Retiring President Gives Annual Report

The largest annual meeting of the Queens County federation of agriculture in some years, discussed several problems relating to farming last night in Birch Court. Retiring president Knud Jorgensen, Fredericton, presided.

The meeting was divided into seven groups for discussion of topics and most of them suggested the freight assistance on western feed grain should be retained, though one group decided it should be abolished and more emphasis laid on Island grain.

Nearly every group took a serious look at the potato disease problem, and most emphasized that regulations controlling the industry should be strictly enforced.

One group asked that more public relations work be done on behalf of the federation, and want so far as to suggest higher membership fees, to hire additional help.

There were suggested demands for more farm assistance, particularly to people operating "small, good farms".

Hunters should have to get farmers' permission before entering on their land, one group suggested.

Farm truck licensing came up again the idea is to have the registration fee lowered.

One group suggested that a flat fee of two dollars be charged for clearing farm lanes of snow. If the job cost any more the government should subsidize the operation, it was stated.

A group with Roland MacDonald, Southport reporting said older men should be employed by the Experimental Farm and the departments of agriculture. Men with practical farming experience were suggested and this is necessary if those people are to get the respect and confidence of the farmers, it was suggested.

All farmers should be paid the same for their milk, regardless of the quantity they produce, one group felt.

Income tax exemptions should be increased to $5,000 for a married man and $1,500 for single persons, it was suggested.

Farm machinery prices should be more realistic with parts made available.

Several groups didn't like the way Halloween is celebrated, one group suggested the celebration should be wiped out altogether.

Strong penalties were suggested for destructive actions.

Strict control of insecticides was asked before they are released for general use.

Carpenters and mechanics should be required to serve apprenticeships, one group suggested.

Compulsory crop rotation was suggested with special emphasis on control of potato diseases.

Keith Kennedy of Charlottetown described his trip to the world poultry congress at Moscow.

Directors elected were: Sheldon Myers, Crapaud; Mrs. Leonard Ling, Milton, RR 1; Austin Kennedy, Charlottetown, RR 9; and Chris Judson, Charlottetown, RR 1. Election of officers will take place at a meeting of directors later.

Sewer Stoppage On Arcona Street

SUMMERSIDE - A major sewer stoppage on the twelve inch line on Arcona Street, was stated in the water and sewer report for the month of October, given at the Summerside town council meeting Monday night.

A section had to be dug up where the stoppage occurred, revealing that 18-feet of the line had collapsed. The existing line was inspected from the break and was found to have a very pronounced oval shape, which could spell trouble in the future.

The report suggested that in case of more breaks occurring in the sewer, that a complete check be made by digging test holes from East Beaver Street to Victoria Road, and if the line is in poor condition, the 12-inch line above Victoria Road be diverted through the swamp at High Street.

The report states that this would stop the heavy flow of sewage on Arcona Street and eliminate a flat section of sewer now existing on Victoria Road that has caused some trouble in the past. This would further result in replacing the 12-inch broken sewer on Arcona Street with a smaller line to take care of the area south of Victoria Road.

The trouble in the line goes back to 1954 when the line was laid.

A comprehensive public works and engineer's report were given at the meeting. Sidewalks were laid on Spring, Cambridge, First, and Central Streets during the month. Laying sanitary sewers, laying asphalt, and grading were some of the other items included on the engineer's October report.

FOOD'S STILL COSTLY - Peasants in Communist Bulgaria spend 42.4 per cent of their incomes on food, compared with 66 per cent under the capitalist regime and about 20 per cent in Canada.
