30-Year Term Given Canadian By Cubans

By JACK BEST
HAVANA (CP)—One of two Canadians charged with conspiracy against the stability of Cuba and possession of explosives was found guilty here Saturday and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The other was acquitted.
 Ronald Lippert, 31, of Kitchener, Ont., was convicted after a day-long trial before five military judges in Havana. Lippert was found guilty here Saturday of conspiring with a Cuban, who told the court that Lippert did not know the cases they had transported. Havana court officials said Lippert accepted his evidence on her behalf.
 Lippert said Milne believed the contents of other tin cans in the same cargo.
 Lippert also said in evidence that Mrs. Torta Bravo also was not involved in the smuggling episode, but the court would not accept his evidence on her behalf.
 The woman's job, according to the evidence, was to keep the explosives in her house until they were picked up by another CIA agent for sabotage in Cuba. The Canadian embassy here was to appeal Lippert's sentence and it was to be heard within a few days.
 The trial was covered by 10 news correspondents from Canada as well as other foreign correspondents based in the Cuban capital.

Colored Leaders See Racial Issue As Factor

From New Delhi to Accra, leaders of the new states in Africa have viewed President Kennedy's assassination in the context of the civil rights struggle.
 Some, particularly President Nnamdi Azikiwe of Nigeria, reflected bitterness. In a message to President Johnson, he said: "Whether the headquarters of the United Nations should remain in the United States should be of greater concern to African states because slaughter of this type American Negro is a deep-seated hatred of the black man as a human being."
 "As one who was educated in American universities I am disappointed that for over a quarter of a century I had preached to the people to regard the United States of America as God's country and I pray that all who believed me will forgive me for being such a simpleton."
CHAMPION OF FREEDOM
 In Kenya, Constitutional Affairs Minister Tom Mboya said Kennedy was a champion of freedom for the black man and the whole world will be asking why they shot him.
 He added: "Kennedy has been killed in the struggle for the freedom of the black man and for human rights at a time when he and (Premier) Khrushchev were almost together in the cause of world peace."
 In New Delhi, India's Prime Minister Nehru said: "In his own country he stood for civil liberty, more especially in regard to Negroes."

BEATEN TO DEATH

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Police said that Marie Bembeck, 40-year-old mother of three, was beaten to death with a hammer in her home early Thursday night. Her husband, Evaristo, 41, has been charged with capital murder.

4-WHEEL DRIVE SCOUT!

There's almost no limit to where the Scout can go—or the variety of jobs it will do. Contractors or farmers, sportsmen or Arctic missionaries, Scout owners are going places they could never drive before. Scout 4-wheel drive takes you through deep mud and snow that would stop an ordinary car or truck in its tracks. The Scout makes short work of snowplowing too. Extra power, clearance and load space are more good reasons why it's already sales leader in 4-wheel drive. So see and drive it soon—at one of the more than 700 International Dealers across Canada.

Physical Education, Remedial Reading Displayed At Tignish

TIGNISH — The November meeting of the Tignish Home and School Association was held in the regional high school auditorium, Thursday evening with the president, Russell J. Perry welcoming nearly 100 parents, teachers, and guests to the meeting.
 Prior to the business part of the meeting David Harper, physical education teacher had a number of boys and girls give a fine demonstration in calisthenics and gymnastics and carried on daily in the high school and invited guests to visit the equipment room.
 A thank-you letter from the pupils of the elementary school for the Halloween party and a report from the Atlantic conference of home and school work. Miss Allison University in September was read by Sister S. Thomas along with the president's report on the principal's meeting held at the semi-annual meeting of the home and school at Kensington recently. Mrs. Joseph Dorsey reported on the community life committee. Mrs. Paul Kenny for family life. Mrs. Sherry in her report said she had 32 adult members. Rev. Floyd McLaughlin reported on the semi-annual meeting of the Home and School Association which was held in the regional high school auditorium, Thursday evening with the president, Russell J. Perry welcoming nearly 100 parents, teachers, and guests to the meeting.
 The president informed the meeting that the next meeting will be held in January, when a debate dealing with agriculture will be presented by the boys of the high school.
REMEDIAL READING
 Sister S. Miriam Frances, principal of the elementary school, introduced Miss Carrie Thompson of the department of mental health, who outlined the remedial reading program.
 She stated that the children reading at or below the grade level are not slow learners; they are of normal intelligence but have not received the correct instruction. The department of education deserves credit for making this remedial program possible.
 She complimented Miss Knox, the Tignish teacher in charge of this class, on the progress that has been made.
 Commenting on Miss Thompson's fine talk and extending a vote of thanks to her was Sister S. Ellen.
 Other speakers were: V. E. Rev. Mac.Donald.

by seven horses, will leave the Capitol for the journey back to the White House.

The muffled drums and military guard of honor that accompanied it there Sunday will escort it back to the mansion.

Salinger said the funeral march will go from the White House down Pennsylvania Avenue to 17th Street, up 17th to Connecticut and up Connecticut to Rhode Island Avenue, where the cathedral is located.

Salinger said the requiem mass probably will end about 1 p.m. He said it will take the procession between an hour and a quarter to make his way to Arlington for the President's burial.

KENNEDY'S

 The new president and other dignitaries of government were in the procession. And so, of course, were Mrs. Kennedy, her two young children and others of the Kennedy family.
 Mrs. Kennedy's Spartan bearing was striking when it came time to join the procession at the north portico of the White House. Her eyes were undimmed with grief and brimming with tears.

She was dressed completely in black with a black scarf on her dark hair. On either side her daughter Caroline, 6, and son, John Jr., 3, clung to a hand. Mrs. Kennedy had to tug at little John, who apparently was too young to know the significance of all the ceremony and sorrow but not to take an around him.
 A short time later, four miles away, patrolman Tippit was shot to death as he attempted to question a suspicious man. The shooting brought other police to the area and in a tearful movie theater they azeled Oswald.

Later, authorities claim they had found Oswald's prints on articles in the room where the sniper was shot. They also claimed to have linked the death gun to him, and to have uncovered other incriminating evidence against him.
 A native of New Orleans, Oswald was described as a misfit in his home town of New Orleans, La. 1959, after leaving the marine, he turned up in Moscow where he announced his intention of renouncing his American citizenship.

"I am a Marxist," he announced then.
 Later, however, he wrote pleading letters to be allowed to return to the U.S. By that time he had married a petite, blonde Russian girl and she was about to bear their first child, a girl now 4.
 Because Russia never had actually granted Oswald citizenship, he was allowed to return with his wife in February, 1962.

And then he died, before the ordinary folk began filing past in twin lines on either side of the closed coffin, Mrs. Kennedy walked up to the flag-stained of honor marching troops and muffled drums moved at 100 paces a minute from the White House to the Capitol.

Men of all ages, uniformed in their respective services, took the body of the late president to the Capitol and broad front steps of the Capitol and into the rotunda. It was placed beneath the vast dome. There were eulogies for Kennedy in which the U.S. chief justice and the leaders of the Senate and House of Representatives urged Americans to emulate the spirit of the slain president in meeting the nation's problems.

MOURNING
 Monrovia, Liberia—The West African state which has close ties with the United States has 30 days' national mourning.
 Panama—The Panamanians and Frenchmen packed the American Cathedral here for a special service for Kennedy. The cathedral seats only 600 and hundreds stood in the aisles and on the roof.
 Lisbon, Portugal—Hundreds of Portuguese donned black ties and mourning bands. They finally became convinced of the news they refused to believe.

Salgo, South Viet Nam—Several thousand men when he was quoted from the Lord's Prayer "Thy words 'Deliver us from evil' " as he addressed 20,000 people gathered in St. Peter's Square.
