

An Epileptic Sufferer.

A FENLON FARMER TELLS OF HIS REMARKABLE CURE.

At Regular Intervals He Was Subject to Fits, and Doctors Told Him the Trouble Was Incurable—Now Free From the Malady.

From the Warden, Lindsay, Ont.

Mr Robert McGee, of the 9th concession of Fenlon, Victoria county, says in speaking of his cure from this terrible malady: "I am 35 years of age and live on the old homestead where I was born and have lived always since, and where my own little family were born. This part of Fenlon is known as McGee's Settlement, there are so many of that name living in the vicinity. Never in my life did I know what a day's sickness was until March, 1895, when without any known cause and without any warning, I was stricken down with an epileptic fit. It came on in the night causing great consternation in the household, as my wife, who never seen anything of the kind before, thought it was my end; as for myself I neither felt nor knew anything that was going on about me. After coming out of the convulsion, which they tell me usually lasted from fifteen to thirty minutes, I would wake with a dull, heavy feeling, and all the muscles of my body would be sore. This would pass away and in a day or two I could attend to my farm work, but strange to say every four months after as regular as a clock I would be seized with a fit, which always came on in the night. Various doctors and specialists were consulted and I took several different medicines, but without effecting a cure. Several doctors said the disease was incurable. I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the newspapers and was advised by friends who had experienced cures from other seemingly incurable ailments to try them. In November 1896 I commenced and kept on taking them regularly for a year. The dreaded period passed and passed again and again without a repetition of my trouble, and I felt that I was at last released from this terrible malady. I am now in the best of health, and I attribute my cure to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In conversation with Mrs. McGee she said it at her husband's trouble was the cause of most seriously affecting her nerves and general health, as she was always living in dread, and could never enjoy a night's rest. The slightest noise would startle her, and if it had not been for the kindness of a neighbor who always came and stayed at the house over night, she believes she would have broken down altogether. She also is thankful for the great change that has been wrought, and is only too glad to let others with similar afflictions know that there is a remedy for this terrible disease. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Turning the Stock.
A writer in The Dry Goods Chronicle says: "A good point for the retail merchant to remember is that it is not how large a business he does, but how many times his stock is turned in the course of the year, that really indicates the successful merchant."

Price 25 cents. For sale by Dr S W Dodd and G E Hughes.

The Atmospheric Clock.
The atmospheric clock—a sort of device that goes of itself—is not inaptly termed a perpetual hourglass. In appearance it is like a long thermometer with the bulb of mercury at the bottom. The glass tube is about three-eighths of an inch in diameter and secured to the frame by two bands through which it passes easily. The divisions of time are marked on each side of the tube. Inside the glass tube is a smaller tube shaped very much as an hour-glass. Some mercury and a scrap of blotting paper for the purpose of taking up any moisture that might gather in the tube are placed at each end. The mercury in the top end of the tube is placed opposite the mark of the proper time and falls to the bottom of the tube exactly as the time passes. When it has run out from the top, the frame can be turned and the mercury set to time on the other side. Thus it registers the seconds and hours quite as accurately as any other timepiece—the drawback to such an arrangement being, of course, the turning of the frame, a task as irksome as that of winding a clock.—Exchange.

THE DAIRY.

STRICT CLEANLINESS IS NECESSARY.
Professor Robertson, in the course of his last report says: "The udder, the flanks and the belly of the cow should be brushed clean and then rubbed with a dampened or wet cloth, before milking. That prevents the falling of dust particles and other things from the skin and hair of the cow into the milking pail. There is need for as much cleanliness as can be practised and attained. There is no benefit from the aeration of milk in the stable during the winter. By the aeration of milk, either or both of two results are affected, a little of the odour, or cause of the odour in the milk from volatile oils, is taken out, and germs of all kinds from the air are taken in. There is nothing in the air of an ordinary cow stable which by getting into the milk can prove it. Therefore the less contact the milk has with it the better. There is no natural volatile odour from milk which makes it unsuitable for butter making, unless the cow has been fed on some food unsuitable in that respect such as turnips; and aeration will remove only a very unimportant part of that. The so-called cow smell of pure clean milk, becomes a delicious fragrance, whereas the cowy smell which comes from stable filthiness, manure and other things is abominable."

A SLANDER REFUTED

The Mohegan Victims Were Not Robbed.

In the cabled reports published in a portion of the press about the wreck of the SS Mohegan on the Manacle Rocks, Cornwall, was included in an announcement to the effect that the bodies of some of the victims of the disaster had been robbed. This appears to have been totally devoid of any foundation, as will be seen by the following extract taken from the London Daily Mail of Friday, Oct. 21 last: The superintendent of police contradicts the report that some of the bodies washed up from the wreck were robbed. The allegation that banknotes were taken from the body of Dr. Fellowes is shown to be untrue.

He Was Excused.

The teacher of a city school received the following note explaining the absence of one of her pupils the day before:

"Please excuse Henry for absents yesterday. Him and me got a chance at a ride to a funeral in a charrige, an I let him stay to home, as he had never rode in a charrige an never went to a funeral, nor had many other pleasures. So please excuse us."—Harper's Round Table.

A HINT FOR BEDTIME.

The moon will very soon appear,
The stars begin to peep,
And yet you toss about and say
You cannot go to sleep.

If that is so, the wisest thing
That you, my dear, can do,
Is just to close your eyes and wait,
And sleep will come to you!

Island Farmer: It is because in our schools the young men are not fitted for the farm or trained along a line of agricultural study that they leave the farm and go into some other walk of life for which their training has made them more adapted.

Gordon's map showing Fashoda in Egyptian territory is an important, but not a new piece of evidence. It was published in fac simile by the Times and other English papers two or three weeks ago. The fact that Fashoda was in Egyptian territory is not disputed even by the French Government. Their claim is that the equatorial provinces were abandoned, and became a kind of no man's land, of which anybody could take a slice who felt disposed to do so. Lord Salisbury's position is that Egypt never gave up her claim to the equatorial provinces, but they passed on to her possession into that of the Khalifa, from whom England and Egypt won them by right of conquest.

TERRIBLE EFFECTS OF FAMINE

Nerve-Agony Consequent on a Dearth of Rich Blood.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only Remedy—They Supply the Want by Ensuring Rich Blood, Thus Curing Nervous Headache.

Nervous Headache is not a disease. It is the symptom, or indignation of disease. It is a sign that the nerves are ill, that they are starving for food. The food upon which the nervous system is, pure, rich blood. Pure, rich blood is made from wholesome food thoroughly digested. The food is digested by the stomach, with the aid of the digestive organs. When the stomach is out of order, weak or overworked, it cannot do its work properly. The food is then partially digested. Rich, pure blood cannot be made from partially digested food. Such food makes

WON'T AND WILL.

Shan't and Won't were two little brothers, Angry, and sullen, and gruff; Try and Will are dear little sisters, One can scarcely love them enough.

Shan't and Won't looked down at their noses Their faces were dismal to see; Try and Will are brighter than roses In June, and as blithe as a bee.

Shan't and Won't are backward and stupid, Little, indeed, did they know; Try and Will learn something new daily, And seldom are heedless or slow.

Shan't and Won't came to terrible trouble; Their story is awful to tell; Try and Will are in the schoolroom, Learning to read and spell.

The Gleaser

A Disappearing Bullseye.

The Chinese peasant wears a turban, loose coat and short and very baggy trousers, all of blue. The Chinese soldier wears the same, with an overall sleeveless smock, or long waistcoat buttoning on the right shoulder, edged round the neck, arms and skirt and down the front with broad "facings." The breast and back are decorated with a one foot bullseye with characters on it. This is all the character the Chinese soldier possesses.

The bullseye would be a very convenient mark for an enemy if the Chinese soldier would give the latter a chance of shooting him, but the bullseye is only worn to raise false hopes, for no sooner does he arrive dangerously near the enemy than he doffs the garb of war to appear as an innocent civilian. He is usually armed with a muzzle loader or standard, both equally harmless weapons.

In the case of General Lin's escort the uniform smocks had evidently not been used as nightshirts for more than a few weeks, the men were armed with Winchesters and a few Martins, rusty, dirty and out of order, and wore about their middles a belt of some 60 rounds of solid drawn brass cartridges.—London News.

The Round Robin.

The "round robin" had its origin several centuries ago in France. It was used there by officers of the army as a method of expressing their dissatisfaction with the course of the king or his ministers. By signing in a circular form the leaders of the movement could not be ascertained and singled out for punishment.

The first instance on record of the use of this form of protest in the navy occurred in 1625. At the instigation of the Duke of Buckingham, the king's favorite, an English fleet, under Admiral Bennington, was dispatched to Rochelle to assist in the coercion of the Protestant subjects of Louis XIII of France. But the English tars, in common with their fellow countrymen, looked with favor upon the resistance of their coreligionists against the proselyting zeal of the French king, and they signed a "round robin," expressing their determination not to fire a shot against them, and without waiting for a reply they weighed anchor and brought their ships back to England. The admiral, however, received a peremptory order to return to Dieppe, whereupon the whole of the crews quitted the ships without further parley.—Providence Journal.
