Green Royalty Jeered As Fascist wine'

LONDON (AP)—Demonstrators shouted "fascist wine" at King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece and mocked them with the Nazi cry of "Sieg heil" outside a London theatre Wednesday night.

The presence of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip escorting the royal Greek visitors did not soften the chorus of hisses and boos.

The royal party was booed both on arrival and when it left the theatre after a gala performance. The demonstrators did not try to break through police cordons. There was also scattered cheering from the crowd.

Inside the theatre there were no incidents.

The British news looked as if it was not so good as the demonstrators' shouting.

WILL SPECIFY FUND

High John Fleming (P.C., Victoria-Caledon), former forestry minister who led the opposition attack on the bill, put forward a rather glibly proposed amendment to specify that the Atlantic Development Board would have "no less than" $100,000.

He said the government could have followed the precedent of the former conservative government when it replaced the Federal District Commission with the National Capital Commission and "just fired everybody" on the P.C.

The present five board members were all eligible for reappointment. But the board would have a $100,000 fund to spend and the government, with ultimate responsibility for the expenditures, was entitled to be satisfied that the board would be "in general harmony with the views of the government."

Biculturalism Study Sparks Some Doubts

OTTAWA (CP)—The governments of Alberta and Manitoba have raised doubts on major points in the federal government's proposal for a royal commission study of biculturalism and bilingualism.

Ontario welcomed the proposal in enthusiastic terms. The Commons was "informed" Wednesday by Prime Minister Pearson tabled letters from the provincial premiers.

Support also was given by Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan. Mr. Pearson has said he had a verbal go-ahead from Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

Quebec, in expressing its approval, held out for equal representation of French and English on the commission, a point which Mr. Pearson readily has said publicly will be accepted.

Prince Edward Island had a minor reservation that the commission's recommendations won't be binding on the province. This had been suggested by Mr. Pearson in his May 15 letter to the provincial premier, but proposed terms of reference for the inquiry.

DOUBT PRACTICAL VALUE

Premier Manning of Alberta said his Social Credit government is not opposed to such a study but called on the federal government to be more explicit as to the objectives. Without clarification, "we have serious doubts as to its advisability and practical value which all the objective," he said.

Mr. Manning said he would like to see some form of official recognition to a dual language and French culture, we suggest that this is unrealistic and impracticable and we doubt that it would meet with any widespread public acceptance."

On bilingualism, if the objective "is to encourage Canadian citizens to become fluent in two or more languages, certainly on the part of most Canadians this would be welcomed."

"If the purpose is to extend recognition of French as an official language in areas and spheres beyond those in which it is guaranteed official status at the time of confederation, we feel that it would not meet with general public acceptance and the consequences, in our opinion, would impair rather than help the Canadian unity."

Socreditor Disagrees With Manning's Views

OTTAWA (CP)—Gilles Grégoire (I.C.—Lapointe) called a "bitter" conference after the House of Commons adjourned Wednesday night to express "most profound disagreement" with Premier Manning's of Alberta over the federal government's proposed royal commission on biculturalism.

Manning's reaction to the federal proposal was cited in the Commons Wednesday by Premier Manning's ally, Mr. J. L. Burge, who said he had "contradicted" Mr. Manning's views completely—

Potato Acreage Shows Increase

A slight increase in the seed potato acreage is indicated here. It was learned surprisingly yesterday from Glen C. Ramsay, district inspector in charge of seed potato certification. Earlier statements from agricultural spokesmen had indicated an acreage drop this season.

Mr. Ramsay said "the potato crop in the province looks promising, early planted fields are making excellent growth and have reached the stage where spraying for late control of blight and insects should be commenced, as present weather conditions are very favourable for the development of late blight."

Inspection of fields entered will get underway on July 17, the district inspector said.

FEWER GROWERS

Comparative figures released by Mr. Ramsay indicate the number of growers is down slightly this year and the trend is to larger potato acreages by those who are staying in the business.

Total of 2,888 applications have been received this year compared to 2,383 a year ago. There are only 3,797 fields this year compared to 5,222 last season.

Only preliminary figures are available at present and they show 27,678 acres entered for inspection which compares with 28,357 acres at the same time a year ago. Final figures for last year were 28,357 acres and it is expected the final figures this year will also be up considerably.

Queens MP Says Worried Over Causeway Situation

By FARMER TINSINGTON
Capital Bureau, The Guardian

OTTAWA—Heath MacQuarrie, MP for Queens, said in the Commons Tuesday night that he was worried over the causeway situation.

The causeway situation is a matter of concern to the Government regarding the firm's commitment of former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to proceed with the building of the P.E.I. causeway.

"I have been looking forward to a firm statement being made in the House by a member of the government on the same lines as was made by the former prime minister. We shall feel a little easier about the allocation of this $100 million," MacQuarrie said, referring to the sum to be set aside for the causeway.

"I am not sure it is not enough to carry a century of neglect of the Maritime region. I hope we shall get something approaching a recognition that the course
