Engineer Watson and his fireman, of the freight train, jumped as soon as they saw the passenger train and escaped with slight injuries. Two postal cars were thrown from the trestle and smashed to splinters; but of the eight men in them, only one—A. W. Dillabaute, of Indianapolis, was hurt, having his leg broken. THE WALKING MATCH.

Scenes and Incidents of the Finish.

THE THIRD AND LAST DAY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

SUMMERSIDE, Sept. 25th, 1880.

At 12.30 yesterday, Clow was heard to remark to one of his friends that this was going to be his day; and when it became known that he intended making it lively for the Unknown, bets were freely made. At 1 o'clock the Unknown had a lead of but one lap. It was not, until 3 o'clock that Clow began to make it lively for his opponent. At 4.30 Unknown was handed a bouquet of flowers, and while going at a fast rate he slipped and fell, hurting his left knee so bad that he was compelled to leave the track, and have it attended to. At 5 o'clock Clow was going at his fastest speed since the race began, and at 6.20 was leading by a mile. At 6.30 Unknown again fell, and had to leave the track, but soon put in an appearance, when Clow commenced to pat him on the back. It was evident that the race was now in Clow's own hands, and that he could beat him by as many miles as he liked. The Unknown looked completely worn out, and when he would be handed a bunch of flowers by any of his friends he would endeavor to exert himself, but would be unable to keep it up any length of time. At 7.15 Clow was leading by two miles. At 8 o'clock the score stood: Clow, 184 miles, 4 laps; Unknown, 181 miles, 17 laps. Clow kept jogging along from 8 until 10, looking as fresh as when he first went on the track. At 10 o'clock, Unknown withdrew, unable to go any further, having up to that time made 187 miles, 12 laps; Clow, 192 miles, 4 laps. In the last hour, Martin Hogan, of Charlottetown went on the track and showed some fine speed. Clow finished the race in his own time, and at 11 o'clock, when the race ended had scored 195 miles 7 laps. At the finish the victor was heartily cheered. After the race ended, Clow made a neat little speech in which he returned thanks to the referee and scorers, and the people of Summerside for their kindness towards him. Both the Unknown's knees are badly bruised on account of his falling. He was suffering so much that he told his backer that he was not able to go on the track again. The sympathy of large portion of the audience were with the Unknown, and his pluck in keeping up as he did, was the means of raising him still higher in their estimation. Unknown's backer congratulated Clow at the finish and announced himself satisfied with the race. It is said that he "considers Clow to be a better man now than he did before," and has expressed the determination to put another man against him shortly. During the evening both men were presented with innumerable bouquets of flowers and silk handkerchiefs.

Montreal Exhibition.

(From the Montreal Gazette.)

The Province of Prince Edward Island, which has sent so fine a lot of horses, has also some goods here. Glancing over the exhibits, we notice leather of good quality, salt fish of various kinds, from I. C. Hall and Wm. McGrath; prepared cod from Macdonald & Co., Souris East; chicory root, grown by John T. Rowe; also a can of chicory prepared for use. Fresh lobster and mackerel, put up in tins by Duncan Munn & Sons, Jno. Cairns, J. & W. Matheson, M. McFadyen, W. C. Harris, Bell & Agnew, P. Gaven and Longworth & Company. John McKenzie, Summerside, shows a suit of clothes made from Island wool, and C. Robertson shows a similar article, both being of excellent make. Samples of red spring wheat are shown by Peter Murphy, Hugh Finlay and James Bernard. White spring wheat is sent by Frederick Hardy, two-rowed barley from Thomas Bulman, and white and black oats from the same. Black oats are also sent by Jno. McGregor, Norway oats by David Shaw, and hullless barley from Hugh Finlay. There are also specimens of printing done by Bremner Bros., Charlottetown. With regard to the grain, it may be mentioned that the judges have expressed great admiration of its excellence, and have decided to award a special commendation; a prize would have been given, but for the fact that the quantity sent is, owing to the long distance from which it is brought, necessarily smaller than the quantity specified in the instructions. Mr. McNeill courteously gives all information requisite about this exhibit.

The exhibit from Prince Edward Island is also a pleasing department, as tending to show the prosperity and progress of that distant Province. Those who have contributed samples of their goods thereto deserve the greatest credit for their enterprise. They have gone to considerable trouble, evidently, in the preparation of their goods. It may be noted, too, that the idea of sending a representative was only mooted a fortnight prior to the opening of the Exhibition and through the zeal of Mr. Gardiner, the commissioner, they have sent a capital representation. Had they had longer time to prepare, the exhibit would have been larger and more representative of the varied industries of the Island Province. We should be glad if the committee can see their way to give some official recognition of the efforts that have been put forth by the Province.

The Prince Edward Island horses also attracted a great deal of notice. The praises of these horses were loudly sung by all of the visitors who understood anything about horse flesh, and many congratulations were heaped upon the inhabitants of the Island Province for their enterprise in sending such a capital exhibit from so great a distance.

If you want your stoves, and stove-pipe fitted up, leave your orders, with C. F. Harris at City Tin Store, upper Queen st., and they will be promptly attended to. (Sept 22, '80.)
