THE OVERTHROW OF THE DERVISHES. The British Flag Hoisted Over Khartoum.

THE KHALIFA HAS RETREATED TO KORDOFAN.

Sir Herbert Kitchener will Try to Capture Him.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Sept 6.—The War Office has received the following despatch dated at Omdurman, yesterday, from General Sir Herbert Kitchener: This morning the British-Egyptian flags were hoisted with due ceremony upon the walls of the Palace in Khartoum.

All the British wounded have left for Abadia.

I saw them before leaving and they were all doing well and were comfortable.

CAIRO, Sept 5.—Advices from Omdurman says that the Anglo-Egyptian cavalry which went in pursuit of the Khalifa Abdullah after the fall of Omdurman abandoned the pursuit about 30 miles beyond the city. The horses were completely exhausted having been ridden 48 hours, during 15 of which they had been engaged in fighting. The Khalifa has gone to Kordofan to the south of Kordo west of Omdurman.

General Kitchener has organized an Arab camel squad to follow him.

KITCHENER'S VICTORY FALL OF THE KHALIFA

Story Of The Engagement.

POWER OF THE DERVISHES BROKEN

And the Khalifa a Fugitive.

LONDON, September 5.—The Daily Telegraph issues a special edition with the following details of the movements on Wednesday and Thursday, telegraphed from Nasri:

This (Wednesday) morning the Anglo-Egyptian troops began the advance in three brigades, side by side, with a front a mile wide, the army giving the impression of a square with faces each a mile long. Our cavalry occupied Jebel sheikh Pail, three miles ahead, at six o'clock and an hour later our infantry had gained the same point.

Here the force halted while the gunboats proceeded. The cavalry and camel corps trotted forward, but only a few scouts were seen, under the command of Abdul Baki, a dervish emir, who fell back rapidly without a contest.

In a village we passed a number of charred and mutilated bodies were found—bodies of natives suspected of spying and killed by the dervishes.

At 7 o'clock the Maxims fired a few rounds, scattering a body of dervishes in the bush.

Then there was a lull until noon, though the artillery and camel corps were some miles in advance and in the ear of the low hills around Kerret.

The gunboats, signalled that 500 dervish horsemen were moving upon the Egyptian right flank to intercept the enemy, the camel corps supporting. But the dervishes slipped back to their camp in the bush.

The lancers advanced through the hill passes and got within a mile of Kerrari. Then two officers went ahead and discovered that there were many dogs in the dervish camp. They were fired upon and eventually the entire mounted force returned to Sur-Urab, inside the Zareba.

During the afternoon the gunboats shelled the dervish camp for several hours, apparently doing much damage. A number of dervishes who had fled to the bush to escape the shells surrendered during the evening. Among the refugees were the sheik of Kerrari and a grandson of Kurushi Pasha. This (Thursday) morning, in spite of a fierce rainstorm, which continued all last night, the army advanced at 5 o'clock and found Kerrari deserted. The lancers on the left and the Egyptian cavalry and camel corps advanced 6 miles ahead of the infantry, which marched in a square. Brigadier-General Lytton's battalions leading.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—A despatch to the Observer dated Nasri, Nasri Island, Sept. 3, says:

"Omdurman has been occupied after a battle in which but slight resistance was offered by the dervishes. The Khalifa, who had re-entered the town, fled as the Anglo-Egyptians entered. One hundred and fifty prisoners were released.

"Our entire force is now encamped in the desert west of the town. The dervishes loss was heavy."

CAIRO, Sept. 4.—2 a. m.—The following despatch dated yesterday has just been received from Nasri:

"Early this morning the dervishes made a most determined attack on the Anglo-Egyptian force, but after an hour's hard fighting they were driven off."

"At 9.30, a. m., a general advance was ordered upon Omdurman and we were received with a determined attack on our right by the dervishes. They were repulsed with heavy loss.

"The army, under the personal command of the Khalifa, was totally dispersed by noon. At 2 o'clock this afternoon our forces advanced again and occupied Omdurman. The Khalifa fled during the afternoon and is now being closely pursued by our cavalry.

DETAILS OF THE ENGAGEMENT.

OMDURMAN, opposite Khartoum, on the Nile, Nubia, September 4, by camel post to Nasri.—The Sirdar, General Sir Herbert Kitchener, with Khalifa's black standard, captured during the battle, entered Omdurman, the capital of mahdism, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at the head of the Anglo-Egyptian column, after completely routing the dervishes and dealing a death blow to mahdism.

"Roughly, our losses were 100, while thousands of the dervishes were killed or wounded.

"Last night the Anglo-Egyptian army camped at Agaza, eight miles from Omdurman.

The dervishes were three miles distant at noon to-day our cavalry, patrolled toward Omdurman, discovered the enemy

UNPROMISING FOR RECIPROCITY.

Cabinet Ministers Summoned to Meet on Thursday.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—All the ministers are summoned to Ottawa for Thursday next, when the first of a series of important Cabinet meetings will be held and the Quebec situation discussed.

The outlook for securing a reciprocity treaty is regarded as most unpromising.

St. John Exhibition.

Exhibitors at the St. John exhibition should bear in mind that all industrial exhibits in the main building must be in place on Monday, 12th inst, in readiness for the opening on the 13. Live stock and farm produce will be received up to 9 a. m. on Wednesday the 14th, and goods arriving later except under unavoidable circumstances cannot be placed in competition.

The poultry at the St. John exhibition will have this year palatial quarters in the new building just finished. There will be accommodation for over 1,500 birds, in a two tier row. The building is well lighted, amply ventilated, free from draughts and under the charge of a careful and experienced superintendent.

Among the attractions in the machinery hall at the St. John Exhibition will be an augur boring square holes. This wonderful tool is a thoroughly practical instrument and designed to save a great deal of labor among carpenters and builders and it never fails to excite much interest. Several sizes of this augur will be constantly in operation in machinery hall.
