Says Canada Has No Desire To Stage Olympics

WINNIPEG (CP) — George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, says while most countries in the world would give almost anything for a chance to stage the Olympic Games, it seems Canada has no desire to play host to the event.

In an interview Friday, Duthie said Canada is almost assured of winning support for a bid to handle the 1964 games; support could be found everywhere but in Canada.

"You'd think this country would jump at the chance to stage the Olympics... but eastern reaction has been, 'what do you want to get into that kind of a headache for?'"

Duthie was making his annual cross-country selling tour for the Canadian Olympic training plan.

Roger Bannister Accepts Invite

LONDON (Reuters) — Roger Bannister, first man in the world to run a mile in four minutes, has accepted an invitation to speak at the 75th annual dinner of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association June 20.

The dinner, and a broadcast which Bannister will make during his short visit, are in aid of the Canadian Olympic fund.

He may also talk in Ottawa to Olympic authorities, but nothing has been settled. Asked whether he would be likely to run while in Canada, Bannister smiled and said "well — maybe — but yet I don't think so."

Name 13 Men For Cricket

LONDON (AP) — England Sunday named 13 men for the first cricket Test match against Australia opening at Trent Bridge Thursday. The 11 to play will be announced just before the start.

They are: Peter May (captain), Bob Appleyard, Revor Bailey, Clin Cowdrey, Godfrey Evans, Tom Graveney, Jim Laker, Tony Lock, Alan Moss, Peter Richardson, Brian Statham, Johnny Wardle and Willie Watson.

By TOM OCHILTREE

TRONN, Scotland (AP) — John Beharrell, rosy-cheeked, 18-year-old son of an English exporter, Saturday became the youngest player ever to win the British Amateur golf championship, one of the sport's major titles.

The chunky, blond student, hailed as a coming star, beat 32-year-old Leslie Taylor of Scotland 5 and 4 while gales from the Firth of Clyde drove spectators to shelter and played mischievously even with putts rolling toward the cups.

No golfer so young has ever before won either the British or American amateur titles. Bobby Jones reached the American finals at 17 in 1919 but lost to D. Herron.

The English lad, who gave up school and took up golf seriously for his health only a year ago, won his first title by playing impeccable shots around the gale-swept greens and tacking the longer ones through the wind.

He had to beat Taylor, the weather and these rugged links in the 36-hole final.

WIND ALTERS PUTTS
He saw a six-hole lead melt to only two and shook his head in amazement as the wind whirled his ball out of line time after time and even altered the course of his putts.

But he had great shots when disaster threatened. The Birmingham teen-ager, playing nervelessly as a robot, holed a remarkable 70-yard iron shot at the 368-yard 25th for an eagle two. Under the prevailing playing conditions it was little short of miraculous. Even more important for him was a 15-foot putt he sank at the 30th hole to halt Taylor's last gasp bid.

The Glasgow insurance man had won the first preceding holes and for the first time appeared to have a chance to take the title.

Walking away from the 32nd and final green, Beharrell, expressionless here and said: "It feels wonderful to have it over."

Twelve times during the two-round match over the 6,528-yard seaside course Beharrell got down with a chip and a putt after missing the green with his approach. That was the difference. When Taylor missed the green he almost invariably lost the hole.

Beharrell never had his hands on a golf club until four years ago. He never took the game seriously until last year, when his doctor told him to play more for body-building reasons. Son of J. R. Beharrell, an export merchant in Birmingham, he now divides his time between golfing and a correspondence course in the export business.

"I can't do anything with that hanging over me," Louis said.

Louis To Take Time Out From Wrestling Dodge

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis said Saturday night he is going to take a breather from his new business, professional wrestling, to try to settle his income tax troubles.

"I am going to quit for at least a month. I don't know, maybe longer," the former champion said. "I've got to do something about that government business and get it settled."

The government claims Louis owes about $1,300,000 in back taxes.

"I can't do anything with that hanging over me," Louis said.

Peahead Has Problems In Backfield

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Doug ("Peahead") Walker, whose Montreal Alouettes start pre-season training July 3, says his "big problem at the moment" is to find strength for his tackle and backfield positions.

The coach made the statement Friday while commenting on his club's prospects for the coming big four football league season.

Between 60 and 65 players—25 of them United States imports—will be on hand for the Al's pre-season training.

"Our imports have to be two-way players," said Walker. "We're paying them top money and in return they have to be something more than specialists at one job."

English Laborite Has Harsh Words For Heavyweight Bout

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Official functions will be kept to a minimum when the Duke of Edinburgh comes to Australia in November to open the Olympic Games.

Details of the duke's trip, disclosed Friday, indicate that the itinerary will set a new standard of informality for a royal visitor. An announcement said the visit was planned "with the objective of avoiding an unending series of official functions."

The duke will arrive at Port Moresby, New Guinea—northwest of Australia—in the royal yacht Britannia Nov. 12. He will visit Australia's mandated territories of New Guinea and Papua for three days.

From Nov. 14 until he leaves for New Zealand a month later, the duke will have covered Australia's main cities and hundreds of miles of hinterland.

France, Germany Split In Singles

DUISBURG, Germany (AP) — France and Germany Sunday split the final two singles in their third-round Davis Cup tennis series, giving France a 4-1 victory.

In the fourth round of the European zone, France will play the winner of the meet between Italy and Denmark at Bologna.

Peter Scholl grabbed the only point for the German team, defeating France's 19-year-old Pierre Darmon 6-2, 6-0, 6-4.

In the last singles match, Robert Haillet beat Franz Feldbausch, of Germany, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

English Football Leagues Reject Regroup Proposal

LONDON (Reuters) — The football league Saturday rejected a proposal that the present third division clubs be regrouped into national third and fourth divisions in the 1957-58 season.

The proposal, advanced by the management committee at the league's annual meeting, did not gain the necessary three-quarters majority. Voting was 33 for the proposal, 16 against. A minimum of 36 votes was needed for its adoption.

The clubs agreed without a vote to a management committee proposal that any league fixtures may be played wholly or in part under floodlights if both clubs agree.

Eventually, when all clubs have floodlights, a standard kick-off time of 1500 gmt (11 a. m. AST) for Saturday games through the season may apply, avoiding the early starts in winter which are considered detrimental to gates.

ATTENDANCE DOWN
It was announced earlier in the meeting that attendances had fallen by nearly a million, though the weather interference with league fixtures was perhaps less than in any other postwar year.

From 34,333,000 in 1954-55, attendances fell last season to 35,150,809—a decrease of about three per cent.

The meeting re-elected Crewe Alexandra and Bradford to the northern section of the third division for next season and Crystal Palace and Swindon town to the southern section.

Only Few Official Functions For Duke At Olympic Games

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Edith Summerskill, Laborite member of Parliament and Britain's No. 1 for of boxing, Friday described the Rocky Marciano-Archie Moore fight last September as "a massacre in which Moore apparently was sacrificed for the sake of satisfying the appetite of a sensation-seeking crowd."

The former Labor party chairman and medical doctor made the charge five days before Moore is scheduled to defend his world light heavyweight crown against Volande Pompey at London's Harringay Arena.

In a book bearing the barbed title "The Ignoble Art," published Friday, Dr. Summerskill said: "Moore knew the part for which he had been cast. He had to struggle on, even though he was in a semi-conscious condition, long enough to ensure that the crowd had had its money's worth of sadistic pleasure."

To listen to the noise, and watch spectators' faces at a heavyweight championship bout, Dr. Summerskill goes on, "is to observe human beings at their worst—uncontrolled and indulging in an orgy of cruelty."

FRANCE QUALIFIES
DUISBURG, Germany (AP)—France Saturday qualified for the European zone Davis Cup tennis semi-finals with an easy doubles victory over West Germany.

Marcel Bernard and Paul Remy took only 50 minutes to beat Franz Feldbausch and Peter Scholl 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

France now has an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series. It will meet the Denmark-Italy winner in the semi-finals.

TIPS ON GOLFING

By ALEX MORRISON
Central Press Canadian
Golf Columnist

Francis Ouimet, of Boston, Mass., is truly a great golfer. Besides making golf history in America as a champion he has been outstanding in supporting the spirit of golf. I considered it a privilege to meet him through our mutual friend, the late Thomas Logan.

Tom passed on many helpful hints to young golfers. One of these applies to the instructions I have for you today. In his delightful friendliness, Tom could entertain by the hour with his golf experiences and observations.

"Let me tell you how I stopped drinking," he once said. "When starting out on a trip around the world I went into the ship's bar for a drink with some friends. At the end of the trip I realized that about all I had seen was the mirror behind the bar. I was like the circus horse travelling the whole world, but seeing only the one small ring in which he works."

Countless golfers wallow around in bad habits without ever seeing much else. Yesterday a player complained about having no feel of his club or the ball as he struck it. This player, during the past five years, had looked as though he might become an outstanding par buster, according to some observers. He is well versed in most of the conventional and popular golf terms and practices, but he hasn't learned that most of these terms and practices are based on individual mannerisms, not on essentials.

Little wonder that he completely overlooked the essential of favoring the left hand and its little fingers in particular.

I helped him to show the proper attention to these items by placing his left hand on the club first and taking a firm hold with the little fingers, then taking a starting position with the hands held slightly ahead of the ball. These simple points, along with keeping his chin back after impact, affording him the feel and straight shots.

Local Bowling League Ends Successful Year With Banquet

Over 100 bowlers and guests of the Canada Packers Bowling League gathered at Parkdale Hall Saturday to conclude a most successful season with a banquet.

More than 80 bowlers participated in the league and challenge match during the year.

Mr. G. E. Hartlen, Charlottetown Plant Manager, was the guest speaker. In his remarks he thanked the bowlers for the invitation and congratulated them on the sportsmanlike conduct shown at all times during the year.

U.P.W.A. local 282 President, Mr. Clifford Murphy, presented James Dowling, captain of the Stars, with the U.P.W.A. trophy emblem, site of the league championship and stated that he was very "well pleased with the league."

Mr. Hartlen presented trophies on behalf of Canada Packers to the following: The members of the winner's team: James Dowling, Olive Doiron, Chris Durant, Reg Hughes, Doug Huggan, Peter MacIntyre; ladies high average (88) Edna MacInnis; ladies high single (119) Carolyn MacGregor; ladies high three (298) Jean Quin; men's high average (93) Merlin MacKenzie; men's high single (139) Leo Dowling Sr.; Men's high three (324) Len Arsenault.

In addition to the trophies Mr. Hartlen presented a box of chocolates to each winner and Mrs. Hartlen presented a beautiful corsage to the ladies. Mrs. Darlene MacConnell was presented with chocolates for her efforts towards the league.

In a sportsmanlike gesture Mr. Leo Dowling Sr. presented league president Harry MacConnell a pair of box line shoes with case in recognition of his great work throughout the season.

In reply President MacConnell said that it was co-operation between the union and the plant management and the support of the bowlers that made the league the greatest success it was. The president also thanked Mr. and Mrs. Hartlen, Mr. Murphy, the ladies of the Parkdale Women's Institute, who served the banquet and the bowlers.

The banquet was followed by dancing to the music of Art Cantwell's Orchestra.

Helen Jacobs of California made her fifth challenge a winning one when she captured the all-England women's tennis title 20 years ago today at Wimbledon. She beat Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Germany and Denmark 6-2, 4-6, 7-5. Miss Jacobs had been the United States women's singles champion for four consecutive years ending in 1935.

ITALY IN LEAD
BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Italy took a 2-1 lead over Denmark in their third-round European Davis Cup tennis play Sunday as Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola defeated Kurt Nielsen and Torben Ulrich 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 in the doubles.

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—The English all-star soccer team won the seventh straight match of its South African tour Saturday when it defeated a Northern Transvaal club 3-0 after a scoreless first half.

Baseball Paper Says Game May Accept New Plan

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Sporting News says organized baseball may adopt the "free agent draft plan" now used by pro football and basketball in an effort to solve the critical minor league problem.

The baseball weekly, in a dispatch from New York by Dan Daniel, says such a plan would help restore the balance of power by giving the talent clubs a chance to land good young players.

The dispatch says such a "share-the-wealth program" also would tend toward more equitable distribution of wealth within the majors themselves, Daniel wrote.

Under the system, the Sporting News says, all college, high school American legion junior and sandlot players would be tossed into a pool each year. Then they would be drafted, first by the major league clubs and then by the minors, in the inverse order of the previous season's finish, just as now is done in the regular baseball draft meeting.

Each major league club would be able to draft only three players for a big league total of 48, and the other prospects would go to the minors.

Bannister 11th In Miler List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Roger Bannister's breakthrough of the four-minute mile barrier no longer can be included among the world's 10 fastest miles.

So common have sub-four-minute miles become that Bannister's first effort, 3:59.4 on May 6, 1954, little more than two years ago, now is 11th on the list.
