Achievement Day Display Held By WI At Caledonia

CALEDONIA—Members of the Women's Institutes of Caledonia, Brooklyna, and Bellevue gathered at Caledonia Hall for their Handicraft Achievement Day Nov. 20. On display were cushions, gloves, slippers, embroidery and leather work, made during the two week course.

Mrs. Stillman Acorn welcomed Miss Theresa MacLeod and Miss Jeanie Gillis of the Women's Institute office. The ladies showed the work they did during their two week course. A special attraction was the array of sewing exhibited by 13 school children.

Reports of committees were given and the following new ones appointed: School, Mrs. Herbie Fraser and Mrs. Fred Robertson; (re-appointed); lunch, Mrs. Wm. Robertson, Mrs. Robert Robertson, Mrs. Gordon Robertson; program, Mrs. Bernard Massey, Mrs. Homer Robertson.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. John Robertson on Dec. 1. Roll call is to be answered by an exchange of Christmas gifts up to the value of 50 cents.

New officers named are: President, Mrs. Wendell Robertson; vice - president, Mrs. Gordon Robertson; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Peter Stewart; directors, Mrs. Kenneth MacGregor, Mrs. Bernard Massey, Mrs. M. R. Robertson, auditors, Mrs. Horace MacDonald, Mrs. Callum MacLean.

Collection for the evening amounted to $170. The Birthday bank was opened with a total of $4.60.

Five dollars was voted for gifts for patients in the Hospital at Christmas. It was moved by Mrs. Gordon Robertson that $5 be sent to the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

ALEXANDRA W.I.

The November and annual meeting of the Alexandra W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Smith with an attendance of eleven.

Nine members paid their dues. A large number of baby articles was passed in for the Unitarian Services. Eight teaspoons were passed in.

Plans were made to hold a cake sale at Moore and McLeod's on Nov. 27. It was decided to try and hold it in the evening.

The financial report was given by the secretary. The sick committee reported three cards were sent during the month.

Election of officers was as follows: president, Mrs. Harold Beaton, re-elected; vice-president, Mrs. Bruce Judson; secretary, Mrs. Glendon Brehaut, re-elected; treasurer, Mrs. Helen Wood, re-elected; press convener, Mrs. Bruce Judson, re-elected; directors, Mrs. George MacLennan and Mrs. Fred Pound; auditors, Mrs. Wallace Smith and Mrs. Owen Beaton; Red Cross convener, Mrs. Owen Beaton; school committee, Mrs. Glendon Brehaut; sick committee, Mrs. Kamphuis and Mrs. Wallace Smith; program planning committee, Mrs. Kamphuis; Mrs. George MacLennan, Mrs. Harold Beaton and Mrs. Fred Pound.

$10.00 was voted for school prizes at the end of June.

It was decided to pass in articles for the Welfare organizations at the December meeting.

Mrs. Helen Wood invited the members to her home for the December meeting.

Roll call is to be answered with an exchange of Christmas gifts and a get-well or sympathy card.

KENSINGTON C.W.L.

Mrs. Peter McLellan was hostess to the members of the Indian River and Kensington C.W.L. for the November meeting.

The president, Mrs. Clarence Hickey, opened the meeting. Roll call was answered by 12 members. Correspondence was read by Mrs. Thomas Turner.

A report and resolutions were read from the National Convention held in Saint John.

A spiritual bouquet was prepared to be sent to Mgr. W.J. Smith, D.D., Bishop of Pembroke former National Director.

Money was voted for a CWL room at the Prince County Hospital. Discussions were held on various subjects of interest to the members.

The president gave an interesting and informative talk on the Regional convention held in Wellington.

KINGSBORO W. I.

The November meeting of the Kingsboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Robertson with an attendance of 17 members and two visitors. Roll call was answered by each member paying 25 cents.

MARY HAWORTH

Spouse Ponders Wisdom Of Re-Union With Ex-Wife

Dear Mary Haworth: Five years ago, after 13 years of what I thought was a good marriage, my wife divorced me.

I didn't contest the case, as I had been told by her father and other relatives that they would persuade her to drop the suit. Also I had no money to spend on a legal battle, as I had been turning my paychecks over to her.

I visit the children twice a month—they live some distance away—and now they tell me that their mother would like to take me back. She is present during my visits, but to judge by her actions and conversation, she has no regrets.

Since the divorce, she has become lax in her housework; and the children don't go to church and seem interested only in rock-and-roll music. Do you think I should overlook the past and re-marry her?

FINE PROSPECTS

I draw a pension for the balance of my life; also have steady employment; and carry a large insurance policy—made out to the children since the divorce. I am a lonely man and would like to get married again, eventually.

My pastor has introduced me to some very fine unmarried ladies; but I feel I can't establish a new marriage until the children are of age—as it takes most of my money for their support and my own expenses.

I would like your advice on whether to remarry their mother and bring the family back to a more normal way of living. Or try someone else a few years hence. Yours respectfully, J. J.

SEVERAL REASON

Dear J. J.: It seems to me there are several good reasons for trying to rebuild your marriage to the children's mother.

For one reason, because the children are plugging the idea, which means that they miss you, and also realize that their mother isn't equal to the role of family leader, and needs a helpmate's companionship to keep up her morale.

For a second reason, because adolescent sons and daughters especially need the stabilizing sense of self-respect and social security implicit in having a two-parent family life, and their very own mother and dad, to introduce as credentials when making new friends. And because a kindly interested father's attention to their daily activities tends to keep them "on course" conservatively when, without his watchful influence, they might begin to run wild, and lose their way.

For a third reason, because you are a man of conscience; and your long-term peace of mind will depend upon your having done all that could be done, as husband and father, to take proper care of wife and children.

GET CARDS ON TABLE

And, for a fourth reason, because you are lonely and side-tracked from life that has meaning—when you might be having a whole loaf of living, of sacrifice and service, even supposing it wouldn't be happier, if you go back into double harness with the wife of your youth.

So my advice is, don't set your sights on second marriage to some other woman, later on; unless and until your former wife turns down an offer to try again.

Take a hint from the children and get her to say what's on her mind. Tell her they have been selling you the thought that she would take you back; and if that's how she feels, you are willing to propose.

If she has the good sense to meet you halfway in a reasonable discussion of mending past differences and marrying again, go ahead. But if she gets coy and proudful and childishly challenging, on the assumption that you may need her more than she needs you, you might as well leave things as they are. M. H.

Eaton's Staff Hold Xmas Party

The Charlottetown branch of Eaton's of Canada held its annual Christmas banquet at Parkdale hall, Saturday, Nov. 28. Mr. S.S. Carson, manager, made brief remarks in which he welcomed the staff and their guests.

The hall and tables were decorated for the occasion in the traditional Christmas theme, under the direction of Lawrence Blaney, a member of the staff.

The sumptuous repast of hot turkey with "all the fixings" was supplied and served by the ladies of the Parkdale Women's Institute.

Following the dinner mirth-provoking games were enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. S.S. Carson. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gallant were heard in three numbers, singing and dancing in their usual versatile style. The accompanist was Mr. Albert Blanchard.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards music, and dancing, the music being supplied by John Fielding and his orchestra.

Over 100 guests were in attendance and declared this party the best yet.
