Proclamation Text Issued By Rhodesia

SALISBURY (AP) - Text of a proclamation read Thursday by Prime Minister Ian Smith in a radio address to the Rhodesian people in declaring independence: Whereas in the course of human affairs history has shown that it may become necessary for a people to resolve the political affiliations which have connected them with another people and to assume amongst other nations the separate and equal status to which they are entitled: And whereas in such event a respect for the opinions of mankind requires them to declare to other nations the causes which impel them to assume full responsibility for their own affairs; Now therefore, we, the government of Rhodesia, do hereby declare: That it is an indisputable and accepted historic fact that since 1923 the government of Rhodesia have exercised the powers of self-government and have been responsible for the progress, development and welfare of their people; That the people of Rhodesia, having demonstrated their loyalty to the Crown and to their kith and kin in the United Kingdom and elsewhere through two world wars, and having been prepared to shed their blood and give up their substance in what they believed to be the mutual interests of freedom-loving people, now see all that they have cherished about to be shattered on the rocks of expediency. That the people of Rhodesia have witnessed a process which is destructive of those very precepts upon which civilization in a primitive country has been built; they have seen the principles of Western democracy, responsible government and moral standards crumble elsewhere; nevertheless they have remained steadfast: That the people of Rhodesia fully support the requests of their government for sovereign independence but have witnessed the consistent refusal of the government of the United Kingdom to accede to their entreaties: That the government of the United Kingdom have thus demonstrated they are not prepared to grant sovereign independence to Rhodesia on terms acceptable to the people of Rhodesia, thereby persisting in maintaining an unwarrantable jurisdiction over Rhodesia, obstructing laws, and treaties with other states and the conduct of affairs with other nations and refusing assent to laws necessary for the public good; All this to the detriment of the further peace prosperity and good government of Rhodesia: That the government of Rhodesia have for a long period patiently and in good faith negotiated with the government of the United Kingdom for the removal of the remaining limitations placed upon them and for the grant of sovereign independence: That in the belief that procrastination and delay strike at and injure the very life of the nation the government of Rhodesia consider it essential that Rhodesia should attain, without delay, sovereign independence.

Fulton Wins His Old Seat KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) - Dave Fulton, who won back the seat he held for 17 years, said he looks forward to "doing my job by the Kamloops riding." Mr. Fulton, who has been widely rumored as a possible successor to John Diefenbaker as leader of the Progressive Conservatives, quit federal politics in 1962 to become leader of the B.C. party. He was defeated by Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi in Kamloops in the last provincial election, in which no Conservatives were elected.
