Government for two years, ... I presume, in disgust, because the British Government would not allow him and his associates to perpetrate these acts of rascality which they had promised to do. The fact is, Mr. Davies, in private life, is a very estimable and worthy man. As a politician, he has always been considered mad—so much so, that had he, in England, given expression to such sentiments as he has often expressed here, he, I have no doubt, would long since have been indicted for treason and probably transported.

THE SUMMERSIDE "PROGRESS."

THE editor of the Progress, in his issue of March the 8th, has given us another of that series of articles on Sectarian Education, which he promised after Mr. McMillan's election. This time he has got "Education," "Confederation," "W. H. Pope," the "R. C. Bishop," &c., &c., &c., mixed together in such a jumble that it is almost impossible to know what he is driving at. Are we to be told by the editor of the Progress that the Catholic laity have no minds of their own—that they can be tossed about like a shuttlecock? We tell him that the majority of Catholics are well able to judge for themselves on questions which may be presented to their consideration by the leaders of the different political parties in this Island; and he pays but a poor compliment to the intelligence of his co-religionists when he writes otherwise. The delusion under which the opponents of the separate school system labor is, that none but a "grasping priesthood," W. H Pope, and a few red hot Confederates are in favor of Sectarian Education. Now the sooner the editor of the Progress banishes that idea out of his head the better, because nothing can be farther from the truth. It may suit Elder Laird and a few interested members of the Government to circulate the idea that the Catholic laity are not in favor of the Bishop's memorial; but Mr. Kirwan knows better. It must have occurred to him before now that there are a great number of persons on the Island who prefer to have their children religiously educated. Heretofore many of those people could not gratify their wishes in this respect, and the Catholic hierarchy have merely endeavored to remedy a want that was felt, by establishing schools in which the children of conscientious parents can be properly educated and trained. However, it did not suit the editor of the Progress to admit this. He had other objects in view. By supporting the Government in its unjust dealings towards the Catholic population, he has profited to some extent; and now, after being subsidized, he can raise the cry that we are to be wheedled into Confederation by the advocates of Sectarian Education—that we have no minds of our own. Does Mr. Kirwan imagine that his readers are fools? It would seem so when he places such absurd statements before them: but his arguments on this point have only to be exposed to receive that contempt to which they are justly entitled. The Progress man also repeats the lying statement of the Patriot, that the Hon. W. H. Pope is the editor of the Examiner. This is a contemptible dodge; but falsehood and trickery comes natural to some people. If, by any means, our influence among the Catholic population could be weakened, they fondly imagine that their cause would be wonderfully served thereby. We beg to assure our readers that Mr. Pope has nothing whatever to do with the editorial management of this journal, nor never had during the time it has been in our possession. Will this satisfy the editor of the Progress?

Many of our readers may not be aware that Mr Kirwan is an adopted citizen of the United States having sworn allegiance to that country. For this we do not blame him. If he found that he could forward his interests better in the Great Republic than in this Colony, he had a perfect right to avail himself of the advantages of citizenship in the United States. The case changes, however, when he comes here to undermine the loyalty of the people. Some weeks ago there appeared in the Progress, of which Mr. Kirwan is the editor, certain editorial articles entitled "Annexation." Any person who read those articles must have noticed that their tendency lay strongly in the direction of the United States, and their object evidently was to weaken the loyalty of our people. If the articles in question had appeared in the columns of the Examiner, we can imagine what a hue and cry would be raised against us, and how disinterested individuals would direct the Attorney General's attention towards our treasonable practicees. The editor of the Progress not only got clear without a word of censure, but was also taken by the hand and given a share of the Government pap. And for what? Simply because he opposed himself to claims of the "Catholic party" for a share of the education fund!

A great deal is said by the Progress about certain individuals in our midst who agitate the Confederation question. Have they not as good a right to advocate that measure Mr. Progress as you have to undermine the loyalty of the people by advocating Annexation to the United States? The Patriot which is such a stickler for loyalty, allowed the articles in the Progress to pass without a word of comment, while if an unfortunate Confederate opens his mouth the former journal pounces upon him without mercy, and endeavors to make him odious in the eyes of the public. But "birds of a feather," &c. For our own part we have always pursued a consistent course in reference to these question. When once we became convinced that Confederation would be detrimental to the interests of this Colony we steadily opposed it. Neither have we given aid or comfort to Annexationists open or concealed in our midst, nor shall we in future. In advocating a grant of public money for the schools under the control of his Lordship the Bishop, we are actuated by no selfish motive. If we exhibited the slavish conduct of the Progress, we might enjoy the smiles and patronage of the Government. Our object is simply truth and justice, and our readers can rest assured that so long as we can wield a pen it shall be in that cause.

On Wednesday, March 10th, a lecture was delivered at Pownal Hall, Lot 49, by Mr. W. H. Weldon, Charlottetown, on "Canada." The lecture was well written, and though brief, was very comprehensive, and gave a great deal of information respecting the country, its wealth, and its resources. The chief object of the lecturer was to provoke a discussion on the subject, in which he was fully gratified, several members of the Institute taking part in it, during the debate, the lecturer clearly proved that he was well acquainted with the topic on which he lectured.—COM.

DENOMINATIONAL EDUCATION IN ENGLAND.

PUBLIC MEETING OF IRISH ROMAN CATHOLICS AT SPITALFIELDS.

WE take from a leading London Journal, of the 6th ult., the following extracts:—

"A public meeting, presided over by the Very Rev. Canon Gilbert, V. G., was held on Monday evening in the Teetotal-hall, Spicer Street, Bethnal green, for the purpose of considering the question of Catholic Education, and determining the course to be taken with respect to any government measure by which it may be affected. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the hall was filled, and a large number of Catholic clergymen occupied seats on the platform. Among those present were the Rev Messrs. Cahill, Toomey, Ring, Hussey, Pycke, Delaney, Rocher, Leforestier Police, and Lemenant, and a number of laymen."

"The chairman said this week the Catholic inhabitants of fifteen parishes in London, representing something like 60,000 persons, had combined together, and were determined to act as one man in the endeavor to secure what they believed to be the only right education of their children. They would have no education that was purely secular; and nothing would satisfy them but the denominational system, which trained the bodies and souls of Roman Catholic youth, and made them true men and women—true to their God, their religion, and their country" (Loud cheers)

"The Rev. Mr. Toomey then moved the following resolution: 'That this meeting acknowledges the necessity of upholding the denominational system of education, and pledges itself to support it by all lawful means, and to oppose every measure contrary thereto; and that it further pledges itself to oppose the rating and conscience clauses' He said they would accept no compromise, and they would gladly beg to procure the means of education for the Roman Catholic children of London rather than do anything that would endanger their spiritual welfare. He pointed to the "godless colleges" in Ireland as a standing evidence of the futility of asking them to accept a system which would deprive the clergy of the spiritual control of the young. Mr Rouse seconded the resolution, which was unanimously agreed to" Other resolutions of a similar nature were passed unanimously, some of the speakers being Dr. Fox, Rev. Mr Cahill, Rev. Mr. King, of Tower-hill, &c.

MEETING AT COMMERCIAL ROAD.

"A well-attended meeting was held on Monday evening in the schoolrooms of St Mary and St Michael's, Commercial Road, E. The Rev. W. Kelly, on being called to the chair, said they had met that evening to discuss the subject of education, and more particularly what was called denominational education. Denominational was a word of many syllables; but they need not go far to understand what it meant. Their own schools of St. Mary and St. Michael's, in the Commercial-road East, were denominational schools, that is, schools in which the children, before beginning their work in the morning, offer their thoughts, words and actions to God in a form of prayer which they were to use now and during their lives. The same was done before their departure for their home in the evening, and during the day. Catechism was one of the lessons they had to learn, and the priest, as opportunity permits, explains to the children the meaning thereof. Holy pictures and statues were also to be found in our schools as a means of inspiring pure notions and virtuous ideas in the young mind. The priest who has charge of the school takes the children to the Church at short intervals for confession and communion. Such is the picture of a Catholic denominational school. Yet with all these advantages—he spoke from thirty year's experience—he found it difficult to make the children, as they leave school so young, imbibe sufficient elementary knowledge to qualify them to partake of the Sacraments. Now, if they wanted to know what an undenominational, or the mixed system of education was, he answered that it was as nearly as possible the reverse of the outline he had sketched. It was against this latter system that they had met to enter their protest."

"The Rev Joseph S. Padbury submitted the first resolution for the acceptance of the meeting:—That this meeting acknowledges the necessity of upholding the denominational system of education and pledges itself to support it by all lawful means! He said his task was an easy one. He had the satisfaction of feeling that the resolution just enunciated required no argument to induce its acceptance. To insure that it would be carried it had only to be proposed. What Catholic could dare to express a wish that his child should be brought up—he would not say educated—in a school wherein all religious topics were strictly excluded? Was there any one loving his religion who would not shrink with horror at the idea of placing his child in an establishment where he would be the constant associate of Jews, Quakers, Independents, where the fabulous histories of Venus and Bacchus were taught, but the inspired biographies of the Saints and heroes of Holy Writ utterly ignored. Where busts of Socrates, Plato, Apollo and Venus, might adorn the wall of the school-room, but no crucifix, no statue of our Lady, no picture of any kind could be discovered that would draw the mind of the child to things of sacred interest? What description of youth would such a training produce? Supposing that a child had brilliant trials, and that for years its intellect had been cultivated to the very highest pitch, whilst its heart and its soul had been neglected what would be the result? Would the parents be proud of such a son or such a daughter? Would either of them bring honor to their name or solace to their hearts? The understanding only with the memory and imagination would be considered, so that a good specimen of a finished education at a secular school would be a well informed, keen and thoroughly selfish individual, totally devoid of true generosity or compassion, benevolence, belief in virtue, reverence for worth, age, or holiness. The more brilliant the intellect and the greater its cultivation, if the conscience were left untutored, the more would the heart be dried up, and the worship of self-reign supreme. The only true educator was religion, which taught man to love God above all things and his neighbour as himself. Religion and education have always gone hand in hand, and indeed without religion education does not deserve the name."—Weekly Register.

The infidel, or godless system of education appears to be as odious to the Irish Roman Catholics of London as to those of all Ireland, and to the Catholics of the whole world. There seems, indeed, to be a general outcry against infidel education among all religiously disposed persons who prefer God to Mammon, and the eternal happiness of heaven to the sensual enjoyments of this transitory world.

In another column will be found an article on this subject, taken from the London Tablet.

CARD OF THANKS.

The "Roman Catholic" authoress of the book entitled the "Lady's Benevolent and Industrial Sallymag Society," begs to thank "PRO BONO PUBLICO" for having so kindly advertised her book in last Friday's issue of the Islander; and hopes that a generous public will be reminded that it can be purchased (but not borrowed) at the Stores of Messrs. Harvie and Laird. "Pro Bono Publico" ratifies the high praise bestowed upon the book by the Charlottetown press, without exception, when the book was first published three or four months ago, as there must be something in a book that has taken "Pro Bono Publico" so long to read! The "Roman Catholic" writer in question, thinks she will be carrying out the wishes of the "Roman Catholic Ladies" of Charlottetown, by not making known their deeds of charity through the columns of a newspaper; but she cannot herself lay claim to so much humanity, and as—to quote Mrs. McAllister, of the said Sallymag Society—she has "come to the knowledge that the maist charitable folk like their charities made known.' The "Roman Catholic" authoress takes this opportunity of letting it be known that she put twopence-half-penny in the plate at the collection in church last Sunday week—at least, she would have done so, but that the severity of the snow storm prevented her being able to go to church—nevertheless, her benevolent intention should be known. Also that the said Roman Catholic writer, of "would-be satire," is to assist, in connection with three other Roman Catholics, at an entertainment, to be given to-morrow evening, in the City Hall, for a Protestant charity. "Is this fair or just?" In conclusion, the "Roman Catholic" authoress earnestly entreats the Emperor of China, (Tea is spoken of somewhere in her book) or the proprietors of the celebrated SINGERS SEWING MACHINES, not to consider the above, or the book mentioned PERSONAL.

LECTURE.

J. B. GAY, Esq., will lecture in Munn's Hall, Southport, on Thursday, the 18th March, inst., at 7 o'clock, p. m.

WE regret to learn that the previously arranged programme for the Anniversary of St. Patrick's day, next Wednesday, is so ample, that Mr. Stephen Swabey's promised lecture on the political and public life of the late Hon. E. Whelan, cannot then be delivered. We are glad to announce that that gentleman is to avail himself of the proffered opportunity of reading his essay under the auspices of the C. Y. M. L. Institute, on Wednesday week next, the 24th inst., in St. Andrew's Hall. We doubt not that the well known attachment of Mr. Swabey to the person, and his fearlessly avowed admiration of the public character of our deceased and and lamented statesman, as well as the lecturer's steadfast adherance to the party of progression in this Island, will insure him both a crowded house and an appreciative audience.

LINES

On the death of Captain JOHN BEATON, of Rollo Bay, King's County, who sailed on the 16th October last, from Newfoundland, on board the ill-fated Schooner "O, My," and have not since been heard of.

"O, MY," those sad and solemn words
Re-echoes through my brain,
For with it comes the sentence sad,
We'll never meet again.
Flowers may spring and roses bloom,
And consoling voices say
That we may meet beyond the tomb
Upon the Judgment Day.

But, O, despair's immortal pangs,
That rents my heart in twain,
Re-echoes back that sentence sad,
We'll never meet again.
He left me with his kind "Good-bye,"
And shook me by the hand—
Then shipped on board of the "O, My,"
And sailed to Newfounland.

But, sad's my heart for to return—
It gives me grief and pain
To think upon those solemn words,
We'll never meet again.
On the sixteenth of October last
From Newfoundland set sail,
And straightway steered his course for home
With a sweet and pleasant gale.

But that's the last of them was heard,
Which causes me such pain,
For with it comes the sad, sad news,
We'll never meet again.
But now he lies, like many more,
Beneath the briney wave
That spreads so far from shore to shore—
No stone to mark his grave.

Although my heart is sad and sore,
To weep I know is vain,
For, when the sea gives up its dead,
I hope we'll meet again
His last sea-voyage we know is past,
His soul, we hope, is at rest,
It's ushered by the balmy breeze
To the haven of the blest.

BY A FRIEND.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.—Last week we received a notice of a public meeting which took place in Tignish Hall, on the 25th ultimo, in compliance with the invitation of Messrs. Howlan and Bell, the representatives for the District. The Hon. S. F. Perry was chosen chairman, and Mr. J. G Murphy, Secretary. From the report of the latter we learn that after some local matters had been discussed, the question of education was brought up when Messrs. Howlan and Bell were instructed by Resolution to vote for a grant in aid of the Bishop's schools if that question came before them in the Legislature.

We also received the report of a meeting at Dundas called by the Hon J. Wightman one of the Members for the Third District of King's County. Thomas Clay, Esq., was Chairman. A large amount of money, in the shape of special grants was demanded for the roads, bridges and wharfs of the District. By abolishing the grant for military purposes it was argued that the desire of the meeting could be easily complied with. The subject of steam communication was also discussed. Much fault was found with the Captain of the boat plying between Charlottetown, Souris, &c., for the uncertainty of her movements in arriving and departing and the improper haste with which passengers and freight are hustled to and from the boat at the various ports of her route. The representatives of the District were instructed to have these complaints remedied, and also to have the boat touch at Montague, Cardigan and Grand Rivers every alternate or third week, otherwise to oppose the subsidy altogether. A committee of Messrs. D D Clay, Ed Vickerson & Hugh McPhee were appointed to prepare a petition to the Legislature praying for an amendment in the Election Law to abolish the special vote system.—HER.

Invitations are to be issued to all the Musical Ladies of Charlottetown to assist at it, and if they generously respond to the invitation, a rich treat may be expected to say nothing of its novelty.

MORE STEAM COMMUNICATION FOR THE MARITIME PROVINCES.—The Portland "Argus" learns that an English company proposes putting on an iron prepellor between Portland and Annapolis, N. S., to connect with a railroad to Halifax. The road will be ready by spring for travel; the passenger and freight cars will be completed at an early day. The steamer will be first class in every respect, of 800 tons English measurement, and will cost about forty thousand pounds sterling. This route will enable travellers to reach Halifax or Portland in fifteen hours from the time of starting, and has another advantage in being an inside route. The same company will also run a steamer between Annapolis and St John, N. B., connecting with the same railroad. Capt. McGune, recently of steamer Carlotta, has made application for the Captain's position in the steamer that will run from Portland. Parties interested in the undertaking, belonging in Nova Scotia, have gone to Europe to complete arrangements."—[St John News.

Y. M. C. A. LITERARY CLASS.—The debate on the question, "are classics essential to a good Education,"opened by Mr. Harold May, was decided in the affirmative.

The subject for debate next Wednesday evening will be. "Should home manufactures be encouraged by a protective tariff," to be opened by Mr. J. W. Falconer.

A late Mankato, Minnesota, paper, in speaking of the progress made in the schools of that town, flatteringly mentions Professor Barnard (Mr Henry Barnard, son of Silas Barnard, formerly of this City,) in connection with one of the institutions there. Some 600 pupils attend the institution, and Professor Barnard has eleven teachers under him. We are always glad to record the fact that our Island talent is appreciated, even if it is abroad. But, of course, it is the old story of "A Prophet," &c.—N. S.

We regret to learn that a daughter of the late Donald Blue, of Elliot River, South Side, perished in the great snow storm of Friday last, when only a few chains distant from her own residence.—Ib.

Some miserable creature in the last Islander has made a spiteful attack upon a little work written by a lady residing in our midst. He wishes to make it appear that the book is a "satire" upon a charitable institution established by Protestant ladies for the relief of the poor. Now we read the book in question, and failed to discover in it a single line which would give offence to any person, and we have been assured by the writer that it is not a "satire" at the expense of those institutions of charity, called "Dorcas Societies" The fact is the manuscript of the book was submitted to the perusal of ladies of high standing in the community, (and we believe leaders in the "Dorcas Society," and they were perfectly satisfied that it was not intended as a satire upon any charitable institution in the Colony, and they unhesitatingly advised its publication. "Pro Bono Publico" must be possessed of a mean, malicious disposition when he makes an attack upon an unprotected female, and over her shoulder, at the Catholic community. He insinuates that Catholic ladies do nothing for the poor of their communion. This we pronounce to be a positive falsehood. Catholic ladies have a charitable institution. The society into which they have banded themselves may not be called by the name of a "Dorcas Society," but we can assure "Pro Bono Publico," or any one else interested, that the former society does quite as much good as the latter. With respect to "Roman Catholic poor going for aid to Protestant societies," that cannot be helped. Can "Pro Bono Publico" help Protestant poor from applying for aid to Catholic societies? Answer that Mr. "Pro Bono Publico."

☞ The Concert given in aid of the Whelan Fund, by the Members of the C. Y. M. L. Institute, came off on Friday evening last, in St. Patrick's Hall, which was attended by a large and highly respectable audience, among which we observed the Members of both branches of the Legislature. The Rev Angus McDonald opened the proceedings by a very feeling address, highly eulogistic of the late Hon. E. Whelan, The President, R. Reddin, Esq, also delivered a very neat and appropriate address.

The Songs and Choruses, together with the Lecture on Bumpology, were received by the audience with frequent bursts of applause. Mrs. Stevenson presided at the piano. Much credit is due to the members of the C. Y. Men's Literary Institute, for the part they have taken in this praiseworthy effort to assist in perpetuating the memory of the late Hon Mr Whelan. At ten o'clock the whole company sang "God Save the Queen," and the audience dispersed well pleased with the evening's entertainment.—COM.

CONCERT.

WE understand that it is the intention of the Benevolent Irish Society to give a Concert in St Patrick's Hall, on Wednesday evening next, the 17th inst, the proceeds of which are to be appropriated towards finishing the Hall. No person who desires to see this splendid Hall finished, will begrudge the price of admission to the concert. We hope to see it on that occasion crammed to its utmost capacity.

Charlottetown Debating Club.

On Saturday evening last, the question of "Capital Punishment" was opened by F. S Longworth, Esq, who submitted the following resolution; Resolved, that it is the opinion of this Club, that the punishment of death for capital offences is no safeguard of the lives of the people, nor does it tend to restrain crime; but that the abolition of capital punishment would tend to decrease capital crime. To which the following amendment was moved: Resolved, that Capital Punishment should be abolished in all cases, excepting in those of premeditated murder, committed without extenuating circumstances. After an animated and very interesting discussion, on motion the debate was adjourned until Friday evening next, the 19th inst., at 7½ o'clock.

F. L. HASZARD, Secretary.

VELOCIPEDES.—It will be seen, by an advertisement in another column, that a Velocipede School has been opened in the City Hall by R. Heffer, Esq. Mr. Heffer has brought three of these novel Machines to this city, and we have no doubt but that his school will be well patronized.
