"SERVICE" is a "LONG" Word

Red Cross Ranks High In The Field Of Local Service

In any campaign for funds, our Islanders are naturally interested in the work being performed in our own Province. The Red Cross ranks at the top in the field of local service, due to the donations of funds and services by our fellow Islanders.

During the past year the work was continued in establishing First Aid Posts throughout the Province and now there are 33 in operation. During the year over 200 injuries were treated at these Posts, and in addition 38 First Aid instructors were qualified, who taught the rudiments of First Aid to 486 pupils in the schools. The object of this department is to impress on all the importance of accident prevention and the necessity of having at least one qualified First Aider in every home.

Swimming and water safety is another important project which provided instruction for 2,426 pupils in 28 centers, with many lives being saved through a knowledge of water safety.

Sixteen loan cupboards are now in operation from which 526 articles of sickroom supplies such as hospital beds, wheelchairs, crutches, air-cushions, etc., were loaned in 1950. Instruction was given in home nursing to 105 individuals in seven classes.

Over 2550 of our fellow citizens gave themselves and their "fellow Islanders" a credit for life by being blood donors and providing that life-giving fluid for the 2400 transfusions given free-of-charge last year. Even more blood donors will be required during the present year to supply not only the demands of our civilian population but for the use of the armed forces.

Other services provided in co-operation with the Red Cross are: (1) Junior Red Cross which teaches our children health, service and citizenship in 85% of our schools. (2) The 387 crippled or otherwise handicapped children who received treatment during 1950. (3) The Homemakers Service, active in Charlottetown and Summerside, which provided 1,072 days services to 106 families where the mother was sick in 1950. (4) The Women's Work done by so many members of Women's Institutes and other organizations throughout the Province who made up (with materials provided by Red Cross funds which you subscribed) over 5,000 garments for distribution to Red Cross overseas to the destitute in the war-devastated areas, and for local necessities. (5) The three services to veterans in hospitals: (a) instruction in arts and crafts, (b) entertainment through weekly film shows and (c) regular hospital visits made by members of Red Cross Corps in Charlottetown who take treats of cigarettes, magazines and games to the veterans. (6) The Disaster Services which are ready to take over the emergency care of victims of disasters.

Give your support to the Red Cross canvasser when he calls for the donation to help our Province reach its objective of $33,000, 000 funds needed to carry on this great work.

C.B. OF C. CONDITIONS - Industrial production in Canada has surpassed the levels established in World War II, says the current issue of The Canadian Bank of Commerce Monthly Commercial Letter. This is indicative, in the main, of the large capital development programme that has taken place in the past five years. The increase in production over the year is reflected in the upward movement of all the other indexes included in the Economic Indicators table. The Bank's index of industrial activity for January was 172 (1937 equals 100) compared with 173 a month previous and 160 in January 1950.

COMMENDS MAIL CARRIER - A correspondent writing about the work of the rural mail carriers highly commends the work of Mr. Frank Mitchell, New Westshore, whose record, he believes, is second to none. The correspondent points out that Mr. Mitchell has delivered mail continuously from the New Westshore post office since 1911. At that time he served two other smaller post offices and travelled an additional 17 miles daily. Since then he has three additional short deliveries and makes a 21-mile trip daily. In the 38 years he has travelled approximately 300,000 miles over which he has always driven a horse, as being reared on the farm he preferred the horse to a car.

He paid tribute to and expressed sympathy to the families of the following: Hon. H. Cox, Hon. J. F. Wheat, Hon. Horace Wright, Hon. Murdoch Kennedy, Hon. H. F. vincial rights under Confederation, and to adequately present Provincial claims at Ottawa. Mr. Darby said that in the Dominion-Provincial tax agreement, and also in the Act, it was specifically stated that the Province has not surrendered any of its statutory rights or subsidies. "It appears three times in the agreement, which is as far as this Government could go in protecting the rights of this Province," he said.

With regard to the railway tie-up during the railway strike, it was generally hoped and believed that the strike would be averted. When it came, the Province has not surrendered any of its statutory rights or subsidies. "It appears three times in the agreement, which is as far as this Government could go in protecting the rights of this Province," he said.

It is quite true that under the terms of Confederation we were guaranteed continuous communication," Mr. Darby said. "We emphasized this point very strongly. But if the Government of Canada, with all the powers behind it and all the resources at its disposal, bring to bear was unable to prevent that situation, I don't think that the Government of this Province can be criticised because we failed to do so. We made every effort possible to keep the boat running."

Mr. Darby also referred to the presentation of P. E. Island claims made both in Charlottetown and at Ottawa. He said that the Commission on Transportation, The Island brief was tabled at the last session of the Legislature, and he had been informed that even the chairman of the Commission had stated that the presentation of this Province was the best made by any Province in Canada.

He also reviewed the presentations made at two constitutional conferences. At the first conference the Island spokesmen insisted that the rights of this Province to representation in the Commons based on the Senate representation cannot be changed without the consent of the Province. Another matter concerned the rights of the Province under the order-in-council bringing us into Confederation, which also, it was insisted, cannot be changed except by agreement between this Province and the Dominion.

"We are willing to stand or fall on our record in protecting our statutory rights," Mr. Darby added. "We have pressed for larger subsidies, and also for the elimination of the nuisance charges against us."

To the charge of extravagance, made in the Opposition amendment, Mr. Darby countered by stating that when the Estimates were brought down last session the Opposition had been challenged to point to one item where there had wasteful expenditures, and they could not do so.

HEALTH MINISTER (Continued from page 1) nurses diplomas," Mr. Matheson said. "If that is the case, we must have something else to take care of the situation. The educational requirements are high today and there are so many changes, and so many demands not only in other parts of Canada but in the United States, for registered nurses from this Province."

Asked by Dr. MacMillan if the proposed plans for mentally retarded children would deal also with delinquents, Mr. Matheson replied in the negative. Mental Treatment Centre In paying tribute to the late Dr. Keeping, Mr. Matheson said the work inaugurated by the first Provincial Minister of Health (Hon. Dr. MacMillan) and Dr. Keeping was something this Province could be justly proud of.

He reviewed briefly the latest developments in this department, and invited the members to visit the various treatment centre now under construction at Falconwood. This building will run into a large sum of money—possibly half a million dollars—and the members should see it for themselves.

He also invited all the members to visit the new Health Centre on Prince Street. This also was a "cost plus" contract, because a firm bid could not be obtained. The Dominion contribution has not yet been received, the idea being that when the laboratory section which was used in the Sanatorium had been moved to the Health building, extra space would be made available in the Sanatorium for beds. There are at present enough beds in the Sanatorium, however, and it may not be necessary to install additional ones. There may even be vacant beds next summer.

Other patients have been taken in Mr. Matheson said; but there are no locks on the doors and they come and go at pleasure. "We give possibly a little too much freedom to the individual in this regard," he said. There are, still a few beds required for some patients, but he did not believe the Government would be justified in spending the extra $40,000 or $50,000 on Ottawa on this account.

"That is why we have not asked yet for this money," he explained.

Ladies' Aid P.E.I. Hospital Annual Meeting Held

With an attendance of thirty-seven members, the combined monthly and annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital was held at the Cundall Home on Monday, March 5th.

The President, Mrs. Gordon Avard, presided and opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The Hon. President, Mrs. J. Walker Jones, was extended a welcome by the President; also Miss Ethel MacNutt, a new member.

A motion was read by the Secretary changing the date of the ending of the year from May 31st to December 31st to coincide with the Hospital Board year. This motion was unanimously adopted. The minutes of the previous monthly and annual meetings were read by the secretary and adopted. The treasurer then gave her monthly report which showed a balance of $1,091.36 with outstanding cheques amounting to $144.50. A bill of $12.52 was presented for payment and authorized to be paid.

A letter was read from the Buyers Benefit Club by the Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. N.H. DeBlouis and Mrs. W.E. Cotton were appointed to contact former Aid members and solicit their support in donating knitted articles for the Gift Cabinet at the Hospital.

Mrs. W.E. Cotton of the Buying Committee reported that two hundred yards of material were required for pneumonia jackets. The President spoke about Tag Day to be held on Easter Saturday and Mrs. George Buntain, the convener, asked for the support of the Aid members.

The annual reports were then read. The President in her report covered the activities of the Aid from May 1st, 1950 to December 30, 1950. She stated that the success of the Aid depends on the enthusiasm of each member and their loyal support to all the projects undertaken. In May, the Nurses' Graduation was sponsored by the Aid; in June an afternoon tea was held at the Cundall Home for former members; a rummage sale was held in October and Christmas decorations were provided for the patients.

The Treasurer in her annual report showed a substantial balance as of December 31st, 1950. Mrs. Cotton read a list of goods purchased by the Buying Committee, which included blankets, vases, floor lamps, bed spreads etc. for use at the Hospital and Cundall Home.

The annual report of the Ways and Means Committee was presented by Mrs. A.B. Bagnall, the convener. On motion of adjournment tea was served by Mrs. Milton Carter, Mrs. Frank Stewart and Mrs. Cyril MacGregor.

"We must put in additional beds if we do that. We did put in some additional beds for polio patients. We will have no more than fifteen, I hope; fewer than they were before."

The Minister noted that the death rate from tuberculosis was slightly higher than last year, but it will definitely be under the 30 per 100,000 mark. "When we can continue for two years on this basis, it is a very fine record indeed," he said.

He went on to describe in detail the outstanding features of the new Health Centre, including the combined laboratories which are the first of their kind in Canada, the new system of photographing records for the vital statistics office, and other facilities.

Ordination Of Mr. W. G. Hogg At Service Yesterday

The ordination of Mr. W. G. Hogg to the Deaconate took place yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Many members of the congregation were in attendance to hear the service, which opened with Matins being said by Rev. S. J. Armstrong, rector of St. John's Church, Craepaud.

This was followed by a sermon by the Rev. A. Piercey, Milton, who spoke on the duties of the Deaconate and the part Mr. Hogg had taken in the life and work of the Church in Prince Edward Island, and in particular the work of St. Peter's Cathedral. He also mentioned the splendid contribution made by Mr. Hogg to the Sunday School.

Mr. Hogg was then presented by the Venerable G. R. Harrison, B. D., Archdeacon of P. E. I., to the Lord Bishop for ordination. The candidate was commended to the congregation for their prayers by the Bishop, and the litany was sung by Rev. Canon E.M. Malouf. The office of Holy Communion was entered upon, the celebrant being the Right Rev. H.R. Waterman, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, attended by the Rev. L.A. Dignan as chaplain.

After the Epistle was read by the Rev. J. T. Ibbott, rector of St. Paul's, the Bishop was escorted to his chair at the Chancel steps and the actual ordination of Mr. Hogg took place. The newly ordained Deacon then read the Gospel, after which the Communion service continued, the only communicants being the clergy and the members of Mr. Hogg's immediate family. At the end of the service the congregation gathered in the guild room where a letter, signed by the Incumbent and the Church Wardens on behalf of the congregation, and containing a cheque, was presented by the Bishop to the Rev. W. G. Hogg with a request that he make use of the contents in the purchasing of a cassock to be used in the pursuance of his duties.

Later in the day the Bishop, clergy and a few guests were entertained at luncheon at the Charlottetown Hotel by the Rev. W. G. and Mrs. Hogg. Mr. Hogg was a choir boy when nine years of age and after confirmation served at the altar in the Cathedral. He was appointed Sacristan when 17 years old and served until 1908 when he left the Province for Truro, N.S.

On his return to Charlottetown he rejoined the choir and assisted in presenting when the precursor was absent, finally taking over the duties of precursor. Later he was secretary of the Cathedral Wardens and chairman of the Cemetery Committee. He was superintendent of the Sunday School for four years and president of the Bible Society for five. He was also trustee of St. Peter's prior to the change to the vestry system, and in 1927 was licensed by Bishop Worrell as Layreader.
