Asking Questions

A special dispatch to The Guardian from London...
Prime Minister Edward... asked questions or put questions on the order paper...

Opposition members do, of course, ask embarrassing questions or questions which they hope will be embarrassing...
But surely the primary purpose of the order paper is not to embarrass the Government but to elicit information...

We do not believe that our Federal representatives, who happen to be supporters of the Government, are content with asking only those questions which are sure to receive bright answers and ignoring those which may reveal slightly unpleasant conditions in the employment picture or any other field of the economy...
If we have any criticism at all, it is with respect to the indefinite time allotted for the Commission's work...

EDITORIAL NOTES

The chief aim of an African tribe which is under British protection says he has given up eating human flesh, a time-honoured custom of his predecessors...
For the truth about the Western and Free World is that its only ally, the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation, is failing to provide...
The Communist leaders in the Kremlin will then have their own objective to break up our collective security system...

Inquiry Re Price Spreads

By appointing a Royal Commission to inquire into the differences between prices received by producers and those paid by consumers, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has carried out yet another election promise...
A glance at the personnel of the Commission reveals that it is a fairly representative one...

It is with respect to the indefinite time allotted for the Commission's work that we have our chief criticism...
When, as in this case, they are obliged to travel far afield in search of evidence, unless they are working within a time limit they are likely to be a little tardy in making a report...

At last it's official. At a meeting of President Eisenhower and his advisers it was decided that when Congress meets in January the President will ask for legislation authorizing him to share nuclear secrets with the allies...
When Mr. Adlai Stevenson, defeated Democratic candidate in last year's Presidential election, accepted the post of consultant to the State Department on issues which will come up at next week's meeting of NATO, he was offered $48,800 a day plus $12,000 for expenses...
There is no guarantee in any event that Congress will grant the authority...
The ironic thing about it is that, from all accounts, Britain has more secrets in the nuclear field than has the United States...

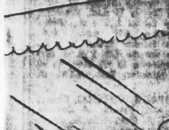

The Proposed Exchange

On the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate Cardinal Spellman of New York was presented with cash gifts amounting to $100,000...
