Victoria Exhibitors Make Fine Showing At Fair

AMHERST (Special)— One of the strongest Ayrshire shows in years, and possibly the strongest dairy show at the fair, was the comment of veteran Ayrshire fanciers who watched top flight cattle vie for supremacy in the Red and White ring at the Maritime Winter Fair Thursday.

Featuring former winners at the Royal, and cattle with some of the best blood of Scotland's herds, the Lindwood Farm herd owned by S.C. Oland of Bedford, N.S., was topping the winners with seven red ribbons, four seconds, and one or two other ribbons, after the first day of judging had been completed.

TOP P.E.I. LIST

Topping the list for Prince Edward Island and standing second to Oland was the herd of Keith Boswell and Son, Victoria. The Lealand Farm herd had four firsts, two seconds, a third, five fourths, five other ribbons and also held the reserve junior male championship.

They were the strongest winners in the young classes, particularly in the male classes. They won the junior get of sire class with get of Pineview Treasurer's Prince, a son of Auchenbrain Battlelame, a former winner at the Royal, which they herd several years ago. It was the blood of Treasurer that gave them nearly all their wins in the young classes here yesterday.

The herd of A. MacRae and Sons, Central Royalty was having heavy going and had to be content with only one red ribbon for the day's work. However they were very strong in the runner-up positions with six seconds, four thirds and a half dozen other ribbons.

The MacRae's had some strong individuals here but they ran up against even stronger opponents. In the senior bull class for example they showed against the winner at the Royal the past two years and had to take second place with their veteran show bull Fairvue Fashion Clansman.

The winner of the class and senior and grand champion was Glengarry Pansy's Burton, which the Oland's purchased for $3400 at the Royal.

The reserve senior champion here was the two-year-old winner, Woodland Dantys' Burton, a son of the two-time Royal champion. He was shown by Clarence H.-eris of Truro.

The junior champion male was Glengarry Laurier shown by Roger S. Bacon of Amherst. The reserve junior champion for Mr. Boswell was Cherry Bank Royal Anchor, a young bull that Boswell selected as a calf last winter in the MacArthur herd at Howick, Quebec.

The junior champion female was Lindwood Foremost Charm, shown by S.C. Oland, and the reserve champion was Stanley Hennigar's Point End Bonny, a paternal daughter of Glengarry Silver Burton, and a maternal granddaughter of Glen Campbell Adventure.

OUTSTANDING LINE

The Glengarry blood was showing up prominently and often in the Ayrshire show here. There is a lot of it in Prince Edward Island herds too, for that matter, and much of it traces its origin to Glengarry Bit O' Fashion, a bull brought to the province by H.W. Clay, senior livestock fieldman for the Department of Agriculture, when he had an Ayrshire herd of his own. This bull was later used for some years by Col. F. L. Andrew who won many grand championships with him.

Col. Andrew had one or two cattle at the show. So has Brent Stead of Souris. The Raedale herd from Union Road is also represented. All three were in the money on several occasions in the very heavy competition yesterday.

Judging in the cattle classes will be completed today and the fair winds up tomorrow night.

AID WITH POPPY CAMPAIGN

Little sister Cheryl Hughes wanted to help her older sister Glennys when the Poppy sale started in Charlottetown this year. Cheryl's enthusiastic look should attract many buyers of poppies on the street this week. Many school children offering their services in this campaign. The Canadian Legion appreciates the willing help that the school children give each year.

Yesterday Observed As P. E. I. Day At Amherst Winter Fair

AMHERST (Special)— Thursday was Prince Edward Island Day at the Maritime Winter Fair and it featured a snappy bit of entertainment by the four members of the talented "Burke Family", at the night show.

Pipe Major Wilfred Burke, his two daughters, Shirley and Heather and his young son, Tommy, were first heard in a medley of Scottish Airs on the bagpipes. This was followed by a group of Scottish dance numbers by the children with their father accompanying them. The numbers included, The Sword Dance, Highland Fling, and Seann Truibhas.

There was change of tempo and a partial change of costume and the talented young dancers were seen in an Irish Jig and an Irish Double.

The numbers were particularly well received by the large crowd in the Bailey Arena. The applause was the most generous heard for any entertainment during the week.

AMONG THE FARMERS

POTATO PLEBISCITE

To different people the unofficial results of the October 30th plebiscite will mean different things. The comparatively small vote indicates among other things a lack of interest in the Board's work also lack of an effective campaign to publicize either the good or bad points of the Board's program. The plebiscite further indicates the tendency of Island potato growers to divide quite evenly in their view on potato organization and potato policy. Generally there will be agreement on the part of all that the Industry needs an effective organization but the disagreement arises from the question "what kind?" To use a hackneyed phrase "it would appear" that a considerable degree of compromise is required before the different elements get together to do effective work in setting up a strong and active potato organization.

Certainly the industry is far too important to leave in a state of chaos and it is far too dangerous to continue a situation where any very small minority may be in a position to carry out practices which spell danger to the general welfare. The solution to the whole problem should be based on a considerable amount of study and thinking by all individual farmers with the translation of this study into effective action.

FARM CREDIT

Farm Credit was mentioned as the most important need in agriculture by 70 per cent of the farm forums reporting last winter during the National Farm Forum discussions on Parity income.

The story of Farm Credit and the changes in farm credit policies and needs will be discussed November 11th by thousands of farm forum members. Three well-known agricultural economists Dr. Wm. M. Drummond, formerly of Ontario Agricultural College; Dr. David MacFarlane, of MacDonald College, Quebec; and Dr. Sol Sinclair, of the University of Manitoba will examine closely the future credit needs and suggest changes, if necessary, in the present farm credit facilities.

Never ten thousand farm people will be meeting in neighbourhood discussion groups across Canada to discuss the problem and report their views on Farm Credit. Their finding will be presented to the Minister of Agriculture, Honourable D. Harkness for his comments over the national network on the November 25th farm Forum "Fourth Night" program.

FARM INCOME

A recent issue of the Financial Post in an article by Sol Sinclair, University of Manitoba. (Mr. Sinclair will be heard on Farm Forum next Monday evening) takes a close look at the position of farm income and suggests that the following things need to be done to improve it.
