Canadian Works Preview Tonight

Two of the wealthiest men on Prince Edward Island today, but two of the happiest, must be Confederation Centre Art Director Moncrieff Williamson and his assistant, Jim Little.

Late yesterday, they completed the task of uncrating, hanging and arranging the 56 works of art that make up the "15 Canadian Artists" collection.

The new exhibition will be presented to the public with a preview showing tonight at 8:00 p.m. before commencement of a six-week run until Dec. 6. The ladies' committee of the gallery will be hostesses at a reception following tonight's preview.

Regarded as one of the most significant and controversial collections of contemporary Canadian art ever to be assembled, the "15 Canadian Artists Collection" will receive its only Canadian showing at the Centre Gallery after a coast to coast American tour.

The collection was originally distributed by the Museum of Modern Art of New York who described it as the first major exhibition of Canadian art organized for extensive circulation in the United States.

Paintings and sculpture were selected by the museum in collaboration with the Canada Council.

Mr. Williamson emphasized that the showing here was primarily designed for Islanders.

MR. WILLIAMSON

"We're very pleased indeed to be able to begin our winter program with such an important and thought-provoking exhibition," he said. "I fully expect that there will be lots of conversation in Island homes over the merits of the works they'll see in the gallery for the next six weeks."

"I think it's also ample evidence of the stature our gallery has reached that it alone in Canada will offer this collection to the public."

Parliament In Britain Meets Today

By CARL MOLLINS
LONDON (CP) — Parliament reassembles today in a self-conscious mood after a 12-week vacation. The doubtful future of this year-old Parliament is the uppermost issue in the minds of many members.

Prime Minister Wilson, whose Labour government clings to power by a three-vote majority in the 630-seat House of Commons, has said repeatedly that he plans to press on regardless.

But death, procedural accident, by-election setbacks or open revolt by Labour malcontents could undermine the intention to hold off a general election at least until next year.

Edward du Cann, chairman of the opposition Conservatives, made a warlike speech Sunday in which he pledged his party to a major attack on Labour's record in the resumed Parliament.

LABOR POPULAR

However, Labor leaders and many neutral observers believe the Tory tough line should be taken with a pinch of salt. Autumn opinion polls have shown a substantial swing in Labor's favor, an omen that should deter Tories from forcing an election.

Smallwood Has Doubts On Market

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood says he cannot see just the Atlantic provinces and the New England states forming a common market.

He was commenting on a statement by Premier Snow of Prince Edward Island that such a common market would be discussed at the conference of Atlantic premiers in Prince Edward Island next month.

"It couldn't be just the Atlantic provinces," he said. "The whole of Canada was in it, the Atlantic provinces would get the greatest benefit." He said it would be of still greater benefit to the Atlantic region "if it involved all Canada, all the United States and all Great Britain."

Mr. Smallwood said he would be attending the premiers meeting.

Technological Change Seen Of Vital Concern

"Since 1650, man has roughly doubled his knowledge every 100 years," said Lyon Kaufman, regional supervisor of special services in the National Employment Service at Moncton when he spoke at yesterday's meeting of the Charlottetown Rotary Club.

Mr. Kaufman went on to say that "this 20th century will go down in history as the age of technology, and the last 50 years will be known as the era of Technological revolution."

"It is no longer possible for the individual to be fully knowledgeable in any one given field."

"We are living in an era where our economy and our work force is subject to a high degree of changes caused by many factors which are intensifying rather than diminishing. There is an urgent and vital need to concern ourselves with the human consequences of the technological changes of the 20th century."

"There are several answers to this complex problem and certain guidance and counselling on a fully informed and qualified basis is one of the answers. As true as it is to say that there is a price to pay for misuse of our national resources, it is equally true there is a price to pay for misuse of our human resources."

"The present disparity between jobs available and skills needed must be narrowed. Education has a great role to play in the development of human potential and with this role there is a great responsibility to play as well. The individual has the right to expect that he shall be assisted in the realization of his full potential. The economy of our country depends upon a maximum contribution from each individual and this in turn requires that our economy concern itself with the preparation and development of its human resources."

"We must face up to the needs of a rising, changing world in the development of our work force both present and potential," Mr. Kaufman stated.

The guests of Rotary were Robert MacNeill, Omaha, Nebraska; Clifford Orford, Charlottetown; Al Lehman, Charlottetown; and Frank Ashmore, Charlottetown. A visiting Rotarian was Seymour Gordon, Wolfville, N.S.

Inquest Is Held In Labobe Death

SUMMERSIDE — After deliberating for one hour and 25 minutes a coroner's jury found here last night that the death of Roger Frank Labobe was caused by drowning in his own blood.

The flow of blood resulting from a wound inflicted during a fight with Joseph Sterling Bernard at approximately 10 p.m. on Sept. 26, on the property of Sterling Bernard in Lennox Island.

Eight witnesses gave evidence before the inquest, conducted by Dr. L.E. Prowse, chief coroner, assisted in his interrogation by George R. MacMahon.

Bernard has been charged with capital murder in Labobe's death and was not present at the hearing.

Mrs. Evelyn Bernard, wife of Sterling Bernard was called to testify at the inquest and produced for the coroner a paper drawn up by her lawyer which stated that she was not a compellable witness.

"This quasi-legal document is signed by Mrs. Bernard and there are no witnesses," stated the coroner. He quoted from an authoritative volume on coroners and gave his opinion that Mrs. Bernard was in fact a compellable witness.

At this point J. Melville Campbell asked to be recognized by the coroner so he could make some brief remarks.

Mr. Campbell said he had been asked by Sterling Bernard to approach Mrs. Bernard and that he was representing her as well as her husband. Dr. Prowse reiterated that he considered Mrs.

POST MORTEM

The coroner read a post-mortem examination report by Dr. Andrea Aquina which stated the doctor's opinion that Labobe had died from either acute alcoholic intoxication or congestion caused by blood in the lungs and respiratory tract or a combination of both. Dr. Aquina's report stated that Labobe's wounds were minor and in themselves insufficient to cause death. The blood, said the report, came from a cut in the lip of the dead man.

Testifying at the inquest were William H. Smith of the RCMP identifications section in Charlottetown; Dr. Raymond Reid, Wellington, who was called in the night of the fatality; Mrs. Hazel Peters, a widow, sister of Sterling Bernard, who was to marry the deceased; Mrs. Mary Catherine Bernard, Lennox Island, Joan Maloney, babysitter for the Bernards on the night of the fatality; Constable Joseph Labore, Indian constable on the island; Cpl. W. J. R. MacDonald, NGO in charge of RCMP Detachment, Summerside.

Several witnesses testified that there had been drinking and some squabbling and fighting going on during the evening before the fatality occurred.

Jury members were Joseph Clark, foreman; Charles Ray Craig, Gordon Harris, Harold Milligan, John Walker, Arnold MacLellan and Gregory Deighan.
