Home Building Boost Seen From Permits

OTTAWA (CP) — An increase in house - building activity this winter is indicated in a report showing a sharp jump during October in the number of approved new National Housing Act mortgages.

The report by the government housing agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said the number of NHA loan approvals rose to 8,031 in October, more than double the year-earlier level of 3,784.

The number of applications for NHA loans more than tripled to 11,000 in the month from 3,619 a year earlier.

The sharp rise in NHA lending was not immediately reflected in building activity. The number of new housing units started in urban centres of over 5,000 population rose to 11,099 in October, up only 2.1 per cent from a year earlier. Housing starts during the January - October period were up 7.1 per cent to 92,760 from 86,613 in the corresponding 1962 period.
