

WALL-STREET-NEWS

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Hi dare, my name is Carlos da Wetback. I graduated a year ago wif a Enginehearing dagree from UPEL. I couldn't get work so da nice fella's over at da crowsnest in Kelley Building hired me to write dare column for da Business Society dis year.

I want to take dis opportunity to say tanks to dose big guns over dare for hiring me. Are day ever smart and schrewd, day said dat day would pay me 10 cents for every column I write plus day also said dat day would talk to me on certain occasions.

Anyway my first job is to introduce to you, this years edition of the Business Society executive: Presidante: Gerry Moore Vice Presidante: Paul MacDonald

Notetaker: Judy Carragher Money Counter Janet Stevenson

Oldest Rep: Laurie McKinley Next oldest Rep: Dana

San'erson Next Youngest Rep.: Kenny Mutter

Youngest Rep.: Andy Palmer

Teacher Helper: Jeff Power Wif all da important stuff outa da way I'm gonna tell youz what's going on.

Ya wanna know what really bugs me, I hate trippin over da Tonka toys dat da Engine-ears leave out in front of Kelley Building. I don't mind dem playin' wif dem, but I'm gonna buils a sand-box over in da football field so day am't in da way. I showed my Engine hearing ring to da guys in da business office and day told me it came of da nose of an Aborigeni and dat if I wanted to keep wearin it I'd have to clean da snots off of it. I don't mind though cause I got enough in my nose to feed me all week.

Just last week da Business Society had dare annual golf tournament. I went along wif dem to Stanhope Golf Course and boy wuz it fun. I caddied for four fellas and day paid me 10 cents. I also made some money diving into water holes to fetch beer bottles and golf balls. Even after all dat, I had enough energy left to catch golf balls on the driving range. A whole wack of people won prizes and I even won a bag of tees.

Do you guys know how hard it is to write when you're on da floor and people are walkin on ya. Well, I do, cause dat's where I an but I don't mind cause dee coffee pot keeps drippin on me and dat keeps me awake.

As seen on Campus last night.

Biologist-Hey, what are you guys doin'.

Engine ears- We're watchin' a flock of turtles in the sky.

Biologist- Hey, I'm not that stupid, turtles only fly in the day time.

For all you Senior Class Members, who for some reason or another could not make the two previous class meetings, I will take this opportunity to introduce to you your executive They are;

President- Anne Mac Ewen Vice President- Anne Gillis

Secretary-Denise Moore

Treasurer-David Nicole

The first meeting held on Tuesday ,Oct. 12, was a get acquainted one, and to ellect an executive. There was not an excellent turnout.

It is hoped that in the future more of you will drop down and contribute to your class meetings.

The second was on Oct. 22. The main concerns were; Grad photos, A "Main Event", and money raising ideas. It was decided that either Boily's or Heckberts Studio, would have the honor of taking this years photos. Both studios are well known for their excellence in photography, so a decision was not immediately made. There will be a display from both studios on Tuesday Nov.2 at 6:00pm.

If you are really interested, and you should be, try to make an effort to come on this Tuesday at 6:00 at the second floor Barn. After the display there will be a short meeting to decide who we will pick.
