

THE DAILY EXAMINER

OCTOBER 16, 1894.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

For the first ten days of September there was a deficit in the Washington treasury of $1,355,765.

Senator Hill opened the campaign for the Governorship of New York State at Syracuse a few nights ago. His remarks on that occasion are to be taken as an indication of the course to be pursued during the campaign.

In another portion of the EXAMINER will be found an interesting and instructive article dealing with the egg and poultry trade. The article is taken from the Empire, and is based upon a report recently issued by the Dominion Government. It is well worth careful perusal.

At the forthcoming election in the State of Illinois, besides the Republicans and Democrats, there will go to the polls candidates of the following parties: Prohibitionists, Peoples' Independent Republicans, Peoples' Silver, Independent Peoples', Independent Democrats and Independents. They seem to be carrying political independence to the verge of crankdom in that portion of the land of the free.

The pension business in the United States goes on merrily, despite all attempts to check it. The number of pensioners on the rolls is now nearly a million, having increased 3,500 during the year, although nearly 38,000 names were dropped for death and "other causes."

The announcement sent out from London a few days ago that China had made overtures to Japan with a view to peace is now denied, as will be seen by reference to our despatches. The report was that China offered an acknowledgment of Corea's independence and would pay war indemnity in case hostilities were suspended forthwith.

The New York Wine and Spirit Gazette is authorized for the following: "The city of Stuttgart, in Germany, is supplied with beer on a very novel plan. The beer is carried through the city like water by a system of pipes. The customer pays his beer as he would his gas or water rate. The pipes are of lead lined with a thin layer of wood pulp to prevent the contact of the beer with the lead pipes. The pipes are air-tight, and the beer when drawn at the home of the customer is as fresh and sparkling as when taken from a bottle. Two large breweries have secured a monopoly in this pipe line over the whole city."

The following advice appears in a leading article of the Toronto Empire: Let Canadians stick to their own country; believe in it, work for it, work in it. Let them get rid of the notion that there is any other method of attaining prosperity than by industry, intelligence and honesty. Let them take the advice of Mr. Cleveland—by far the best type of man the Americans have put into the presidential chair for many years—and eschew extravagance and kindred madness, and they will be able to say always, as they can truthfully say now that there is no country like Canada, for safety of institution, for integrity of life, and for a fair division of wealth.

There is no material change in the cloakmakers' strike in New York. The cloakmakers have decided to resist the demands of the striking cloak operatives and to refuse to make any of the concessions the workmen demand. This conclusion was reached at a meeting of the manufacturers held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel a few days ago. The aggregate capital, it was stated, of these firms, is $40,000,000, and the aggregate amount paid annually in wages by them is $5,000,000. It was unanimously agreed that no manufacturers would make any concessions or compromise with the strikers without the consent of all. Some of the speakers said they would rather go out of business than accede to the demands of the strikers.

There is a great sensation in Newfoundland over the discovery that the Whitehaven party had flooded the Trinity district, where a political meeting was to be held, with copies of a letter purporting to have been sent by Mr. Munroe, now a government candidate, to the leaders of the Whitehaven party last spring, offering to secure the withdrawal of the election against the Whitesaves if certain moneys were granted to him. The letter is declared by the alleged author to be a base fabrication. Color is given to Mr. Munroe's denial by the fact that the circulation of the letter is confined solely to the Trinity district. None of the copies are in circulation in St. John's, where the letter is alleged to have been written. It is expected that the matter will come before the courts in due time.

At the New York election on the first Tuesday of next month a vote will be taken on the question of the extension of the bounds of New York city. If New York and the other municipalities concerned desire the consolidation they will get it. Then New York will be the second city of the world in population. The inhabitants of greater New York will number three millions. Of these 1,800,000 now reside in the city of that name, and 960,000 in Brooklyn, Richmond County, Westchester, Flushing, Jamaica, Long Island City and other suburbs make up the balance. The area of the present New York is less than 39 square miles and that of Brooklyn less than 29 square miles. But the proposed city will have an area of 317 square miles.

At the Vienna congress of German naturalists, Dr. Behring, of Halle, and Dr. Ehrlich, of Berlin, made some further disclosures regarding their serum cure for diphtheria. According to Dr. Ehrlich, the mortality in diphtheria cases, when treated with the serum, has gone down in Berlin hospitals to eight per cent. He said diphtheria was no longer to be feared in civilized countries. The remedy, as professed jointly by Doctors Behring and Ehrlich, is a fluid of a pale reddish-yellow color, and is sold hermetically sealed. It is prepared in three degrees of strength. The first contains 600 anti-toxic units, the second 1,000 and the third 1,500 for immunizing purposes. The tenth part of a simple dose is sufficient to cure advanced cases the concentrated remedy is required. It is applied with a Koch injector in such parts of the body where the skin lies in loose folds.

EGGS AND POULTRY.

The Dominion Government has issued a report on the poultry industry and egg trade which will be found most useful to poultry-raisers and interesting to the general reader. Besides the statistics of the trade, which show conclusively that the market for Canadian eggs is Great Britain, the report contains a treatise on "Poultry in Canada," by Mr. A. G. Gilbert, manager of the poultry department of the Central Experimental Farm, which makes it a valuable one for the poultry-raiser.

As to the egg trade, the statistics furnished by Mr. George Johnson, Dominion statistician, show that the export is large and increasing. The most important market, of course, is the home one, but the trade returns of 1893 show that, besides supplying her own market, Canada exported in that year 6,805,432 dozen of eggs, of a value of $865,007; live poultry to the value of $61,127, and poultry dressed or un-dressed to the value of $20,840. The two principal customers of Canada, with which the others cannot compare, are Great Britain and the United States, the former taking the bulk of the trade. In 1893 Canada exported to the United Kingdom 4,645,532 dozen eggs, valued at $538,944, while to the United States she sent 4,621,637 dozen valued at $510,594. Up to 1890 the United States was the best customer of Canada, but the McKinley tariff of 1891 caused a great falling off, as the following table will show:

Table with columns: Eggs, Doz., Value. Rows for years 1882-1894.

In 1888 our exports to Great Britain amounted to 2,379 dozen of eggs, valued at $262; the following year it had dropped to 95 dozens valued at $18. The effect of the McKinley law is seen in the three years 1891, 1892 and 1893. Canada finding that she was losing the United States market turned her attention to England and exported as follows:

Table with columns: Poultry and Eggs, Doz., Value, Game. Rows for years 1891-1893.

Showing that all that is needed is to press in that direction, for England has demand for all the eggs we can send. The supply is drawn from France, Russia, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Portugal, Spain, Morocco United States and Canada. France headed the list last year with 35,121,740 dozen. Germany came next with 27,513,400 dozen. Belgium next with 19,857,680 dozen. The United States sent only 421,250 dozen, the total import amounting to 111,391,190 dozen, valued at $18,480,276. France supplied nearly one-third of the whole quantity imported and Germany comes next with about a fourth of the value. Belgium following with nearly a fifth. It will be seen from this that there is a great market for eggs in the United Kingdom at good prices that should be an incentive to egg dealers in this country to bestir themselves to secure a greater share of the trade. The report furnishes full information, giving particulars of the trade with all countries, the tables showing at a glance the trend of the traffic.

The correspondent of the Times continuing, says: "The governor yesterday told me that he did not believe the rebels would attack the town, but they attacked it this morning and were repulsed by a heavy cannonade. Twelve Portuguese were killed. The country is in open revolt and the authorities talk of asking assistance from the Transvaal. The situation is unalterable."
