

ELLEN'S DIARY

Co-Eds Look Like Queens Dressed In Their Formals

"One... two... three" Peter the four-past-lad from the house across the lane, counted the tulips opening their flower-cups today. And hearing him, we fancied it was like numbering the stars that like so many blossoms prick out in the evening's blue: one, and then another, until so many appear that one may not keep up with the count. So before long the springtime flowerings will be so numerous they too will be quite beyond our reckoning... Down in the orchard, the dandelions will dot the green carpet with gold as we had pictured it when the white winds blew. And all in the June-time the lilacs' fragrance will complement the frogs' tunes.

"This is a bright day — we can say that for it" a caller of today offered obviously feeling the chill when she left the shelter of the car, "but it could be warmer, now couldn't it?"

"By the 24th, the Queen's birthday, the weather will warm" we said....

"Do you know what I think they look like?" Peter whispered last evening when more than one sweet graduate gowned in pretty "Formals" went out from this door to attend their College Prom. "They look like pictures of queens!"

"Yes" Alex agreed. "Like Queen Victoria when she first came to the throne. She was about their age then" he recalled. He much enjoys reading history: tales of queens and kings of the olden days, in their successions — and short or longer reigns.

Starry-eyed, those Co-eds were, pleased with the event ahead, happy also to have been successful in their "Finals". Those who would presently step over the threshold of the College they had known, as had the one girl of this farm, for four years, would be more or less sad to think that for her this period in her education, which had its heights and its depths, had now reached its close.

White suns of glad, mad, April, "October's wine to quaff, On crystal winter mornings, my hearthfire's crackling laugh. The quiet stars that march at night, so close above my head, The sound of raindrops on the roof when I am snug in bed. For joist and beam and shingles gay, I spent my savings small, But on the lovely things God gave me, He put no price at all." Until Tuesday — Diary — Good — night.....

Three Units Give Reports At CWL Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of St. Columba Catholic Women's League held in the Parish Hall recently was opened with prayer by the Reverend Director. Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Francis Rose, and the treasurer's report was submitted by Mrs. D. A. McEachern.

The reports of the three Units, Eastern Central and Western were read by their respective conveners, Mrs. Bernard Cheverie, Mrs. Francis Rose and Mrs. Bernard Ryan. Social action, Mrs. D. J. MacDonald, press and magazine, Mrs. Percy Murphy, and finance, Mrs. Joseph Jay. The spiritual convener, Mrs. James McDonald, reported the following: masses said for living and deceased members during the year, used magazines and stamps sent to Foreign Missions; Rosaries sent to Father Peigon; Spiritual quests sent to sick members; Institutions visited; monthly communion and observance of Perpetual Rosary on first Saturday for world peace. A mass was offered to be said for living and deceased members in conjunction with the Peace's Union of Our Lady of Good Counsel which had been organized previously in the Parish.

Correspondence was then read by the president, Mrs. Mary Ryan, and business arising was discussed.

The president thanked the members for their co-operation in the work of the League. Father MacDonald also expressed his appreciation of the activities undertaken by the members during the year, and asked for continued effort in the future.

The meeting closed with prayer and blessing by Father MacDonald.

Marriage Vows Pledged At Two Ring Ceremony

The wedding of Janet Elaine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ings, Cherry Valley, to Ellis Herbert MacPherson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson of Peter's Brook, took place recently in the Anglican Church, Charlottetown. Rev. A. E. Piercy performed the double ring ceremony.

Soloist, Reta Hayden, Cherry Valley, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied by Beverly Hayden.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long length gown of brocaded satin with scoop neckline and long lily point-sleeves with tiny buttons at wrist. Her headdress was a wedding ring circlet of matching material which held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a cascade bouquet of roses.

Sandra MacPherson, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Irene Ings, first cousin of the bride, was flower girl. They wore street length dresses of aqua green brocaded material and carried bouquets of matching material trimmed with nylon veiling.

Best man was Duwain Ings, Cherry Valley, brother of the bride. Roderick MacPherson, cousin of the bride from Oyster Bed Bridge, and Graham MacDonald, Peter's Road, ushered the guests to their seats.

A reception for immediate relatives of the bride and groom was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Sherrill Ings, sister of the bride and Edythe MacPherson, sister of the groom, circulated the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip through the Maritimes, the bride wore a cocoa brown, two piece dress of linen weave, with beige accessories and a white corsage.

The newlyweds reside at Peter's Road.

Out-of-town guests included grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ings, Cherry Valley and Mrs. Barbara MacPherson, Oyster Bed Bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Campbell, grandparents of the groom were also present.

The executive of the Provincial Chapter of the IODE met recently at the home of Mrs. William Brennan, North River Road. The meeting was chaired by the president, Wanda Wyatt, Summerside.

Mrs. A. W. Gaudet, education secretary, reported on the second War Memorial scholarship and told members that this year the scholarship had been won by Cyril Blythe, who was a student at Saint Dunstan's University. Mrs. Gaudet also discussed with the members the other educational funds and particularly the chapter's plans for the 1967 educational project, which will most likely be a study of a student wishing to continue his or her education in the field of art, drama or music.

Miss Wyatt told members that two members of the Junior Chapter "Anne of Green Gables" would be going to Hamilton, Ont. in July to participate in a junior chapter seminar with members of other junior chapters from across the country.

Members decided to hold an IODE church parade in September and the Royalty Chapter was appointed to look after plans for this.

The provincial standard bearer, Mrs. M. MacAleer, reported that she had made arrangements to have the provincial chapter's standard carried at the national annual meeting. Mrs. J. A. Bond, public relations secretary, said that the Lady's Slipper Chapter scrapbook, which had won a provincial competition, would be forwarded to the national meeting where it would go on display.

Reports were also heard from the "Echoes" secretary, Mrs. Stewart MacKay, and other committee conveners.

A committee was appointed to look further into the purchase of a painting to be donated by the provincial chapter to the Confederation Centre Art Gallery.

A motion was passed that Mrs. Arthur Proffitt and Mrs. Hillard Woodside be appointed to look after the replacement of two trees that failed to grow last year. Mrs. Reginald Dennis was appointed assistant treasurer for the summer months. The offering was received by Mrs. Arnel Whitehead and dedicated by all repeating the first verse of the hymn "All Things are True."

Mrs. Keith Warren will have charge of the study "God and His Purpose" for the June meeting. Text word will be "faith." Howard gave on "lotteries."

The president was presented with the gavel and the executive repeated the act of consecration to blessed Virgin Mary.

It was decided to have the annual cleaning of the church on May 24 with each section of parish to clean church afterwards, a month at a time for each section.

Father McKenna in his remarks thanked both executives, urging members not to be discouraged if it seemed that the same few were assuming the load of responsibility, that everyone should work together to the betterment of the parish.
