CONTEMPT CHARGE — In Summerside police court yesterday morning, presided over by Magistrate E. H. Strong, K.C., it was agreed that a charge of contempt against Mr. Elmer Murphy, editor of the Summerside Journal and Pioneer, would be withdrawn when, at the request of the court, Mr. Murphy undertook to say, editorially, that his remarks in a previous editorial were not meant to be derogatory to the court. The Magistrate stated that he felt that through the editorial an attempt had been made to draw the court into civic politics, and that it was his opinion a statement had been made that reflected on the court's integrity. Mr. D. O. Stewart, counsel for Mr. Murphy, challenged the jurisdiction of Magistrate Strong to hear the case, but suggested it was not necessary to go into this matter at the time.

S'side Board Of Trade Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade held last night in the Summerside Town Hall, it was on motion decided to hold the annual banquet meeting of the Board on Tuesday, January 22nd. In the absence of the president, Mr. Fred Bell, the vice-president, Mr. A. S. Hopkins presided.
A nominating committee was appointed by the chair to bring in a slate of officers for the coming year. Mr. J. F. Arnett was appointed chairman and he is to be assisted by Mr. Donald Baker and Mr. Harold Rodd.
The secretary, Mr. Rodd, reported that a grant of $500.00 from the provincial government had been received for the Tourist Bureau and that this was an increase of $200.00 over the previous year.
Mr. Fred Bingham, reporting for the marine and fisheries committee, said that steel for the construction of the Marine Wharf was on order.
Various matters were discussed without any definite action being taken, such as the matter of warning signals at the railway crossings in Summerside, the matter of zoning the town for fire alarms by tolling the bell, the eventual disposition of the Summerside town clock, but due to the small attendance at the meeting matters of this nature were laid over until further meetings. —S.

S'side Y's Men's Meeting

Admission of Evidence
Mr. Campbell then maintained that if the charge were only manslaughter then the contention of Mr. McPhee regarding the admission of evidence of another case would be correct. But, he added, in murder you must intend to do what you do and referred to premeditation. In this case, he said, we have a murder where it must have been intended to kill Mrs. MacKinnon. Motive is the crime and he referred to threats of the accused which were put into testimony at a previous session of the hearing.
He then asked the witness if Mrs. MacKinnon was with her daughter at all times when witness saw them and if she were active in preparing the other charge.
Mr. McPhee again objected and stated that murder is a serious charge and nothing should be allowed in evidence regarding other charges. Magistrate MacDonald interjected a remark to the effect that motive was necessary in a murder charge. Mr. McPhee agreed but maintained the ruling governing could not be invoked for that—especially in a case of murder.
Mr. Campbell stated if there were no motive there was no murder, but Mr. McPhee felt that any reference to a previous charge might prejudice a fair trial. He insisted that evidence to establish motive cannot be introduced if it might abrogate a rule established for the protection of those accused.
After a brief recess Magistrate MacDonald allowed the evidence. Cpl. Strong then resumed the witness stand and said that a day or two after MacDonald had been warned Mrs. MacKinnon and Mary Estelle had visited the R. C. M. P. barracks in Souris. He had held conversation with both of them and as a result a charge was laid against the accused. He had attended the trial hearings and on all occasions Mrs. MacKinnon was with her daughter.
Cross-Examination
Under cross-examination by Mr. McPhee he said he believed he had picked up the gun at the MacDonald home about 8 a.m. on November 10. He agreed with counsel that at all times Mr. Aeneas MacDonald, father of the accused, had been very cooperative. He had held a warrant to search for the rifle on November 10, another on November 16 for a pair of wire cutters, and a third on December 5 to get samples of horsehair. He had also obtained a warrant to search another nearby farm for a rifle.
He identified the rifle which had been turned into the barracks as a result of the second warrant as an Eatonia single shot .22 calibre. They were sold under that name by a national business firm but he did not think they had their own factory for making them.
In his earlier testimony Cpl. Strong said he had been in charge of the investigation from the beginning of the case. He had obtained the boots of the prisoner that same night and the tops were noticeably wet. There was some material stuck to the upper part of the boots and when he dried out it appeared to be some kind of seed. When he went to the MacDonald home he found the prisoner in bed with his clothes beside him.
The clothes introduced in evidence consisted of a jacket obtained from the outside porch. It was wet and had been handed to him by the prisoner's father. Beside the bed were big-overshoes which were damp excepting for part of the legs below the knees. Also shown were an inside pair of pants, two pairs of socks, a light shirt and a heavy shirt and a belt with the initial "J" on the buckle. The prisoner had dressed in his good clothes before being taken to the barracks.
Cpl. Strong said he was familiar with the MacDonald place. Generally the car was in an area between the back door and the garage. It was at this point counsel engaged in argument over the evidence to come.
Saw Footprints
In reply to a cross-examination question by Mr. McPhee the witness said he saw footprints on the morning of the 8th. It was after midnight of the 8th when he saw noon by an exchange between counsel on the admissibility of certain evidence which it was sought to introduce.

Cpl. Strong, of the R.C.M.P. Souris detachment, was on the stand under direct examination and in reply to a question by Mr. Campbell said it was not the first time he had dealings with the accused. Mr. Campbell objected to the statement and Mr. Campbell said he was prepared to argue the objection as he maintained that it was necessary to show that motive existed.
Mr. McPhee said he assumed that reference would be made to a former charge against the accused, but that this was another case dealing with a different person. He maintained there must be a ruling by the magistrate as to whether a person is on a murder charge questions can be asked about another case.
The Deputy Attorney General said this was another matter than that expected by Mr. McPhee and asked the witness if he had gone to the MacKinnon home prior to his visit on the charge referred to by Mr. McPhee. Cpl. Strong said he had and on arrival saw accused sitting in his father's car in the yard. As a result of a conversation with Mrs. MacKinnon and her daughter Mary Estelle and as a result of the talk he had told accused to go away. MacDonald immediately left.
A day later he had again seen MacDonald at the Souris regatta and ate dinner at the same table with him. He told him he hoped things would quiet down and he would stay away from the MacKinnon property.

Inquest Opens Into Death Of No. Tryon Man

An inquest to determine the cause of death of Ora Samuels of North Tryon whose death occurred in the Prince County Hospital on December 23rd was adjourned last evening for two weeks pending laboratory tests being made.
Coroner Dr. Austin Delaney last night took the evidence of five witnesses.
Mrs. Jean Samuels, widow of the deceased, told of her husband's return from a visit to a neighbor and how she suspected that he had been drinking. She stated that he had added Prestone to the car in the afternoon and had said that if he could not get the car started to go for more liquor he would drink Prestone. She said that he had been around the house and garage during the afternoon and had fallen asleep in the house about 4:30. She had not awakened him during the evening for fear he would go somewhere for more liquor. He was still asleep when she retired about 11:00 P.M.
Next morning she found him in the same room where he had apparently remained all night. He was unable to speak and from the appearance of his eyes she thought he had gone blind. Medical attention was summoned when his condition did not improve. He was taken by ambulance to the Prince County Hospital.
She said that while he would take a drink of liquor he was never an habitual or excessive drinker.
Frank Dawson, North Tryon, the second witness, said that he and the deceased had two small drinks of "moonshine" at witness' home on Saturday afternoon. He and the deceased had left the house together when witness had to leave for Summerside. He had not seen the deceased again until after the visit of the first doctor that was summoned. He had then gone to the house and seeing condition of deceased had summoned relatives of Mrs. Samuels.
Dr. Howatt, Bedouque, told of being called to North Tryon where he found Mr. Samuels in an unconscious condition. He described his diagnosis of the patient and told of having him taken by ambulance to the Prince County Hospital. He also told of treatment administered to save the patient's life.
William Pooley, North Tryon service station operator, told of testing the strength of anti-freeze brought to him for that purpose

Short Subjects

At the beginning of yesterday's session Cpl. Allan Johnson, R. C. M. P., who had been on the stand when the hearing of November 14 was adjourned, returned for further cross-examination. He had taken the photos previously introduced in evidence using a flashgun with his camera. He related the position in the house he occupied for each of the photos and said when he first went into the house there had been two lamps on the kitchen table but one had been picked up and carried around to provide light for the investigators.
He described the layout of the kitchen and gave several measurements showing the relation of pieces of furniture to each of the walls. The hole in the window pane was not perfectly round. From top to bottom it was three-quarters of an inch while across it was one-half inch. He did not measure the perimeter.
He described the camera used in the pictures as an Agfa with a Kodak compur shutter and he described for the court how it operated. He had used a tripod for the pictures taken in the house but outside had used it only when photographing the footprints. He later made casts of the footprints.
Cpl. Johnson said he had removed nothing from the prints prior to the pictures but had taken a few blades of grass and some twigs which were lying across the top before he made the casts. He described the method employed in making the casts of plaster of paris.
He said there were certain scars on the casts which were not on the boot in evidence but there were others he believed were on the foot. In particular there was one on the heel.
