OBITUARY

Instituted by his family

PATRICK J. MCKINNON
The death occurred suddenly, as result of a heart attack at Cable Head East on February 22nd of Patrick J. McKinnon in his 47th year.

Familially known as Paddy, he possessed an outgoing and friendly nature, always ready to lend a helping hand where needed.

He served his country for four years during the last World War and saw service in several parts of Western Europe.

He is sadly missed by his many friends and neighbors and particularly by the members of his own family of which he was a dearly loved brother.

The funeral which was largely attended was held from St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church where the Requiem Mass was sung by his pastor, Reverend Bennett MacDonald, who also conducted service at the grave.

Members of the Canadian Legion attended and Legion Prayer was read by James MacDonald. The Last Post was sounded by bugler William Blanchard over the last resting place of their good comrade.

He leaves to mourn their loss three sisters and four brothers: Mrs. Vincent Tobin, Edna of Wollaston, Mass., U.S.A.; Sara of Wollaston, Mass., U.S.A.; Mrs. Claude McInnis (Celia) Cable Head East, D.F. of Wollaston, Mass., U.S.A.; Harold of Dorchester, Mass., U.S.A.; Joseph and Kenny and Victor at home.

The pallbearers were Reggie McKinnon, Claude MacInnis, Merlin McInnis, A.J. Larkin, Alfred Lewis, Bobby Lewis.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of the late Patrick J. McKinnon wish to express their sincere thanks to Rev. Bennett MacDonald, the Hennessy Funeral Home, Canadian Legion members and all who gave Mass cards, Spiritual Bouquets and Flowers and all the friends and neighbors who helped so kindly in their sudden sad bereavement.

Analysts Unconcerned By Stock Price Drop

By GORDON GRAND
TORONTO (CP)—Analysts—the stockbrokers' experts on what the stock market is going to do—are not concerned about the recent drop in stock prices.

In fact these authorities, many of whom had predicted a year ago that some decline in stock prices would occur about this time, expect the market to move back to record heights within the next month or so.

The stock market, which had been rising steadily in the first four months of the year, began to weaken in the last half of May.

In the last two weeks, following a sagging New York stock market, the Toronto industrial index lost all of the gains it had made this year.

At noon Tuesday the industrial index, which had established a record high of 178.32 May 14, stood at 164.94, its lowest point of the year.

Notable in the recent fall was a lack of volume, which suggested to observers a dearth of buyers rather than an abundance of sellers.

Average volume recently has been less than 3,000,000 shares, compared with an average daily volume of 5,183,600 shares last year.

Despite the decline, the index and the prices of many key issues still are well ahead of their levels of a year ago.

At the close Tuesday the industrial index—a gauge of the group's health—was 165.95, up more than 11 points from its year-ago level of 154.53.

CPR, one of the favorite stocks of investors this year, was at 61½, compared with 40½ a year ago.

Robert Stone, analyst with stockbroker F. H. Deacon, said: "There's no doubt we are in a clear downtrend, but we are a substantial way through the decline... there are some oversold situations showing up already."

Mr. Stone said "it would be most unwise" for investors to liquidate their holdings because the basic trend up the market remains upward. The sell-off was "merely a correction."

Mr. Stone said the market is merely showing that you cannot have continued expansion in the economy ad infinitum.

WORST OVER
Roland Bertin, of Burns Brothers and Denton Ltd., said: "I think we have seen the worst of the selling... we've had a good correction."

"The end of the bull market is in sight, but there's still some room for higher prices in the next month or so."

Roy Nose, A. E. Osler Co. Ltd., said: "We have seen the worst for the time being. We're probably in the last phase of a bull market which will probably have run its course by the fall. At that time some economic figures will not look too good. However, I see higher prices in the short term ahead."

Manipulation Suspected In Three Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Stock Exchange advised its members Tuesday to use "extreme caution" in executing orders for three Canadian stocks named in a suspected stock-manipulation case in the United States.

The three firms are Jockey Club Ltd., Commodore Business Machines (Canada) Ltd. and Ragan Photocopy Corp. Ltd. The first is listed on the Toronto exchange.

The exchange issued the warning after it was reported that phony cheques had been issued in what appeared to be a $4,000,000 attempt to manipulate the stocks.

Cheques, apparently sent from Nassau, Bahamas, were mailed to some members of the New York Stock Exchange. A letter accompanying the cheques asked the brokers to buy $50,000 amounts of expensive U.S. industrial issues and larger amounts of stock of the three Canadian firms.

Pocket Pagers Popular With Busy Executives

By DAN POWERS
CALGARY (CP)—An oil man sits in a cocktail lounge enjoying a drink. Suddenly he hears two "beeps" and takes what looks like a small, black transistor radio from his pocket.

The man presses a button on the gadget and hears a girl's voice say that he is to call Mr. Smith about an important matter.

Sounds like something from James Bond but it's an instant communication service provided by telephone answering companies in major Canadian cities such as Calgary, Edmonton and Toronto.

The "radio" the oil man was carrying is commonly referred to as a portable pocket pager. Weighing about 13 ounces, it can be carried easily in a coat pocket.

With a transistor receiving unit and a range of about 10 to 12 miles, it can receive a very high frequency, frequency-modulated (VHF-FM) vocal message from a special transmitter at the offices of an answering service.

Generally, the message is that the person is to phone the answering service so a telephone call can be switched to him.

USED IN BUSINESS
Introduced in Calgary last April by City Wide Telephone Answering Service Ltd., the pocket pagers are used by oil men, insurance adjusters, automotive equipment dealers and other businessmen.

There are several pocket pager models but a common model, the Message Mate, can be obtained for about $23 a month, including equipment lease and service rental.

Sets come with re-chargeable batteries and a plug-in battery charger. There are also more expensive two-way sets.

City Wide, formed by Calgary businessman Val Birnie, employs about 50 persons, mostly women operators.

Sales representative Les Staples says the company has a capacity of 99 sets on its frequency combinations but can extend the service with the addition of more equipment. It also has a working agreement with an Edmonton telephone answering service for an inter-city hookup.

Social Workers Are Warned On Backward Country Work

OTTAWA (CP)—North American social workers who try to change the attitudes and living patterns of people in the developing countries may be doing more harm than good, a Canadian social worker who has specialized in international projects said here.

Stewart A. Sutton, a former executive director of the Toronto Children's Aid Society and now the international director of the International Social Service in Geneva, said at the Canadian Welfare Council's annual meeting.

"I think there is a very great danger inherent in a lot of social workers dashing off to save Africans and other peoples from the shortcomings of their civilizations."

Mr. Sutton, who was a field representative for the United Nations' International Children's Emergency Fund in Lagos, Nigeria; Brazzaville, The Congo; and Beirut, Lebanon, from 1955 to 1963, suggested that modern urbanized countries have much to learn from less-sophisticated tribal societies of Africa.

NEED WARMTH
His plea for social workers to try to find some way of regaining the lost warmth and community feeling which still characterizes tribal communities was the most challenging speech heard by some 150 members of the Canadian Welfare Council on the opening of their Tuesday meeting.

The Canadian Welfare Council is a national voluntary research, planning and co-ordinating body in the welfare field. It is made up of individuals, welfare agencies, government departments and representatives of corporations. Its funds are drawn from federal, provincial and municipal grants, membership fees and united appeals across Canada.
