Business Women To Hold Prov. Conference Sept. 25

Plans for the provincial conference of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, will be visiting Summerside on Tuesday, 21 September 1965, and will be addressing a meeting at the civic auditorium at 11:30 a.m. when the public is invited to attend.

The theme for business women's week is "Developing Our Potentials" and the committee in charge plans to look into the possibility of sponsoring handicraft courses.

The lobster carnival information booth report was given and appreciation expressed for the support received from the fortune teller, "Madame Florenza" and the members who assisted in the operation of the booth.

It was decided to order a set of slides, entitled "Focus on Ramallah" to be shown at the October meeting, when the members would have an opportunity of seeing how our club's contribution to the scholarship fund is used in supporting the girls of Ramallah.

Many Girl Guides Choose Service Work As Vocation

VANCOUVER—CP—The Girl Guide movement in British Columbia gets a new look and a new leader this month.

Supervising the introduction of revised age classifications, plus professionally written handbooks for both guides and leaders is Mrs. J. S. Kendrick of Vancouver.

Wife of an engineer who helped shape the massive Kitimat project in northern B.C., Mrs. Kendrick is provincial commissioner for 30,000 guides.

"It's a wonderful year to begin as provincial commissioner," she says, "and I'm awfully excited."

The new age system means that girls can become brownies at seven instead of eight, guides at 10 and rangers at 15. But the end of guiding now comes at 18 instead of 21.

Mrs. Kendrick has been active in guiding since her daughter, now 18, wanted to join the brownies and there was a shortage of leaders.

She started as a brown owl, became a division chairman, moved to the provincial executive in 1960 and has been deputy provincial commissioner for four years.

LEARN TO SERVE

The Kendricks' daughter Christine has enrolled at the University of Victoria to study nursing and her mother feels this is typical of former guides. "Guides tend to go into service work," she says. "It's the stress we put on them to learn to be of service to others."

"Many nurses and social workers were guides and I'd say 80 per cent of physiotherapists are former Girl Guides."

Looking forward to the movement's international meeting in Japan next year, Mrs. Kendrick says the emerging nations of the West Indies, Asia and Af-
