NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

THE SITUATION.

From the Daily Patriot.
LONDON, April 27.
It is reported that a powerful iron-clad squadron will be immediately prepared for service in the Baltic.

The whole of the military staff and all the non-commissioned officers at Aldershot have received stringent orders from the War Office to hold themselves in readiness for active service immediately.

It is reported, in addition to this, that the principal officers of the British Army have received very important secret instructions for certain contingencies.

The second English army corps is now being raised.

The Sarvian authorities have received strict orders from the Government to prevent the Russians from recruiting on any of the recently annexed territory.

The insurrection in Thessaly has been completely crushed.

A combined council of the Austrian and Hungarian ministers was held to-day for the purpose of considering the employment of a credit of sixty million florins, and the occupation of Bosnia in case of certain contingencies arising.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27.
The Turkish army is being rapidly organized, and is becoming the main factor to be reckoned with in the withdrawal of the question, as the Turkish ministry will probably decline to pledge itself to permit the return of the English fleet and the Russian troops if they are once withdrawn from Constantinople.

Seditious meetings are held nightly, and a popular rising is feared.

The extreme Mussulman party have asked the Shareef of Mecca and the Muftis of Tunis and Morocco whether Turkey should join England in the event of an Anglo-Russian war. Both the Muftis replied in the affirmative, and the Shareef has promised to submit the question to the Council in the event of hostilities.

The Mussulman insurgents are approaching Phillippopolis and are driving the Bulgarians before them.

"Russell House," Ottawa.

THE "Russell House," at Ottawa, is one of the institutions of the country, in the Parliamentary session. It is owned and run by Mr. Gouin, with a staff of assistants who, contrary to the practice in American hotels, appear to be desirous of being obliging even to a perfect stranger. The rooms are many, and, in the new part, particularly, very bright and cheerful; the view from the windows including all the thoroughfares between upper town and lower town. The table is excellent, and served with a promptness which pervades nearly all the "services" at Ottawa. And the charges are moderate. The conveniences of the hotel include a barber's shop, a tobacconist's shop and a druggist's shop, all in the same building and accessible from the inside. During the session one meets everybody at the Russell House. A considerable number of members always board at the Russell, and many who have not rooms there, yet take their meals at the capital table of the house. Balls and dinners are given there with great success; and the proprietor spares no trouble in making his establishment the pleasantest in the country. It is at the Russell that all the fun goes on; members and strangers meet at the Russell for all sorts of appointments; the Russell is the centre of all the gossip; the Russell parlor is the resort of those who have ladies with them; in fact the Russell is the only pleasant place for persons residing at Ottawa for a month or two. The proprietor is always willing to make the most reasonable arrangements with parties who intend remaining for the session, or for any considerable period. During the present session the house has been full nearly all the time.—Hc. Herald.

The Goff Slender.

MONTREAL, April 22.—E. H. Goff, of Canada Agricultural Insurance Company notoriety, was arrested this morning by the Deputy High Constable, on three charges preferred by Mr. Fish, one of the Trustees of the above Company. Goff was taken to the police office and locked in the cell for nearly two hours while the city was scoured to find bail. Messrs. Alfred Perry & Leath, assignee, were offered, but the Police Magistrate refused them. Finally Perry and Charles Berger were accepted in $400 each, and Goff in $1,200 on each of the three counts. Another warrant has been issued for the arrest of Goff at the instance of G. H. Dumesnil, who charges that Goff forged in the minutes of the Board of Directors of the Canada Agricultural Insurance Company the following resolution:—

"Resolved, That inasmuch as the Company is indebted to Edward H. Goff, in the amount of $22,700, he is hereby authorized to make a draft on the Company to the amount of said claim, and that Goff uttered the same fraudulently and feloniously, with intent to defraud, knowing it to be false."
Ex-Solicitor-General Baker and his law partner, Mr. Buchanan, arrived in town this morning, and proceeded to the police office, where a deposition was at once sworn to by the Ex-Solicitor, charging James G. Stewart, managing director of the Herald, with unlawfully conspiring and combining with E. H. Goff, hitherto of parts unknown, to publish a false, wicked, malicious and defamatory libel concerning him, thereby to injure and destroy his credit, fame and reputation, and in furtherance of said combination and conspiracy they combined and conspired to publish the said letter, which was published in the Herald of the 21st inst. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Messrs. Stewart and Goff upon the last deposition. Mr. Baker denies the charge made against him by Goff in the most positive manner, and states he will leave nothing undone to have the matter fully exposed. Detectives are now searching for Goff on this latter charge, but to the present without success.

General News.

Mrs. Tilton is now reported insane.

A Chicago man named his twins Adam and Eve.

Man proposes, but—he is not always accepted.

Wheat in large quantities is being shipped from Manitoba to England.

Some disturbances have occurred at some small towns in Catalonia, Spain.

Sir John McDonald has been once more nominated by the Conservatives as their candidate for Kingston.

The city of Boston expects to save $20,000 a year by a recent reduction in the price of gas used in lighting the streets.

The distress is so great on the Coast of Labrador that it is feared that if aid is not forthcoming numbers must die of starvation.

The photograph is like the small brother of a young lady. It will repeat everything said in its presence without regard to blushes.

Two hundred horses per week are being purchased for the English Government in Northeastern New York and in Western Vermont.

"If fish are wicked enough to bite on Sunday," says the moralists of the St. Louis "Journal," "they ought to be made to suffer for it."

The Roman Catholic Church in the United States has one cardinal, 11 archbishops, 54 bishops, 5,548 priests, 5,634 churches, 1,777 chapels and stations, 21 theological seminaries, 1,121 ecclesiastical students, 74 colleges, 519 academic and select schools, 2,130 parish schools, 248 asylums, and 102 hospitals. The number of priests was increased during the past year by 221, and that of churches by 332. The number of Roman Catholic missionaries and teachers among the Indian tribes in the United States is 117.

The Nouveau Monde, commenting on the vote of the Senate on the constitutional question in Quebec, points out that the Senate is a more judicial body than the House of Commons, and says the large vote by which M. Letellier's culpable conduct was condemned destroys the pernicious effect of the vote in the Commons. "Certainly," adds that journal, "the blow is a hard one, coming from a Chamber of which M. Letellier was a member from Confederation until he was raised to his present position, and if tyrannical passion has not robbed him of all sensibility, he must feel keenly so striking a condemnation of his political crime."

The deeds of brutality attributed to some beings of human form in this world are scarcely credible. The following paragraph, from the New York Sun, gives an instance of parental cruelty that would degrade the brute creation: "Officer Chiardi, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, appeared before Justice Duffy with an Italian, who called himself Luigi Carigini, of 14 Baxter Street. The man, who had been begging, was accompanied by a girl of eight summers, who was totally blind, and carried a tambourine, which she used as a receptacle for the alms offered her. The girl's eyes looked as though they had been destroyed by a white heat. Officer Chiardi says that the process is one of burning or destroying the sight by means of a red hot poker, moved up and down many times while the children are young. This effectually destroys the sight, and fits them for becoming blind beggars."

The palm for grand enterprise must be awarded to the genius of France. M. de Lesseps, who built the Suez Canal after years of discouraging struggles, and jealous opposition from European Cabinets; Frenchmen have urged on the sinking of the tunnel under the British Channel, to a commencement, and now a Frenchman, M. Paul Souleillet, has broached the project of building a railroad across the desert of Sahara to Timbuctoo, and beyond. He considers the work quite feasible, and that the road would prove a paying institution. In a paper read before the Society of Civil Engineers at Paris, he estimated the cost at about eight hundred millions of francs. The common notion of the Sahara, he said, was wholly erroneous; the climate was healthful and the soil good; in the days of the Carthaginians it was peopled and cultivated. In short, his proposed road, besides opening new markets for French wares and carrying civilization on wheels into the very heart of Africa, would result immediately in the reclamation of a fertile region as large as the whole of Europe, with Russia left out. This alone would pay the interest on the eight hundred millions.
