The Colonies and India, in writing of the Paris Exhibition, after congratulating the Empire and the colonies generally on the share taken by them in the recent exhibitions, thus refers to the Canada exhibit: A lofty wooden structure of good design, erected for the Canadian Commission, and of representative obelisks and characteristic illustrations of the rich mineral and animal wealth of our splendid possessions abroad, set off by stuffed animals and birds, and other beautiful objects. Amongst the most remarkable items are, of course, gold and copper, wood and wool. The two former are shown in ingots and representative solids, as they have been at other expibitions, but in varied forms. The timber of Canada is admirably shown in the structure of the throphy itself, which will be more than sixty feet high, and built in several stages, with an internal staircase, a balcony, and minature towers at the four corners, as in the admirable set of show cases, to which I have before referred, in the body of the Industrial Court; but a number of beautiful specimens of good useful size, several feet in length, have been planed, scraped, and varnished, and tell most effectively. The French furniture manufacturers, who have a remarkable cute eye for ornamental wood, are much attracted by the numerous specimens to be seen here.

People who lead a secluded life are apt to grow narrow-minded and limited in their ideas. Always to see the same people, do the same things, feel the same way, produces a stagnant condition of the mind and heart that is distressing to behold. There are thousands of invalids who might be greatly benefited by getting away from home, if only for a short time, to mix with strangers, and to be touched with the magnetism of the great world as it courses in its accustomed rounds. And there are mental and moral invalids who need the same change to get their mind and heart enlarged, and let in a little more of the great light of life. Outside influences are very valuable to those who at home have been well trained by healthful influences in early youth, so that they can avoid the snares and pitfalls into which those who go blind often fall. The most brilliant people—deep thinkers and good talkers—are those who mix much with society.

Some curious pictoral effects are occasionally exhibited in the shop windows. There was on view a few days ago a picture of a water fall, not the work of an Academican. "What's that, hinney?" asked an elderly lady, whose sight was somewhat defective. "It's a guse hingin' up?" she inquired, as she saw the mass of very white paper. Now a picture which can serve the two-fold purpose of representing a water-fall and a "guse hingin' up" must be a work of art.

The Canada Lancet gives place to the following item, which if conveying correct information, will be a source of intense satisfaction to a great many people:—"A new remedy is said to be discovered for sea-sickness, viz., apomorphia, a very small dose of which taken once an hour in water will remove the qualms. It is also said to be useful for beasts, the sufferings of which are often extreme."

Are the minutes relating to an affair of honor always drawn up by the reconds?

Error loves to walk arm and arm with truth, to make itself thought respectable.

An exchange says that many a plant is ruined by too much smoking. So is many a man.

Why is a ship the politest thing in the world?—Because she always advances with a bow.

Why are balloons in the air like vagabonds? Because they have no visible means of support.

Epitaph.—"What I spent, I had—what I saved, I left behind—what I gave away, I took with me."

Men should not think too much of themselves, and yet a man should be careful not to forget himself.

An elderly individual to whom years have taught no caution may very justly be said to enjoy a green old age.

It is as disagreeable to a prodigal to keep an account of his expenses as it is to a sinner to examine his conscience.

There exists among women a secret tie, like that among ministers of the same faith. They hate each other, yet they protect each other's interests.

Voltaire's saying in answer to a stranger who was observing how tall his trees grew, "that they had nothing else to do," was a quaint mixture of wit and humor.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canadas.
