THE KING'S COUNTY ELECTION CASE
THE EVIDENCE.

THE "BLACK DUCKS" "WHAT IN STARS BROUGHT THEM THERE." ANDREW WHELAN, called on behalf of the respondent, sworn and examined by Mr.
Davies—I live in Souris, Lot 45. I have not taken much part in politics. Most of my time I followed the sea, but now I am become a farmer. I live about three-quarters of a mile from Souris. I always followed the party of Mr. McIntyre, and I am prepared to stick to it. Dr. McIntyre never asked me to canvass for him or to act for him in any way whatsoever. I did not act in any way for him I remember taking a drive with Mr. McLean, it was on the 19th of June, the day before the election. I came to go with him because my son Dan was going to drive George B. Mc-Eachern and he would not go, and he asked me if I would go with George B. McEachern. He said to go with I said I would not, but I would go with him myself, so the next morning I went to Souris with my horse and wagon, my son had been there the evening before and made the arrangements, but I did not know what they were. My son had not the wagon with him the evening before. Mr.
McLean met me and asked me if I was bound east. I said I was, and he asked me to give him a lift. When he got in the wagon he said he was going instead of George B.
McEachern. I went to open the wagon to put the halter in. I found there was a pair of black ducks there, so I put the halter in. I don't know who put them there. I just left them there. I did not put them there, nor had I anything to do with them. I called on several friends as we went along. I took no part in the canvass. I did not canvass at all.
I heard talking about the National Policy. I am not acquainted with Daniel McEachern I know Mr. Holland well, he was working for me about fifteen years ago. He built my dwelling about forty years ago. I have been friends with him ever since. He worked for me again about ten years. I did not go there with the intention of bribing or buying him myself but got dinner there. I took the bottle in. McLean had nothing to do with it. I put it on the table and treated Holland and another man and his daughter. They did not charge us for the dinner, nor did I charge for the drink. I took the bottle in and said, here's a drop I got for my friend Mr. Holland. I did not ask Mr. Holland for his vote nor McEachern either. I heard McLean and Holland talking about the National Policy. We were all of an evening there. I am not very well acquainted with Joseph Ross, but I have seen the man.
I do not remember meeting him on the road.
It is not correct that I talked to him about the advantages of supporting Robertson and McIntyre. I am sixty-three years of age. I know Mr. McEachern. I remember talking to him that day. Mr. McLean and another man, Mr. McEachern (Hugh) was present also.
There were four of us. The black duck came out. Mr. McLean did not offer them anything to drink. I did. I heard nothing about a promise being made to him by Mr. McLean (made to Stephen McEachern). I did not bribe my head what was said. I heard them talking. I had no idea in the least of bringing the man when I offered them the drink. I don't know what they looked upon it as a bribe. I don't think they looked upon it as a bribe. I misunderstood when I said I don't know. I know a man named Garret. I went to his house that day with McLean.
When we went up to his house he was not at home. He resides at Fairfield. We were there some thirty minutes before he came.
He was in the field when we first came. He and McLean were talking. McLean went away. I can't say where, before Garret came at all. When McLean returned Garret was there and a man named Angus Campbell. I didn't hear the conversation between McLean and Garret. They were standing near the fence. I do not recollect hearing the conversation before we went in the house. I heard them talking. I did not know what it was about. Garret asked us to go in the house and we found the missus preparing tea. I looked after the horse myself. Mr. Garret came with me. I left Mr. McLean in the house.
We were gone two or three minutes. We were not putting the horse away. The horse was in the harness. We were getting some hay. When we went back I took the bottle with me. Garret came out with me at any rate and came back with me when I took in the bottle. When Garret and I went in Mr.
McLean was sitting down. I didn't take any particular notice. I saw him going into the bedroom that Garret spoke of. They were in there twenty or thirty minutes. Maybe he might be five minutes in the room. The door was open. Garret went in. He was there a minute. I didn't see him. Garret got a drink. I didn't see it on the table, and he helped himself. I don't mind if Mrs. Garret took any. I did not hear the conversation between McLean and Garret in the bedroom.
I didn't take any part in the election talk myself. McLean didn't ask if I had a little of something in the wagon. I took it in myself. I don't remember McLean saying anything to Garret when we were leaving. I did not hear him saying don't forget to vote. I remember being at McIntyre's forge.
When we went there McLean got out of the wagon and walked towards the forge. I got out also. I went towards the forge door and met James Kennedy, an old acquaintance. I can't say what became of Mr. McLean, he was walking round. I went in the forge. The black duck was in the forge. I took it in.
Mr. McLean was not there when I brought it in. I can't say where he was. McLean was not there in the forge when we were using the liquor. After I gave them a treat, I put the bottle back in the wagon. McLean did not see me doing any of this. I did not canvass or talk politics at all at the forge.
Cross-examined by Mr. Hodgson—I was to drive George McEachern. I live three-quarters of a mile from Souris. I didn't lay out to drive him for the day as I didn't know how far he was going. When I got there I didn't find McEachern, and James R. McLean was walking round. I went in the eastward.
I asked me to drive him to the eastward. It might be about nine o'clock, we came back about four o'clock in the evening. He just merely asked me if I was going to the eastward and would give him a lift. I did not know if George McEachern was going. I cannot say who told me that George McEachern was not going. George McEachern was in Mr. McLean's office. McLean told me that George McEachern was going. It was after he got into the wagon he told me. I don't know who put the two black ducks in the wagon. I never knew such a thing turning up before. I just looked at them and I wondered what in stars brought them there.
I didn't see them there. I didn't see them cold tea that was in them. The first time I discovered what was in them was when I got to Holland's. I supposed that my son was going on this drive and he might have put them in the wagon. I think McLean saw the black ducks. I won't say he McLean saw them with me. He might have seen it when I took it into Mr. Holland's.

He saw it on the table. That is the first he knew of it. I am prepared to say there was but the two. There was whiskey in one and rum in the other. There was three and a half pints in each. They were not labelled. My son lived with me at that time.
He was not in the habit of keeping much liquor about the house, nor was I. My son had no house of his own nor has yet. Never asked him if he put it there. I don't know to this day if he put them there. I don't know who put them there. It was not until I got to Souris that I discovered them. I was putting the halter in to the wagon and I saw the two bottles and I said to myself here's a swine for the day. When I went to Souris I put up my horse. I went up to Chiverie's forge to get two shoes put on the mare. I took the halter with me in the box underneath the seat when I drove down to Souris. I suppose my son put it there when he harnessed up. I did not see the black ducks. I did not see the black ducks when I took the halter out to tie up the horse. The first place we called at was I think Mr. Ross. I did not ask Ross to take a drink nor did anybody. I met him outside and bid him the time of day. Mr. McLean spoke to him. He was out of the wagon. I did not offer Ross liquor when he did. I saw Pat Whelan that day. I saw him outside. I gave him a drink. We were upon the road. I merely stepped a little to one side and handed him the bottle. It was near his own place. I was not in the wagon. McLean was ten or fifteen yards from the wagon. I took the bottle out of my pocket. Everyone I met had not a swig only those I was acquainted with. I had it in my inside pocket. I was driving the horse. I just came out to speak to my friend Patrick Whelan. I bid him the time of day and handed him the bottle. I am not aware if I asked McLean to hold the reins. I just stopped the horse and I got out to speak to my friend. The wagon and best of peddled there and McLean with them. I did not tell Mc-Lean what I was getting out for. I can't say if he took the reins. He was ahead of us ten or twelve yards, maybe not. He had no idea I was going to give a drop out of the bottle.
McLean did not know what I was going to do when I got out.

A Jewish temple, called Gates of Hope, in Eighty-sixth street, New York, was dedicated on the 28th January. The building was built by Methodists and used by them for several years. It became too small for them, and was sold to the Jewish congregation, who remodeled it. When the ceremonies were begun the lights were turned down and the shutters closed. The rabbi, the Rev. Dr. Brown, preached the dedication sermon, one of the most remarkable in the history of the pulpit. He said that he would address his hearers as business men. "The congregation," he said, "has taken a house that has been used by the Methodist Episcopal worshippers.
Therefore, in business parlance, this is simply re-opening. The old firm consisted of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Now the partnership is dissolved. The Son and Holy Ghost have stepped down and out; but the business still will be continued by the Father, the old head of the firm, the one you always have trusted. The same goods will be offered for sale. We shall continue to deal in charity, brotherly love, and all the virtues, and we appeal to all the customers to continue their trade."

An extraordinary attempt has (the St.
Petersburg correspondent of the London Chronicle says) been made to procure copies of the secret maps and plans kept at the office of the Etat Major at St. Petersburg.
The person who made the attempt is a young man about twenty-six years old. He obtained admittance to the office by disguising himself in the uniform worn by the clerks, and having thus penetrated to the room where the maps and plans were kept, he boldly made copies of them. At first he was not interfered with, but after a time suspicions were entertained and he was questioned. His replies being unsatisfactory, he was arrested, and a strict inquiry is being made into the matter. It is supposed that he is connected with the nihilists, but few particulars are obtainable.

London Truth says the present Lord Stanford has resided for some years in Africa. While in England he was twice married, but there was no issue by either marriage. Considerable apprehension is felt lest he should have married some dusky lady during his residence on the dark continent and reappear with a wife and half a dozen children. I trust that he has.

The Great French Remedy, Dr.
LeDuc's Periodical Pills.
For the cure of Leucorrhoea or White's Excessive or painful Menstruation, Green Sickness, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagina, Hysteria, Pain in the Back, or Piles, or for the purpose of increasing and giving tone to the Generative Organs, two Pills should be taken twice daily, or in very enfeebled conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cure in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected.
