Film To Depict Development Of Transportation

The impact of air transportation on the economic life of Canada is being depicted in a colored film now being made by Mr. Lew Parry, Vancouver, who is in this city.

Efforts will be made in the filming to show how the various airlines have helped to tie the parts of the country together. Mr. Parry said last night that the Maritime Central Airways here was one of the more important lines and its great value to the Maritime Provinces will be shown in the film. Other lines which will play an important part in it are Trans-Canada and Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Yesterday Mr. Parry started filming in the morning in front of the Provincial Building where Confederation first got its start. The film will then trace development of Canada from its birth to the present time. The opening yesterday showed two men, taking the parts of Fathers of Confederation as they drove up to the building in a coach drawn by two dapple-gray horses. The parts were taken by Earl Taylor and Walter Fowler with Reg Parkman as the driver.

After leaving this Province Mr. Parry will continue the theme by going to Quebec City where he will film a scene depicting John A. Macdonald reading his address at the conference there. It was during this speech that the leader made a prediction regarding the great future of this country. It was on this prediction that the theme of the picture is based.

Also to be shown in the film is a history of Canadian transportation from the days of Jacques Cartier to the present.

Aiding Mr. Parry while he is here is Mr. George Fraser, supervisor of the Travel Bureau.

To Train Overseas With RCAF Units

Air Force Headquarters, Ottawa, yesterday released the names of eighty-three Air Force personnel who are scheduled to leave Canada this month for service with R. C. A. F. units overseas.

sex hormone and vitamin E show promise of being able to alter some cancers in women so the cancer can be killed by X-rays. The report is from Dr. John Graham and Ruth Graham, husband-and-wife team of Boston. They are studying cancer of the cervix, the neck of the womb. X-rays sometimes cure these cancers. But in other women, the same kind of cancer resists the rays. Dr. and Mrs. Graham developed a method of telling whether the cancer is resisting the rays. Resistant cancers in six out of seven patients were made vulnerable to X-rays by use of either male sex hormone or vitamin E. Pitcairn Island, discovered in 1787, is about halfway between Australia and South Africa.

Hormones May Be To Blame For Lung Cancer
NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Maybe cigarettes aren't the cause of lung cancer—maybe it's the hormones that drive people to be chain-smokers.
That suggestion came from Dr. Brian Blades of George Washington University in an address to the American College of Surgeons. He said some doctors studying lung cancer "have furnished frightening testimony against the cigarette."
But many people who get lung cancer have never used tobacco in any form, Dr. Blades said.
"One wonders if the endocrine (hormonal) drive which makes for chain-smoking might be the explanation, rather than tobacco itself."
Some scientists report evidence that cancer may result from an imbalance in the balance of body hormones.

Rebekah Degree Anniversary Is Observed
The anniversary of the Institution of the Rebekah Degree was celebrated by Alpha Rebekah Lodge in the lodge room last night. The members and guests were welcomed by the Noble Grand, Mrs. Estelle Dennis. Mrs. Agnes Dickson, convener of the program committee, presented a very interesting program which included several selections by the Choral Group.
A table discussion was held on the founding of the Rebekah Degree and a very lovely pageant, presented "The Garden of Friendship" which exemplified the principles of the Order, Friendship, Love and Truth. A very interesting feature of this part of the program was the presentation of flowers to Mrs. Beatrice Laphorn, senior member of Alpha Lodge.
Interesting remarks by Mr. Clifford Keenan, deputy grand master, and Mr. John MacNair, past grand master followed. The pianist for the evening was Mrs. Helen MacEachern.
A delicious lunch was served by the committee.

Former Island Man Dies In Burnaby, B.C.
News of the death of Mr. John F. Boyce, Burnaby B. C. was received in the city yesterday, death having occurred Monday night last. The late Mr. Boyce, a native of New Haven and Charlottetown will be well remembered by a host of friends here and abroad. The deceased joined the armed forces during World War I and proceeded overseas with the 10th Battalion. After having served with distinction, he returned to his home for a time, but shortly after located in Brandon, Man. ill health forced him to move to the West Coast, but even there the boon of robust health was denied him.
Only two years ago he returned here for an extensive visit with his family and friends. While here he suffered a relapse and since his return was almost continuously a patient in Shaunessey Hospital.
Besides his wife and son Wendell, residents of Burnaby, B. C., the following members of his family survive: His mother Mrs. James Boyce, Prince St., City; Wendell, action but through political action.
The convention also:
1. Demanded the Federal Government reimburse price controls to protect workers against a rise in living costs.
2. Criticized the government for failing to produce sufficient low-cost housing. The convention appealed for a reduction in down payments and interest rates to stimulate home construction. A committee was asked to expand a housing resolution to include a C.C.L. request for provincial and municipal government co-operation in its drive for more low-cost housing.
3. Heard a suggestion by Labor Minister Gregg that unions use "restraint" in negotiating for wage and other concessions from industry. But he did not want a "no-strike pledge" from them.
4. Decided on the principle that women should have the same opportunity as men to get jobs, regardless of whether they are married or single, and should be able to get equal pay for equal work.
5. Fledged anew support of national and local joint labor committees set up to fight racial discrimination.

Mr. Madge Addresses S. I. A. Meeting

Mr. A. V. Madge, R.I.A., National President of the Society of Industrial Accountants was the guest speaker at a special meeting of the Provincial branch of the organization which was held at the Charlottetown Hotel on Monday night. The function took the form of a dinner at 6:30 p.m., which was presided over by R. T. Henthorn of Summerside, President of the Island branch.

In his address Mr. Madge outlined and described the origin, nature and design of the Society. He dwelt at length on ways and means whereby the Society could be of assistance to business management, with corresponding benefit to the community.
Mr. J. N. Allan, R.I.A., national secretary, also spoke, stressing more particularly the methods and routine to be followed in assisting students who are studying for the degree in Industrial Accounting.

An open discussion on accounting subjects followed in which members of the Association took part, and to which the visiting officials contributed liberally from their knowledge of the subject. A number of chartered accountants and R.I.A. students were in attendance as guests, several of whom expressed appreciation for the privilege of sitting in on the discussions.

President Madge and Secretary Allan, both of whom have just returned from Newfoundland, were taken by Secretary H. R. Carruthers on a drive to nearby points of interest on arrival, and expressed surprise and pleasure at the scenic beauty of the Island. The officials left for their respective homes in Upper Canada yesterday morning.

GUERNSEY

He also spoke of the gradual disappearance of older cows in the shows and herds, with young cows and heifers coming along to take their places. Corrective measures in known defects can be overcome by a good sire when a careful study is made of any herd. He also suggested that the time was opportune to cull out any cows with shortcomings as breeding stock, while the beef market was available.

Dr. Campbell, who was introduced by the Association, then presented two short films, dealing with the points which he had stressed in his talk, relative to the improvements in Guernsey stock and the methods by which obtained. On concluding he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

C.C.L. Left-Wing Elements Win Strategic Victory

By HAROLD MORRISON
TORONTO, Sept. 23 (CP)—Scattered left-wing elements of the Canadian Congress of Labor today won a strategic victory in a drive for congress support of united strike action by union locals regardless of political color.

They obtained approval of the 900-delegate convention to have a resolution dealing with C.C.L. backing of wage-increase demands by unions referred to committee for incorporation with two other resolutions.
One of these calls for a 1953 conference of affiliated unions to prepare plans to aid unions which may have to strike to win demands. The other favors united strike action at the local level "regardless of affiliation" to meet and beat back an alleged attempt by employer groups to "smash labor."

With this latter resolution linked to wage-demand support, it would, in effect, allow a C.C.L. local to team up with any other union, even those expelled by the congress because of Communist leanings.
Strategists who executed the manoeuvre were Larry Whalen of the Vancouver International Woodworkers, William Stewart of the North Vancouver Shipyard General Workers, and S. Thornley of the Toronto United Rubber Workers.

Mr. Stewart said Canadian manufacturers had been told to hold the line on wage demands and this decision originated with the Federal Government. "That's why Trade Minister Howe had said that industry should not 'rock the boat,'" he added.
Mr. Whalen said Mr. Howe considered that Canada could maintain production if labor "didn't rock the boat." But the cost-of-living had gone up, not down.
Mr. Thornley said the rubber companies were organized against the workers. He recalled that the Federal Comptroller had charged the companies with having operated a combine.

Opposing these men, Bill Sefton of the Toronto Steelworkers recalled that certain unions had been kicked out of the congress because of "scurrilous attacks" against congress officers.
While the congress might co-operate with the rank-and-file of these unions, surely these men did not believe, he said, that the congress would co-operate with their leaders.

Larry Bennett, another Toronto steel man, said the line of united strike action was the line of Communists. The best way to protect the worker was not through strike

The big 18th annual hospital bazaar got underway at the Forum last night when it was officially opened by Rev. P. McMahon D.D. The Rector of the Basilica was representing His Excellency Bishop Boyle, who is in hospital.

Rev. Dr. McMahon told the large opening night crowd that they had often before heard the reason for holding the bazaar and he expressed the appreciation of the Sisters at the Hospital for the help it provided in money to pay the ordinary running expenses.

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, chief of staff at the Hospital, was the first speaker in the short ceremony. He was introduced by Mr. J. Austin Trainor, Master of ceremonies. The doctor welcomed those present and promised them all excellent entertainment each night of the week.

He said the bazaar was a different matter to a financial drive as the money received from it went into running expenses. There was no patient in the hospital who cost the authorities less than $8 per day due to rapidly mounting costs. Dr. MacMillan also stated that aside from a few patients in high priced rooms none were actually paying their way. However, the money given at the bazaar meant that some 11 person was able to receive adequate care regardless of financial condition.

Carnival Appearance

Completely decorated for the occasion the Forum presented a carnival atmosphere which was heightened by the excellent music of the Recce Band which gave a concert prior to the official opening. They were under the direction of Bandmaster Tom McFarlane and played several numbers which were thoroughly enjoyed.

From front to back and down each side the Forum is lined with booths of all descriptions. Attracting most of the attention of women were the ones holding some of the finest pieces of needlework to be shown at the bazaar in many years. The booth displaying the handmade clothing for infants was as usual another focal point of interest.

There is little danger of anyone being hungry at the Forum this week as there are several large booths where food and drinks are being served and others where it is on sale.

Appealing to all are the countless games of chance and other forms of entertainment and the always popular bingo. Down at one end the bazaar has revived the game of miniature golf which was a big fad a few years ago. It is proving equally as popular now. Many new types of games have been added this year, to make the bazaar the biggest yet.

It will continue all week. The big door prize, a Tri Light floor lamp donated by Michael Brothers, was won by Mr. Patrick McWade, 14 Bayfield street. The chicken dinner donated by the Catholic Women's League was won by Dr. Loyola Duffy, 71 McGill Avenue. During the late evening those attending the bazaar were entertained with songs by the Barber Shop Four and tonight there will be the Lads and Lassies.

City Cancer Objective Is In Sight

The objective of $5,000 in the City Cancer Campaign is in sight, it was revealed at the turn-in meeting last night in the Legion Home.

Division one has attained 64.7% of its objective, Division two has 73.3%, Division three (the ladies) has 188%, Division four has 114%, Division 5 has not yet reported, Division six has 71.3% and Division seven has 115.4% of its objective.

There are many cards yet to be collected and when all contributions are in it is felt the objective should be reached. However, it was stressed at the meeting that every card must be collected if the city quota is to be attained. Some of those called on were out of town and some of the collectors have not yet had time to complete their canvass. Contributions, it was stated, may be left with the treasurer, Mr. B. E. Rogers, at the Bank of Montreal, or with Mr. W. H. Beaton, the City Campaign Chairman, at his auction rooms, on Grafton St.

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, O.B.E., Provincial President, and Mr. W. H. Beaton, City Chairman, feel that if all the cards are collected, the city objective will be reached again this year.
The general campaign throughout the Province is going well with many districts already reporting. It is hoped to have the campaign over soon to make way for coming fund-raising drives.

City: Alice (Mrs. Alec MacDougall) City; Aggie (Mrs. Walter Storey) Summerside Mass.; Annie (Mrs. George Pollack) New Jersey.
