FLYING Officer W.G. RCAF Will Conduct Model Aircraft Building Contest

OTTAWA — The RCAF today announced that commencing Dec. 1958, and continuing for the next six months it will conduct the biggest model aircraft building contest ever staged in Canada. Open to all teenage boys in Canada it offers flights in RCAF aircraft to Europe as well as domestic flights across Canada to 42 major award winners. Fourteen first prize winners will be flown to London England then on to visit the RCAF's squadrons in France and Germany; winners of second and third prizes will be given the chance to visit either the Calgary Stempede or the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto during 1959.

Although the contest marks the RCAF's observance of its 35th Anniversary and 50-years of powered flight in Canada—both events being celebrated during 1959, it has been scheduled to commence this year in order to give contestants time to build their models during the winter months. Judging of the winning models will be carried out by local committees of the Golden Jubilee of Flight in Canada est-

Text Of Gov't Statement On Freight Rates Hike

OTTAWA (CP)—Following is the text of acting prime minister Green's statement on a new freight rate increase allowed the railways:

On the hearing of the appeal from the decision of the board of transport commissioners awarding the railways a 10 per cent increase in freight rates in order to meet a proposed increase in wages, it was agreed by the eight provinces and the railways:

- (1) That the wage increases are reasonable;
- (2) That a railway strike would be a national disaster and must be avoided.

They disagreed on the propriety of the action of the board of transport commissioners in basing an increase in freight rates on an anticipated wage increase which had not been unconditionally agreed upon by the railways and their employees; the provinces asked that the order made by the board be disallowed on this ground.

We consider that, in future, the railways and their employees must come to a definite agreement before a wage increase should be accepted by the board of transport commissioners as the basis for an increase in freight rates; otherwise the board, as it foresaw itself, is apt to be forced into making judgments about wage settlements which are not its proper responsibility. In the present case we are not allowing the appeal on this ground because to do so at this stage would precipitate a nation-wide strike over an increase in wages as recommended by a conciliation board which increase neither the railways nor the provinces have resisted or will resist.

The suggestion was made that these wage increases should be paid from the federal treasury. We do not intend to embark upon a policy of subsidizing wage increases; there would be no end to demands on all governments if such a policy were adopted.

It is however recognized by the government that there are serious inequities in the present freight rate structure which have both contributed to, and been aggravated by, the system of horizontal rate increases. The government has already indicated its intention to move towards a solution of these problems.

Representatives of the provinces made it clear during the current hearings that their chief request is for a complete revision of the freight rate structure. Obviously this could not be undertaken in the circumstances of the present appeal and in view of the certainty of a nation-wide railway strike next Monday if immediate action were not forthcoming. The interim increases have accordingly been allowed, although this type of freight rate increase is not in accord with the government's long range plans.

A study is being undertaken at once to work out measures to relieve against inequities in the freight rate structure, including any that may be aggravated by the present increases.

Steps are also being taken to set up a suitable body to review the general field of railway problems and policy. This study will include not only a comprehensive consideration of the railway freight rate problem—including the situation of the long haul provinces in the West and in the Atlantic region—but also other specific problems which require solution if Can-
