study the Newfoundland trade. Messrs. Woodrow Wheatley and Earl Ings were appointed to the committee and four other members will be named by the directors.

Mr. W. R. Shaw told the members that they should not be satisfied until every farmer in the Province becomes a member of the Federation. He stated that there never was a time in the history of agriculture that the people should stick together like they should at present.

Chief Problem Mr. Louis O'Connor stated that the chief problem of the directors is to get 1950 cash members to renew their membership fees and to get new members. He stated that the districts would have to be canvassed because a big membership was needed in order to keep the Federation in operation.

Mr. Earl Ings stated that the aim of the Federation was to get the farmers just rights in the economy of Canada. "There is only one thing to do and that is to be strong enough to sit around the table and work out our plans with the powers that be," he stated.

Mr. Lincoln Dewar said that the Canadian Federation of Agriculture was attempting to have all the farm people of Canada look on their problems in a national light. He suggested that farmers should have their names printed on their mail boxes and advertise themselves the same way as business firms.

Defy Court's Proposal

ABADAN, Iran, July 6 — (AP) —Iranians in this great refinery centre today defied the Hague court's proposal for oil mediation with demonstrations and a full-dress parade by goose-stepping government troops.

Crowds jammed the line of march and shrieked approval as Sherman tanks, armored cars and motorized artillery rolled past with most of their old United States markings still showing. Almost the whole 10th division which guards the Khuzistan oil fields paraded.

While the crowds gathered here and in Tehran, Iran went ahead with plans for taking charge of the British Government-controlled oil property.

The Iranian Government turned down yesterday the court recommendation that Iran suspend its nationalization law and let a temporary five-man board supervise the A.I.O.C. holdings. Iran contends the world court does not have jurisdiction in the dispute.

In London, the British Government — 53-per-cent owner of the billion-dollar company — officially accepted the Hague recommendation and said it is approaching Iran at once "with a view to setting up the board of supervision."

Jury Finds Verdict Of Accidental Drowning

A verdict that George Birt came to his death by accidental drowning when his truck left the highway on the morning of the 28th of June last at 3 a.m. at Pisquid Bridge, was reached by a coroner's jury last night as the adjourned inquest was resumed before Coroner Dr. J. D. McGuigan in the Court House.

The jury, through its foreman, made a strong recommendation that the Government do something to mend the bridge which they termed unsafe for travelling. They added that it was in a very dangerous and disgraceful condition. The foreman stated the posts could be pulled loose by hand and that something should be done immediately before another accident happens.

The first witness was Robert Leard, Pisquid, who testified that he had attended a dance with the deceased on the night of June 27. They had each driven their own truck that evening and after the dance they went to Burke's store in Pisquid. With two girl friends they drove in Leard's truck as they took Mildred Coffin, Birt's companion, to her home. When they returned to the store Birt got into his own truck and drove away. The witness stated it was about 2 a.m. then George Birt had not been drinking, he said, and appeared perfectly normal. Although it was a dark night there was no rain and visibility was as good as usual.

Other Witnesses Shirley Coffin, Pisquid, testified that the deceased had been at her home early in the evening and drove her to the store. He had said he wanted to see her later. She afterwards saw him at the dance. She went home and George Birt came to her house about 2 a.m. They talked until 2:45 when he left apparently going home. She later saw his truck coming back along the road past her home and watched it. She saw it go down the hill towards Pisquid Bridge and then its lights went out and she heard a crash. With a companion she drove back to the store and told the proprietor what they thought had happened.

Bruce Affleck, Mt. Stewart, said he had driven to Pisquid for Miss Coffin earlier that evening and they had returned to Mt. Stewart for a couple of hours. They went back to Pisquid and went to the dance. After it was over they were sitting in his truck in Miss Coffin's place when George Birt drove up. Miss Coffin talked to him and he drove away. Miss Coffin got into his truck again but got out in a few minutes to watch Birt's truck coming back along the road. She had told him she saw the lights go out and had heard a crash so they went to Burke's store and told Mr. Bruke.

Damage At Bridge Witness and the storekeeper then drove to George Birt's home to see if his truck was there. When they found it missing they went back to the bridge and looked around. They could see nothing so got a flashlight and looked again. Witness noticed a telephone pole broken and also two of the bridge approach posts as well as part of the span damaged.

Miss Coffin when recalled to the stand said she had gotten out of Mr. Affleck's truck when she saw that of the deceased returning because she was curious as to where he would be going at that hour of the night.

Daniel Birt, father of the victim, said he last saw his son alive at 7 p.m. before they went out. He said he was going to the dance. His wife had said that she thought she had heard their son come home, into the kitchen, and then drive away again in the truck. Mr. Birt said the bridge was a trap and "not a soul who ever crossed it is satisfied with it."

Police Evidence Cpl. W. H. Warner, R.C.M.P., testified that in company with other members of the detachment he had gone to Pisquid as a result of a telephone call. They got there about 6 a.m. and a man with a rope said he had a truck hooked. They tried to pull it out of the river but the cable snapped. They hooked it again and with a large number of men on the rope managed to pull it out to the shore at 8:40 a.m. There was no body in it. The ignition was on and the truck was in gear; the light switch was on and everything in working order. Both windows were broken as was the right windshield and the right-hand door was open.

They got grapples and three men in a boat finally located the body 50 yards south of the bridge in 18 feet of water. The body was recovered at 10:52 a.m. In describing the territory Cpl. Warner said the road narrowed from a width of 21 feet to 18 feet as it neared the bridge which was only 12 feet 7 inches wide. It has a railing two and one-half feet high on each side. In answer to a question by the jury he said the bridge was passable but the approach was rough and he felt it should be fixed.

Elmer Coffin, Mt. Stewart, testified that he had been in the row-boat holding the grappling hooks when the body was recovered.

ST. ANN'S LOT 65 C. W. L.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Ann's Lot 65, Sub-division of the C. W. L. was held recently with a good attendance of members. The meeting opened with prayer by Reverend Director Father MacCormac. The President occupied the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary and adopted as read. The Treasurer then gave her report. Correspondence was read and discussed. Arrangements were completed for sponsoring a Wedding Breakfast and reception for a young couple from Holland, who are getting married and settling in the vicinity for the time being.

It was decided to have a show and sale of candy in the hall at some future date, each member to make up two pounds of sugar into candy. It was also decided that each person bring an article for the Bazaar to be held in connection with the picnic.

Father MacCormac thanked the members for attending to the wedding arrangements for the young couple from Holland. He asked that all the members get into the spirit of the C. W. L. motto of which is, "For God and Canada." He also asked that each member bring along to the meetings her ideas of ways and means of making our unit a better sub-division.
