WEEK AT S.D.U.

time. Accompanying John as he went about his officious duties was a select guard of decked out in what appeared to be outmoded uniforms from Moscow's military. In the company were: James Noonan, a resurrection of some long-defunct style of admiralty; Bernard Walsh and T.V. Grant in roles that looked like a hybrid of a New York policeman and a plow-boy-turned-soldier from the Tundra.

During this ceremonious display that was conducted with all the pomp and circumstance that the decrees of custom and the military are wont to expend in such circumstances, a sizable assemblage of students gathered on the "Parade Square" having been either driven or drawn from their lodgings by the incessant blare of the loudspeaker that was interpreting and amplifying the proceedings. The sound apparatus was, by the way, ceremoniously christened at the outset of the campaign — but of course, Station C.O.N.R.A.N.

When the results were announced just before supper last Monday night, it was learned that Conran had scored 122 votes and Burns was right in his wake with the remaining 120 counts. A bare two votes had decided the contest, and this is undoubtedly what prompted several persons to say, "we did hear them say, 'He won it on my vote.'"

ROCKEY

Since we have heard some complaint that this column has grown ice-shy, we will attempt a recap of the hockey events that have transpired since the beginning of the Senior B Championship playoffs between the Saints and the Parkdale Flyers. In the see-saw battle that was waged for the crown, the Saints dropped the first two games when the score did some precarious things before deciding to topple to the side of the Flyers.

In both of these games, it was the last judge that decided the winner, the first one in overtime. The third bout of the best-of-seven series pulled the Saints out of the hole when they netted the final marker to give the squad a 6-5 edge. This victory hauled the team up by the garters and saved them from an impending 3-0 series standing. The next joust, however, rocked the plank to the other side again to give the Flyers a 3-1 lead in the series.
