Mr. Fraser stated further: "A great many tests made at experimental farms, colleges and other places have proven that when a hog goes over 200 pounds, it requires twice as much feed to increase the weight, and only fat is produced."

Mr. Harold Hertz, grading inspector, Federal Marketing Service, with headquarters at the Canada Packers plant, explained the extreme difficulty experienced in picking winners in the hog competition. Measurements to one-tenth of an inch were necessary in some of the recognized 8 factors which go into the production of a perfect hog. 65 per cent of the hogs automatically placed in grade "B", were put there by over-weight.

In the examined winners in the single hog contest, 3 graded "B" because of slight overweight. "Anyone who wins here, said Mr. Hertz, can win at the Royal Winter Fair."

"The perfect hog", which might well be the objective of every hog raiser in this Province, was described by Mr. Hertz as being of optimum weight, A-1 type (not short, not round ribbed, not deep chested) with an even coat of fat from shoulder to tail, approximately one inch thick, with hams weighing as much as the shoulders, and both together weighing the same as the middle.

Mr. Wiley Gibson, Marshfield, President of the Swine Breeders Association, when asked to make a few remarks, harked back to 40 years ago when pigs were pigs and not the vast developments up until a year or two ago, during which time, "mortgages were paid off, additional land bought, homes modernized and farm equipment brought up-to-date, through the raising on a modern scientific basis."

Mr. Gibson concluded, "I congratulate you all, you have done splendidly and thanks are due Canada Packers for the encouragement they have given the Farmers. Things are not so good just now, but better days are in store for us all."

Each money prize was accompanied by a side of bacon as an additional gift to the winners, as follows:

Group of 4 Hog Carcasses Competition: 1st, A. F. I. Andrew, Charlottetown; 2nd, William Gregg, Frenchfort; 3rd, William Found, Long River; 4th, LeRoy Vessey, Dunstons; 5th, Wilfred Thompson, Dunstons; 6th, S. C. the convention by its resolutions committee. It called for the "outlawing of the Communist Party or the Labor Progressive Party or any other organization which aims to undermine our democratic way of life."

Gang-Up On Proposal - Anti-Red and left-wingers immediately ganged up on the proposal. It was attacked by such prominent enemies of Communism as Edward Shane of Montreal, Canadian chief of the big International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, and Russell Harvey of Toronto, director of organization for the American Federation of Labor's 400,000 Canadian members.

"It would be putting a terrible weapon in the hands of government to have it suppress a political party," Mr. Shane said. "Once you give a government that power, you don't know who they'll suppress next."

The officiating officer was Brigadier Joseph Hewitt. The plans were Mrs. H. Hiscok, and the soloist, Mr. H. Hiscok.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a Salvation Army Officer's uniform, with a bouquet of red and white carnations and white streamers. Mr. Kearns said the Red "termites" must be exterminated and that was one way of doing it.

The attempt to ease the T. L. C.'s policy was brushed off quickly by the convention on a resolution brought in by the Ocean Falls, B. C., local of the Pulp and Sulphite Workers' Union. It wanted removal of a 1950-imposed ban against T.L.C. affiliation with Communist-controlled unions and against attendance of Communist individuals at conventions.

Church Frowned On Eden's Marriage

LONDON, Aug. 21-(Reuters)-The Recorder, weekly Conservative newspaper, said today the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, refused to officiate at the wedding of Anthony Eden and Miss Clarissa Churchill he married in an Anglican Church.

The ceremony took place last week in a registry office. Prime Minister Churchill, the bride's uncle, wanted the church wedding, said the paper, but the Archbishop gave a flat "no."

Main opposition to a church wedding was the fact that the Foreign Secretary had been divorced from his first wife, even though he had been the innocent party.

The recorder said Miss Churchill was a "lapsed" Roman Catholic and thus a Catholic marriage was even more out of the question.

In another article, the recorder said the Queen and court officials were seriously considering changing the rules which exclude divorced persons from being received at court.

Three Valuable Horses Injured By Tornado

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 21-AP - Three of the most valuable harness race horses in the world were injured early today in a tornado that slashed through the Missouri State Fair Grounds.

The remainder of the Grand Circuit racing program at the fair was cancelled.

Three horses, valued at $100,000 or more each, were among those in a barn that was wrecked. They were Tar Heel, purchased for $125,000 last fall; Duke of Lullwater, for which an offer of $125,000 was refused last year, and Simpson Hanover, sired by a Hambletonian winner, valued at $100,000.

Tar Heel is owned by the Hanover (PA) Shoe Farm of Lawrence Sheppard, president of the U. S. Trotting Association. Duke of Lullwater, which placed third this year in the Hambletonian, is owned by Walter T. Chandler, Decatur, GA. Simpson Hanover is owned by L. J. Buck, Far Hills, N. J.

Simpson Hanover, son of Hoot Mon and Shirley Hanover, won the American national stake for two-year old trotters here yesterday.

Also in the barn were True Boy Scotch Dean, Hoot Lassie and Epicure.

Witnesses said Hoot Lassie was blown 25 feet into the air as her groom led her from the stall. She was not injured.

None of the horses were injured seriously, but all suffered cuts and bruises. True Boy, Tar Heel and Simpson Hanover were cut more than others.

Carts and sulkeys were smashed. Broken and scattered throughout the stabling area.

Smallwood Urges British Company Develop Labrador

LONDON, Aug. 21 - (CP) - Formation of a new British company to develop the resources of Newfoundland Labrador was suggested today by Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland.

In a speech to a meeting of firms and associations, arranged by the Federation of British Industries, Smallwood said such a company would need a capital of £2,000,000, only a relatively small part of which would have to be converted into dollars if the company used British personnel and equipment.

Development, as distinct from prospecting, would have no time limit and the cost might be anything from $20,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Smallwood said the British companies should get together to organize prospecting for iron ore, manganese, titanium, copper, lead and zinc.

Labrador, he said, is the "great remaining storehouse of natural wealth and natural resources in North America."

Earlier in an interview, Premier entered the employ of the M. F. Schurman Company, Summerside, and began his duties on Monday August 18th. Arthur is a grand-son of Mrs. Flossie Lowther and has resided with her for the last few years.

Dr. Ernest P. Weeks, Mrs. Weeks and their sons, Peter and Andrew, of Ottawa, arrived in Bedeque on Monday evening, August 18th to spend their vacation with Dr. Weeks' father, Rev. E. S. Weeks, and Mrs. Weeks and other relatives on the Island. Dr. Weeks is Director of Economics and Statistics in the Department of Defence Production, at Ottawa.

Rev. James M. Baxter was the guest speaker on the Bedeque Charge of the United Church on Sunday, August 17th. There was a large gathering in the Bedeque Church at 11 a. m., and Mr. Baxter's sermon was heard with much acceptance. The male choir was in full strength with Mrs. Walcott as organist. A solo by Mr. Gordon MacCallum, Charlottetown, entitled: "Then I shall See Him Face to Face" was much appreciated.

Smallwood Urges British Company Develop Labrador

Smallwood said he has realized both the objectives which brought him to Britain.

The first objective was to find whether British firms were interested in the development of Newfoundland and Labrador, and the second was whether one group was prepared to finance such firms.

"I think I have done both," Smallwood told the Canadian Press. "We have found a reputable and important house interested in organizing such a group."

Smallwood didn't name the sponsor but said the task of raising the £2,000,000 initial capital "didn't phase them at all."

Smallwood, completing a 10-day trip to Britain, boarded a plane for Belgium where he will begin a month-long visit to the continent. He and three Newfoundland cabinet ministers will visit West Germany, Switzerland and Italy, seeking new trade outlets for Newfoundland.

The party returns to Britain Sept. 25, enroute home to Canada.
