

THE WAR-TRAIL!

I had no time to reflect—not a moment. I drew the animal from the water, and leaping upon his back, rode out of the channel.

As I regained the level of the plain, I saw mounted men—a crowd of them coming—from the camp. They were savages in pursuit. One was far ahead of the rest, and before I could turn my horse to flee he was close up to me.

In the moonlight I easily recognized him—it was Hissoo-zozo, the renegade.

"Slave!" shouted he, speaking in the Comanche tongue, and with furious emphasis, "it is you who have planned this. Squaw! coward! you shall die. This white captive is mine—mine Wakono! and you!"

He did not finish the sentence. I still carried the Comanche spear. My six months' service in the lance regiment now stood me in good stead—the mustang behaved hand omely and carried me full tilt upon my foe.

In another instant the renegade and his horse were parted, the former lay levelled upon the grass, transfixed with the long spear, while the latter was galloping riderless over the plain!

At this crisis I perceived the crowd coming up, and close to the spot. There were twenty or more, and I saw that I should soon be surrounded.

A happy idea came opportunely to my relief. All along I perceived that I was mistaken for Wakono. The Indian in the camp had cried "Wakono!" The horse guard shout "Wakono!" as I passed; the pursuers were calling "Wakono!" as they rode up; the renegade had fallen with the name upon his lips—the spotted horse, the robe of Jaguar skins, the plumed head-dress, the red hand, the white cross, all proclaimed me Wakono.

I urged my horse forward, and reined up in front of the pursuers. I raised my arm, and shook it in menace before their faces. At the same instant I cried out in a loud voice:

"I am Wakono!—Death to him who follows!" I spoke in Comanche. I was not so sure of the correctness of my words, either of the orthography or syntax, but I had the gratification to perceive that I was understood. Perhaps my gestures helped the savages to comprehend me—the meaning of them was not to be mistaken.

From whatever cause, the pursuers made no further advance, but one and all, drawing in their horses, halted upon the spot.

I stayed not for further parley, but wheeling quickly around, galloped off as fast as the mustang could carry me.

CHAPTER C. THE LAST GALLOP.

On facing towards the hill, I perceived the steed still so distant His white body gleaming under the clear moonlight, could have been easily distinguished at a far greater distance.

I had expected to see him much further away; but after all, the tilt of the lances, and the menace delivered to the pursuing horsemen, had scarce occupied a score of seconds, and he could not in the time have gone out of sight.

He was still running between myself and the foot of the hill, apparently keeping along the bank of the stream.

I put the Indian horse to his full speed. The point of my knife served for whip and spur. I was no longer encumbered with the spear. It had been left in the body of Hissoo-zozo.

I kept my eyes fixed upon the steed, but he was fast closing into the timber that shielded the base of the hill. He was nearing the bend where I had taken the water, and would soon be hidden from my view.

All at once I saw him behind the bushes, swerve and strike to the left across the open plain. To my surprise I saw this, for I had conjectured that his rider was aiming for the cover offered by the thicket.

Without waiting to think of an explanation, I headed the mustang into the diagonal line, and galloped forward.

I was in hopes of getting nearer by the advantage thus given me, but I was ill-satisfied with the creeping pace of the Indian horse—so unlike the long free stretch of my noble Moro. Where was here? Why was I not bestriding him?

The white steed soon shot clear of the hill, and was running upon the plain that stretched beyond it. I saw that I was not gaining upon him; on the contrary, he was every moment widening the distance between us. Where was Moro? Why had been taken away?

SEED POTATOES.

WE have received per ship "Rosencath," from Glasgow, Scotland, 550 bushels "Regents," an early potato, similar to our "Early Rose," but dryer and much better flavored. A certain party in Dartmouth planted a half bushel of this kind last year and got a yield of thirty bushels of choice potatoes.

183 bushels "Victorious," an excellent potato for family use during the winter and spring.

189 bushels "Champions," good for family use or for stock.

The above mentioned potatoes are recognized by all who know to be the best varieties of potatoes grown in Scotland and Ireland, and we feel confident in saying, from all that we could learn from their past history, while there last winter, as well as from using them, that parties planting them here will realize most handsome profits from their investment, on account of the extra yield they will get, the price they will command, and the fact that they will not rot or blight.

Those potatoes have been in the ship for forty days and come out perfectly sound and in splendid growing condition, which of itself should be a sufficient guarantee of their keeping qualities.

Every farmer should plant some of them. Price at store or put free on cars, $2 25 per bushel.

A. GUNN & CO., 253 and 255 Barrington Street, Halifax, May 5, 1882.

THE above Seed Potatoes are for sale at the store of F. LEPAGE & Co., 53 Queen Street. [May 16]

SALE OF Valuable Property

CHARLOTTETOWN ROYALTY.

THERE will be offered for sale by PUBLIC AUCTION, on THURSDAY, the 22nd day of June next, 1882, on the premises in Charlottetown, Royalty, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon,—

ALL that tract, piece and parcel of land bounded as follows, that is to say: Commencing at a square stake fixed at the south east angle of Pasture Lot Number Forty-two, lately the property of Hammond Johnson, now deceased, on the West Edge of a Royalty Road; thence by a right angle line with said Road westwardly for the distance of twenty chains or until it strikes the line dividing Pasture Lot Number Thirty-four from Pasture Lot Number Thirty-three; thence by a right angle line therewith southwardly for the distance of twelve chains, until it meets the north boundary of Pasture Lot Number Nineteen; thence along the same easterly for the distance of live chains and fifteen links, or until it meets the line dividing the property of the said Honorable James College Pope and that of Richard Heartz, Esquire; thence along the same southwardly six chains; thence by a right angle therewith easterly for the distance of fourteen chains and eighty-five links to the said Royalty Road; thence following the course of said Royalty Road northwardly for the distance of eighteen chains to the place of commencement, containing thirty-three acres, one rood and twenty-two perches of land, a little more or less, including a right of way of twenty feet along the north boundary of Pasture Lot Number Thirty-four, in the Royalty of Charlottetown, save and except such portion thereof as has been appropriated for the Prince Edward Island Railway as appears by the plan annexed to the Mortgage hereinafter referred to.

The above land will be sold pursuant to a Power of Sale contained in an Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the 28th day of December, A. D. 1876, and made between the Honorable James College Pope, of Ravenwood, in Charlottetown Royalty, of the one part, and the Trustees under the Marriage Settlement of Robert Bruce Stewart, Esquire, of the other part.

The above land shall be sold either as a whole or in parcels, as the Trustees may at the time of sale stipulate. If the said land, or any part thereof, should not be sold by Public Auction, on the day above mentioned, then the Trustees will sell the same after such day, by private contract.

Terms and conditions of sale made known at time of sale. Dated at Charlottetown, this 12th day of April, A. D. 1882.

LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY

ANALYTICAL SANITARY INSTITUTION 54, HOLBORN-VIA-DUCT, E. C., LONDON, AGE 8, 79. REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY: "We have visited the bottling stores of Greenleah Brothers, and have selected from the vast supplies of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fine, fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
