Fiscal Conference At Ottawa Is Expected Under Liberals

By FRANCOISE COTE

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial conference to review fiscal arrangements may possibly be held next autumn under a Liberal government, informants said here.

Three days before last Monday's election, Premier Lesage of Quebec issued a virtual ultimatum to Ottawa in his budget speech in which he demanded new tax-sharing arrangements between the federal and provincial governments.

A source close to Liberal Leader Pearson said a revision of fiscal arrangements is not on the priority list of matters to be done in the first 60 days of a Liberal administration.

The informant added that it seems impossible that anything can be done before the next federal budget, which might be brought before Parliament in June.

SET TIME LIMIT

Mr. Lesage, who urged Quebecers to vote for a stable government at Ottawa, gave the federal government 12 months to act on his demands.

Ottawa sources say that after dealing with urgent foreign and domestic problems, the government might find early autumn the best time for a federal-provincial conference. This would give the provinces enough time to take into account the federal proposals before their next budgets.

Under the present arrangements, the federal government allows the provinces 16 per cent of personal income tax, nine per cent of corporation income tax, and 50 per cent of succession duties.

The provinces' share of personal income tax is to increase to 20 per cent in a five year period ending in 1967.

Premier Lesage in his April 5 budget reiterated his government's demands made at a federal - provincial conference July 25, 1960. This calls for 25 per cent of both personal and corporation income taxes and all succession duties.

Criticism Of French Service Draws Reply From CP Head

QUEBEC (CP)—A. F. Mercier, president of The Canadian Press has replied to sweeping criticisms of the national news association's French service by Daniel Johnson, leader of Quebec's Union Nationale opposition party.

"It is unfair and inaccurate to describe CP's Service in French as a mere translation service," said Mr. Mercier, vice-president and general manager of the Quebec dailies L'Evenement and Le Soleil.

"Since the start of service in French, as much news in original French as possible has been obtained to avoid what is called double translation. This effort has been increasingly successful and it is untrue, as Mr. Johnson said, that statements by President de Gaulle are translated by CP's Service in French from English translations. Statements by President de Gaulle are distributed in original French.

"The same is done with other official statements and documents when French texts are available.

"Major parliamentary and federal government news is written in French; the Quebec legislature is reported in French; and 7 French-language newspapers which are CP members contribute their local news in French.

"There will always be translation of news from English to French and from French to English in any Canadian service but Mr. Johnson has repeated misinformation about the work of CP on behalf of newspapers published in the country's two languages.

"I have said publicly before that it is nonsense, not to say pure imagination, to suggest that news from CP published by

Farecutting To Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered an investigation into what it called an increase in illegal air farecutting in transatlantic services.

The board said it wanted to find out whether it should take remedial action itself or should make recommendations to the attorney-general and appropriate U.S. officials for civil and criminal action.

It also wanted to find out:

1. To what extent U.S. or foreign airlines have taken part cutting cargo rates or passenger fares or granting unauthorized discounts.

2. To what extent agents or other persons have taken part in these unlawful practices, knowingly or unknowingly.

The board said that in recent years some of the airlines operating between the United States and Europe have resorted to these practices in efforts to penetrate and establish themselves in the North Atlantic market.

It said the practices include the sale of tickets by travel agents and by certain airlines at less than the published rates; the offering of cut rates on individual ticketed flights operated under the guise of chartered operations; special concessions to travel agents, and rebates, misclassification of commodities, and other unlawful practices in the sale of cargo transports.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	2 ♠	2 NT
3 ♠	3 NT	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dble.

Opening lead—ace of hearts.

You wouldn't think this could happen in a national team of four championship — but it did. The deal was played in Jackson, Miss., during the Vanderbilt, three years ago.

Look at the four hands and you see that North - South can make seven clubs. Yet, strange as it seems, the club suit was never bid at either table where the hand was played!

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. North chose to pass second hand, despite his distributional values, and East, playing weak two bids, opened with two spades. The bidding then proceeded as indicated, East becoming declarer at four spades doubled.

North - South could have saved something from the wreck a ge by defeating tht contract a trick, but they failed to find the best defense. South led the ace of hearts and shifted to a low diamond, but when North took the ace, he returned a diamond instead of a heart and East made four spades doubled for a score of 790 points.

At the second table, the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	2 ♣	2 ♦
3 ♥	6 ♦	Pass	Pass
Dble.

West led the king of hearts. Declarer took the ace and played the nine of diamonds. When declarer ducked, attempting to guard in this way against a 4-1 diamond break.

The plan almost succeeded. West led the queen of hearts which South ruffed. After ruffing a spade in dummy, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and played a club to the king.

If West had followed suit, South would have made twelve tricks, but West ruffed the club and led a spade to partner's ace. East returned a club and South went down 800.

So the outcome was that the two North - South pairs were respectively minus 790 and 800 points in a hand where they could have scored 2,140 points for a grand slam in clubs.
