nineteenth century progress would scarcely be as rapid as it is. Among the few popular scientific works of 1890 that will not be antiquated at the end of a twelve-month is "Electricity in Daily Life," (Chas. Scribner's Sons, New York) which is so comprehensive in character that a large portion of it, at least, must long retain its value. An account of the applications of electricity to every day uses is given by ten different writers each a recognized authority in his special branch—and together these eminent specialists have produced a condensed yet surprisingly complete work for the perusal and reference of students and general readers. The matter has been printed in a series of attractive papers in Scribner's Magazine, and is here collected in a single handsome volume, which satisfactorily answers the questions that are constantly being asked concerning the principles and methods of producing and measuring electricity, the electric motor, the electric railway, electric lighting, telegraphy, submarine cables, electricity in naval and land warfare, electricity in the household, and the effects of electricity on the body.

A DEATH WARNING.—According to D.
Chiappini, an extraordinary opening of the eyelids which gives the appearance of protruding from their orbits, is sometimes seen in patients who apparently have not long to live, and this is an unfolding sign of death within 24 hours. In some cases only one eye is affected, but even then death is certain to take place within 72 hours. The affect is ascribed to a diseased state of the sympathetic nerve, but why it should always be a death symptom is not known.

The annual births per 1,000 inhabitants are given by Prof. Leon Le Fort as 42 in Hungary; 39 in Germany; 35 in England, and 25 in France. The number in France was 38.4 in 1878. The present rate of increase would double the population of Saxony in 45 years, of England in 52 years, of Prussia in 54 years, and of France in 198 years.

Out of 26,954 food samples recently analyzed in England and Wales, 3,096, or 11 1/2 per cent., were found to be adulterated.
Only one year, 1888, has shown a smaller percentage.

A PARISIAN CARRIAGE.—The problem of making a light steam carriage has been attacked in a promising way by M. Serpollet, the French engineer whose auto-thermic steam generator was brought to notice a year or two ago. This generator consists of a strong spiral tube from which a fine jet of water issues over a fire and instantly expands into steam, expansion being impossible, and steam being brought at once to full pressure.
Such a boiler is especially adapted for light vehicles. M. Serpollet has been experimenting with it on tricycles, and in his latest effort he employs it on a large phaeton capable of carrying six persons on its two seats, with a seventh passenger on a stool in front.
The carriage is elegant in appearance, and very comfortable. The boiler is under the rear seat, and the fire-box receives fuel automatically from chests on each side, while the water reservoir and the engine are placed under the front seat. The normal horse-power is 4, which may be instantaneously increased to 6.
A speed of 15 miles an hour is obtained, and grades of 1 in 12 are easily surmounted with a full load. Water may be carried for a trip of about 20 miles, and fuel for 35 miles, and with a full charge of fuel and water the total weight of the carriage is 2750 pounds. Coke, of which about 30 pounds is consumed per horse-power hour, is preferred for fuel on this account of its smokelessness.
This novel vehicle is readily guided through crowded thoroughfares, and is permitted on the streets of Paris with no restriction except that the speed shall not exceed 10 miles an hour.
