Bob Baker At Best In Fast, Wild Western At The Capitol

Dare-devil riding, a feud, a rodeo, gunfights, a love triangle and some new cowboy melodies have all been happily combined in Bob Baker's latest production, "Honor of the West," which opened yesterday at the Capitol.

Few western film stories have seemed to offer so much in the way of speedy dramatic entertainment. Based upon actual wild-west incidents in which cattle rustlers ran afoul of the law, "Honor of the West," is declared to provide the most interesting cinema material of his screen career.

Baker will be seen as the "Slingin' Sheriff" who places personal loyalty ahead of his official pledge. In the story by Joseph West, Bob finds himself in the middle of a romantic problem, a deadly cat-fight and a contest between law and crime from which there seems to be no escape.

How he shoots, rides, sings and smarts his way out of this exciting tangle supplies the unusual action of "Honor of the West."

Bob's competent supporting cast includes Carleton Young, Jack Kirk, Dick Dickenson, Glenn Strange and Forrest Taylor. In the same picture, as Bob's new leading lady, is the famous Marjorie Bell now celebrated as Walt Disney's life model for the immortal "Snow White."

Simpson's Move To New Premises

A major change in the business of one of the City's leading mercantile establishments takes place today when Mr. F. A. Stewart Jones, Special Representative of the Robert Simpson Eastern Limited, opens his new store in the Horne Building at 129 Kent Street. For the past fifty years or more this fine brick building has been occupied by Messrs. A. Horne and Company who carried on one of the largest carriage, automobile and feed businesses in the Province. The fine showroom used for the display of these products is admirably suited to its new use, that of showing household furniture.

For the past several days workmen have been busy in the new "Simpson" store where interior changes are being made to adapt the building for use of the new occupants. A new show window has been installed, redecorating is nearly finished but other changes will require some little time for completion. A formal opening will be announced shortly when complete new furniture stock will have been received and the premises made ready. In the meantime Simpsons Removal Sale continues and all business will be transacted at the new location.

Messrs. A. Horne & Company's general office will continue in the present location, with entrance through the Simpsons' showroom.

Tigers Stage Rally To Beat Red Sox 7-6

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 —(AP)—Detroit Tigers bunched two hits and two walks with a Boston error today to come from behind in the eighth inning and defeat the Red Sox 7-6 in the American League Baseball series opener.

Boston's star rookie outfielder, Ted Williams, belted a home run with two men on base to put the Sox in the lead in the third inning. But it was his error on Biddle Tebbetts' single that permitted Pete Fox to score from first base with Detroit's winning run in the eighth. Williams' homer was his 22nd of the season.

The veteran Ted Lyons returned to duty after a 16-day layoff because of a wrenched ankle and pitched Chicago White Sox to an even break in a doubleheader with Washington.

Lyons allowed four hits in winning the first game 5-2—his 11th victory of the season. Joe Kraskauskas of Hamilton, Ont., hurled seven hit ball and coupled with Buddy Myer's pinch triple in the ninth and Kraskauskas' own sacrifice fly, Washington clinched the nightcap 4-3 after the Sox had tied the score in the eighth.

The Browns dug themselves a deeper hole in the cellar losing a
