Recession says "no" to Cancun Island

By Chris McCarron

Every year during the February break students have the chance to spend more than a few dollars and enjoy a vacation. This year destinations are Quebec, Florida, and Tropical islands.

Taking a look at the colourful ads for vacations, I decided to call two of the promotions people. When I called about Daytona Beach trip I found out that about 43 UPEI students are headed south. Daytona is a popular choice and looks like there is no room for that trip.

The same cannot be said for Cancun Island. The girl I called told me that Cancun is a Mexican island that is pretty well known, and she said she had to cancel the trip as not enough people signed up. Michelle blames the recession for the cancellation.
