Catholic Hosts Ass'n Sessions Open Monday

Sister John of the Cross, St. Vincent Hospital, Pontiac, Oregon, will deliver the keynote address Monday at the general opening session of the 46th annual meeting, Atlantic conference of the Catholic Hospital Association.

The meeting, scheduled for St. Mary's in Charlottetown, will draw representatives of Catholic hospitals throughout the four Atlantic provinces.

A well known administrator and educator, Sister John of the Cross, is president of the Oregon conference of Catholic hospitals. She is, at present, assistant administrator and management improvement director of the in-service education at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Sister John will also conduct a public relations workshop Tuesday.

Business of the meeting will include a revision of the by-laws and discussion of Royal A. Commission reports relating to health care.

The meeting opens Sunday with registration and an executive meeting. Most Rev. M. A. MacRachter, Bishop of Charlottetown, will celebrate Pontifical Low Mass Monday, prior to the general opening session.

A discussion on the future of nursing Monday afternoon will be followed by an address "The philosophy of the Catholic hospital" by Rev. A.L.M. Danis, S.M.I., Ottawa.

"Hospital orientation program" will be dealt with Tuesday morning in a lecture by Sister Leonard, S.M.I., Ottawa.

The steady growth of AA in the Atlantic Provinces has compelled creation of a new zone comprised of AA groups in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and it is delegates of this newly-created Zone who are meeting here this weekend.

The meeting closes Tuesday afternoon. Delegates will visit four representatives of the Confederation Memorial Buildings Monday evening, and tour the National Park Tuesday afternoon.

AA Zone Meet Opens Today

Approximately 200 representatives are expected to start registering today for the annual Zone Conference of Alcoholics Anonymous, Communiv Centre on Stewart Street.

The first zone session will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the centre with the closing meeting to be followed by a dance and entertainment for the delegates.

Two sessions will be held at 11 tomorrow morning with a business meeting of the AA group at the Centre and a meeting of the Al Anon representatives in the Goodwill Group rooms at 162 Richmond Street.

Of interest to the general public will be descriptions of the workings of Alcoholics Anonymous by speakers from outside the province. How AA was able to come to their rescue will be told by the visiting members at a meeting open to the public at the Capital Theatre at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Following the public meeting there will be a banquet for AA members at the Goodwill Group rooms at 162 Richmond Street.

Provincial Bike Ride On Today

Seventy young cyclists meet at West Kent School at 10:30 this morning to compete in a provincial bicycle rally promoted by the P.E.I. Junior Red Cross.

The competitors are the winners of contests conducted in connection with about 25 "Central area rallies" during the past two months.

First part of the contest—an equipment check and general knowledge test—will be held at the school, but actual driver skills will be tested at Victoria Park, in front of the Kiwanis wading pool.

Here the youngsters will show their ability to change balance readily, signal, turn, stop, and skirt obstacles.

Trophies for winners in two categories (11 years and under; 12 years and over) have been donated by the Bike Shop.

Judging will be by Cst. John Eves of the city police and Cst. Walter Pincen of the RCMP. Sinclair Cutcliffe, provincial

Bungalow Gutter In Blaze

SUMMERSIDE — Fire early last evening gutted a bungalow-style house occupied by the family of airman Fred Howell at 342 Poplar Street here.

Mrs. Howell said she first saw the flames near the ceiling in one of the rooms. She couldn't say what the cause of the fire was but believed it started from faulty wiring. At the time neither furnace nor gas stove were on, she said.

One of the firemen, Leonard Arsenault, who was battling the blaze from the top of the veranda, suffered a leg injury when he was struck by a falling pipe. He was taken to hospital for treatment and released but will return this morning for X-rays on the injured limb.

Mr. Howell, who is in the military service, was away from home at the time of the fire.

The fire was reported by a neighbour who called the fire department.

Complete Tuberculin Testing Of Areas Surrounding City

Dr. Eric Found, provincial director of tuberculosis control, announced recently that tuberculin testing and x-ray surveys of the Parkdale, Sherwood, East and West Royal city districts have been completed.

The enthusiasm for having this preventive health measure available in the above mentioned communities was reflected when 80 voluntary workers from these communities gave up a great deal of their time and energy during the canvass and clinic days.

It is gratifying to report that although several non-tuberculous conditions were detected and reported to family doctors through their patients, that there was but one case of tuberculosis detected before becoming contagious and which will be successfully treated.

Because several patients from the Morell area were admitted for treatment during the past two years, a repeat survey of the Morell area will be carried out on a voluntary basis, this year, the reason being that we cannot expect the voluntary workers in this area to canvass their districts on a yearly basis.

Consequently, through the facilities of the Department of Public Health and the P.E.I. Tuberculosis League, a clinic will be held at the Morell Legion Hall on July 3 and 7. Details will be advertised in the press.

It is hoped that the people of the Morell area will take advantage of this opportunity for the discovery of any chest disease which if discovered early is most treatable.

FLAG ISSUE

Harold Winkler (NDP — Vancouver East) said Mr. Pearson's "personal pride and prejudice" on the flag issue was keeping the House from dealing with the matter. He already has a written paper on the final version of the bill available in the House presented to the Commons in about two weeks. Legislation governing flags to university students should be introduced in about one week. Action to extend the ban on advertising already was on the order paper.

Mr. Diembschak said steps are needed to deal with a tapering off in the rise of Canadian exports. Mr. Douglas said the government's code should have priority.

MADE A MESS
Reid Scott (NDP — Toronto Danforth) said Mr. Pearson had made a mess of Commons business.

When the prime minister brought in his flag resolution he knew that he was sabotaging his own legislative program. He knows there is nothing to be done by any means.

Credulity members heatedly protested before any suggestion of flag debate should not have priority. Gillies's Gogreire (Labour) said the Conservatives are trying to bury the new maple leaf flag under a flood of other bills.

Eric Winkler (PC — Grey Bruce) said: "We do not want to see muzzled. We do not want to see our mind."

Just before the House adjourned Mr. Farnham said the government still hopes to resume the flag debate next week.

The first order of business Monday would be second reading of the supply bill to authorize the federal government expenses in July. The flag resolution would be the next item.

The supply bill was given first reading just before he spoke, after five straight days of acrimonious debate.

NEIL MORRISON MacKinnon of Summerside was remained on the list July 24 at 4 p.m. after he pleaded not guilty to a charge of unlawfully and falsely representing himself as a peace officer.
